Fire Rages in Huge Area of Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 20. — (AP) — The savage Chinese-Japanese battle for Shanghai claimed another American life tonight when an anti-aircraft shell exploded on the deck of the cruiser Augusta, flagship of the United States Asiatic fleet.

Freddie John Falgout of Raceland, La., 21 years of age, a seaman, was killed and 18 of his 800 crew mates were wounded. None seriously. The flagship, lying in the Whangpoo river near the heart of the International settlement of Shanghai, was hit while Chinese air bombers and shore batteries and big guns of the Japanese fleet on the river were fighting the fiercest bomb and artillery duel of the 8 day Shanghai conflict. Whether the fatal shell was Chinese or Japanese was not determined.

Fourth American Fatality.

Falgout's was the fourth American death of the Shanghai battle. Three United States citizens and more than 1,000 Chinese were killed last Saturday when Chincse bombs fell into international areas of the city.

A fourth of Shanghai's densely populated area was set ablaze today by bombs and shells. The fires raged furiously into the night with no effort to check them. The largest of them were along the waterfront of Pootung, industrial area across the Whangpoo from Shanghai's international settlement, where Chinese airmen bombed Japanese properties, and in Hongkew, the Japanese section of the city.

American Plants Destroyed.

American losses were believed heavy in the fires roaring through the industrial districts on both banks of the Whangpoo. Plants of the Sherwin-Williams Paint company and the Simmons Mattress company were reported burned. In or close to the burning Pootung district are big storage plants of the American Standard-Vacuum and Texas Oil companies. Their fate was not learned.

Japanese properties suffered greatly. The Nanyang tobacco factory in Hongkew, largest of its kind in China, was a furnace.

The war had driven all fire fighting companies out of the burning districts. The flames spread steadily along the waterfronts, close to the anchorages of the $10,000,000 Augusta, the American destroyers Edsall and Parrott, and the gunboat Sacramento, which, with the Stars and Stripes flying conspicuously, presented a thrilling picture against the background of smoke and flame.

1,100 More Americans Flee.

From the top of buildings along the Shanghai bund it appeared that the fires stretched along the whole horizon. A full moon added brilliance and helped the opposing gunners, who blasted away at enemy ships and positions far into the night.

Chinese field pieces hidden on rooftops in Chapei, the native section in northern Shanghai, and batteries well to the south of the international settlement exchanged steel with the Japanese warships on the river, their shells screaming over or near the international areas where tens of thousands of foreigners remained despite the wholesale evacuations of this week. Warships helped evacuate 1,100 United States citizens today. The exodus brought to nearly 2,000 the number of Americans sent out of Shanghai this week. Today's contingent sailed for Manila aboard the liner President Hoover.

The international settlement rocked to the explosions. Shells from both sides fell on the border of the French concession, where most of the Americans lived, adding fresh fears. But as far as could be learned no foreigners were killed ashore.

U. S. Admiral Defies Japs.

The Augusta was hit not long after Rear Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander in chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, had told the Japanese naval command that United States naval and merchant vessels would navigate the Whangpoo as he saw fit without reference to the Japanese. The latter had asked that their navi

REDS BEAT CUBS IN NIGHT GAME; SOX LOSE, 7 TO 6

The Cubs lost to the Reds, 6 to 4, at Cincinnati last night. The defeat cut the Cubs' lead over the second place Giants to two games.

The White Sox lost to the Indians, 7 to 6, yesterday at Comiskey park. Averill's homer in the eighth was the winning run.

FESTIVAL FACTS

EVENT—Eighth annual Chicagoland Music Festival.
PLACE—Soldiers' Field.
TIME—Festival begins at 7 o'clock tonight. Gates open at 5:30.
PRICES—General admission, 25 cents; reserved seats, 50 cents.
CROWD—Estimated at 80,000.
WEATHER FORECAST — Fair, with moderate temperature.

Famous artists in the world of music, splendid bands, brilliant choruses, colorful pageants will appear tonight at Soldiers' field to entertain an audience of 80,000.

The event, scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock, is the eighth annual Chicagoland Music Festival.

This annual jubilee of song, sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., has become an exhiliarating and unique musical event. Tonight's performance bids fair to surpass all of its seven impressive predecessors.

A cast of 10,000 persons from 199 cities in the United States and Canada more than participated in any previous festival—and many famous stars will present a three hour entertainment of melody and pageantry.

Weather Fair and Cool.

Numerous factors combine to make this year's extravaganza the most brilliant of the series. Even nature appears to favor it, for the weather man predicts that tonight will be fair with moderate temperature.

The young and the old, the people of many races, will be there. This audience is more than a cross section of Chicago. It is Chicago.

Even the audience will sing. Under the practiced leadership of Homer Rodeheaver, the former Billy Sunday evangelist, the multitude will lift up its united voice in a tuneful program of old favorites.

A succession of interesting musical events will pack every moment of the program from the time a massed corps of drummers and bugiers marches into Soldiers' field promptly at 7 p. m., until the fireworks display and singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" signals the end.

Announce Contest Winners.

The announcement of the winners of the music festival contests will be an outstanding feature of the evening. The victorious artists, who won their way to fame among 4,625 contestants from 21 states, will take part in the night's program.

Leading the list of professional stars is David Rubinoff, world famous violinist. Rubinoff and his violin, known wherever radio waves are received, form a combination that recently smashed all records when Grant park's amphitheater was too small to accommodate the thousands who wanted to hear him.

Marion Claire, lovely opera and movie star and W-G-N artist, is another soloist of the evening.

One thousand colored artists will sing haunting Negro spirituals in a southern cotton picking pageant.

Scout Band to March.

A massed high school band of 1,000 pieces will march in resplendent uniforms. And a still larger band, composed of 29 bands merged into one, will boom out thunderous music.

READY TO HANDLE TRAFIC

BY HAL FOUST.

Chicago's transportation agencies announced last night they are prepared to accommodate all who will attend the Chicagoland Music Festival this evening at Soldiers' field. There will be delays—the crowd will be of a size that is a spectacle in itself—but this should not prove annoying if anticipated.

Patrons are advised to allow plenty of time for the trip to and from

MILLIONS OF MITES INVADE APARTMENT HOUSE IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Millions of bugs in one of the oddest invasions known to the health and tenement house departments swarm today over the sixty-six apartments of a modern apartment house which was opened in January in the Bronx.

The mites, probably wood ticks or wood lice, according to one investigator, perhaps coming out of the lumber used in the construction of the building, ruin food, keep whole families awake all night, give residents the creeps just watching them, and swarm—tiny grayish red armies—through closets, kitchens, bedrooms, living rooms, dining rooms, on the walls, the floors and the ceilings.

Nine families moved out recently because of the vermin, it was reported; others wanted to move out but landlords, they said, refused to take them in, fearing the vermin would be carried in clothes or furniture.

[Copyright; 1937; By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Aug. 20.—S. S. Dybetz, an American labor agitator and one time I. W. W. leader, who came to Russia in the early days of the revolution and rose to be head of the soviet automobile and tractor industry, was denounced today by Za Industrialisaziu, the organ of heavy industry. He was accused of protecting his chief assistant, M. Solovie. The latter was characterized as "a lying adventurer" who was once arrested by the cheka [secret police] as a "menshevik" and who was expelled from the communist party last year. Dybetz was accused of having defended him at a communist party meeting as a good executive.

RAINSTORM HITS LOOP, NORTH SIDE AND WEST TOWNS

A rain and thunderstorm struck the city and western suburbs between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, bringing relief from the heat. The temperature fell 11 degrees in that time, and Forecaster C. A. Donnel predicted cooler weather today and tomorrow.

A half inch of rain fell in the loop and on the north side, but there was little rain on the south side. Instruments of the weather bureau at the University of Chicago recorded only .19 of an inch for the 24 hours ending at 7:30 p. m.

Held for Sex Slaying of His Stepdaughter

Hendersonville, N. C., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Coroner Bruce Cox announced late today he would refuse any requests for bond for T. D. Hazelwood, former Butler university athlete, pending an inquest into the rape-slaying of his young step-daughter, Gloria Hauser.

Hazelwood, 28 years old, who is charged with the crime, is under treatment in a hospital for mental shock. A twenty-four hour special guard is being maintained at the bedside.

The body of his step-daughter, who was 12 years old, was found Tuesday about fifty feet from the bottom of a 120 foot ravine near here.

Coroner Cox said an autopsy showed evidence the girl was recently raped. He said further tests would be necessary to determine more exactly the time of the assault.

Star on Gridiron.

Hazelwood, who was a football star and active in social affairs while a student at Butler university, was found near the scene of the crime in an apparently dazed condition.

He was crawling from the edge of the ravine on his hands and knees and crying: "For God's sake, save my child!" when he was sighted by Hubert Barnett, an oil company salesman, and Everett Williams, a truck driver.

The two passersby said they crept down the steep side of the gorge and found the girl's body about fifty feet from the bottom. Half a dozen buttons, apparently from her dress, and a shoe were found in the ravine.

Barnett was quoted as saying that Hazelwood told him en route to a hospital that Gloria was standing on a bridge over the ravine throwing rocks. Hazelwood said he stepped away a moment to get her more rocks and when he returned she was gone.

Shouts His Innocence.

Deputy Sheriff W. A. Garren, who served the warant on Hazelwood, said the former athlete snatched the document from him and cried: "That's preposterous."

The officer said efforts to question the young man proved fruitless. "Either he won't or he can't answer our questions," Garren said.

Sheriff W. E. Davis said he would transfer the prisoner from the hospital to the jail as soon as physicians dismiss him, unless his relatives are willing to pay the expense of four guards detailed to watch him night and day. He said Hazelwood will be held in custody until the inquest, which Coroner Cox set for Aug. 28.

On Way From Florida.

The Hazelwoods had stopped off here to spend a few weeks while en route from Miami Beach, Fla., where they had stayed the last two winters, to Indianapolis, the home of Mrs. Hazelwood.

Gloria's mother is the former Maxine Dollman, whose first husband, Edgar Hauser, head of an Indianapolis building firm, was the girl's father. The mother's second husband was Maurice Hosier, a fraternity brother of Haze d.

Family Doubts He's Guilty.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 20.—(AP)—A sorrowing family arranged tonight for the funeral of 12 year old Gloria Hauser, found dead in a ravine near Hendersonville, N. C., and expressed faith that her stepfather, T. D. (Tex) Hazlewood, 28, was innocent of the girl's murder. Only the family was to be admitted to the funeral here tomorrow afternoon.

MAMA'S GOING TO SUP WITH DIONNE QUINTS AND GET ACQUAINTED

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Pst! Annette, Cecile, Emilie, Marie, Yvonne—don't look now, but that woman's here for supper again!

Yes, Mama Dionne, who used to see her quintuplet daughters only now and then, is going to be a regular suppertime nursery guest. It is part of a plan to teach the tots the social graces and get them better acquainted with Mama Dionne and her other six children.

It started last night when Mrs. Dionne and Rose—one of the other six Dionnes—dropped in to see the quints at suppertime and stayed to have some milk and strained vegetables. The seven Dionnes sat down. Annette and Cecile just played with their food, so Mama Dionne fed them. Soon the other three wanted to be fed, too, and Mama had to go around the circle.

Mama Dionne brought a dog along to cheer up Cecile, who has had a cold lately. It was the first time the quints had seen a dog. Yvonne fled into the next room.

It's Hay Fever S(n)eason! More Weed Pollen Arrives

Southerly winds continued yesterday to blow ragweed pollen into Chicago to the discomfort of hay fever victims. O. C. Durham, botanist of the Abbott laboratories of North Chicago, who makes a daily count, said that in the 24 hours ending at 8 a. m. the count showed 205 grains per cubic yard of air. In the same period Thursday the count was 117.

"DO NOTHING" CONGRESS IS ATTACKED BY LEWIS

Dictator of Miners Intimates He May Quit Roosevelt.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—With the conservative Democrats in revolt against his social and economic innovations, President Roosevelt today received a threat of the loss of the radical labor support which contributed so effectively to his reëlection.

It was John L. Lewis, chief of the C. I. O., aroused by the failure of the wages and hour bill, who threatened to lead his following out of the Democratic party unless it succeeds in "delivering" on its platform promises.

Assails Party Leadership.

The failure of the wage and hour bill, said Mr. Lewis "shows that Democratic leadership is unable to carry out" the party's 1936 campaign pledges. The Democratic leaders, he went on, must "either restore sufficient party discipline to permit government to function under their guidance or confess that their party is not the vehicle by which the people of the country may progress to a solution of their pressing social problems."

This ultimatum followed hard upon the demand made by the Lewis political agency, Labor's Nonpartisan league, for the defeat of Speaker William H. Bankhead [D., Ala.] for renomination next year because the house rules committee blocked consideration of the bill authorizing the federal government to fix minimum wages and maximum hours. It was another manifestation of Mr. Lewis' increasing dissatisfaction with the performances of the President for whose retention in office he raised a $600,000 campaign fund from his labor following last year.

Auto Sitdown Recalled.

In the midst of the automobile factory strike Mr. Lewis made public demand that the President exert the full influence of his office in aid of the strikers by way of discharging his political debt to Lewis. Mr. Roosevelt did render enormous aid by his tacit support of the sit-down strike tactics and by forcing the employers into negotiations while the strikers still occupied their plants.

Mr. Lewis, however, was not satisfied. Nor was he any more satisfied with the aid and comfort furnished him by the administration in the steel strike. The postoffice department refused to deliver food by parcel post to the loyal workers in the strike invested plants and the President used his influence in behalf of protection of strikers, but not of workers until the revulsion of public opinion compelled him to execute an about-face.

At that Mr. Lewis charged the Adjournment Today Voted Amid Yells of Members.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Plodding along slowly and listlessly, the weary 75th congress today completed action on everything except adoption of two conference reports and made adjournment by tomorrow night virtually certain.

Late this evening the house, with whoops and roars of delight, unanimously passed the sine die adjournment resolution, dated Aug. 21, which would mean automatic termination of the session at midnight tomorrow. The consensus, however, is that congress will get through and quit much earlier. The senate had recessed when the house passed the resolution, but will take it up the first thing tomorrow.

Passage in the house of the adjournment resolution was the one lively incident of this next to the last day. Compared with the furious legislative activity of previous sessions under the Roosevelt administration, the proceedings in both houses were exceedingly dull.

Session to Fizzle Out.

Two years ago a dozen measures, vitally affecting the nation's social and economic structure, were sent to the White House in the last few days of a 236 day session, while this time the 229 day session will just fizzle out and die.

The house today:

1. Accepted senate amendments to and sent to the White House the administration's bill outlawing personal holding companies and other devices for alleged income tax evasion.

2. Adopted and sent to the White House the conference report on a sugar control bill, fixing restrictions on the refined quotas of Hawaii and Porto Rico which may result in a veto by President Roosevelt.

3. Completed legislative action on the Panama canal tolls bill, intended to eliminate manipulations and reductions, protect the middle west rail shippers from subsidized competition and put the canal, now losing almost a million dollars a year, on a self-sustaining basis.

Deficiency Bill Passed.

The senate passed the $138,091,714 third deficiency bill, which makes appropriations for the various government departments and agencies over and above those recommended in the budget and provided in the regular appropriations bills. The senate finance committee added $39,219,122 to the house bill, and miscellaneous amendments were adopted on the floor, which requires house concurrence or conference committee action.

The most important floor amendment was put in by Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], under a suspension of the rules. It directs the setting aside of $65,000,000 from customs receipts for bounties to cotton farmers to make up the difference between the average selling price at 10 designated spot markets and 12 cents. Only farmers who comply with the production control program to be adopted in 1938 will be eligible for such subsidies on their 1937 crop.

Housing Bill Awaits.

The second conference report awaiting final action in both houses tomorrow is on the Wagner housing and slum clearance bill, on which conferees reached an agreement tonight. The principal dispute in conference concerned the senate provision limiting the cost of housing to $4,000 a family unit, or $1,000 a room, and the house provision limiting the cost to $5,000 a family unit without regard to the room cost.

The conferees accepted the senate provision, but provided that in the case of cities of more than 500,000 population the unit cost may be up to $5,000. Senator Robert F. Wagner [D., N. Y.], sponsor of the bill, says that New York City, which has the greatest slum problem, can qualify for very little of the federal money even with the $5,000 limitation.

Bond Issue Sum Cut.

The senate bill had provided for a $700,000,000 bond issue for loans to public housing authorities over a three year period, but the conferees accepted the house provision reducing this amount to $500,000,000.

The conferees also accepted a house provision limiting the share of any one state to 10 per cent and agreed to a compromise requiring local sponsors to put up 10 per cent of the construction cost.

In addition to the loans the bill provides for annual subsidies of not more than $20,000,000 a year to keep the rents at a low figure and enable the local housing agencies to pay the interest on their government loans.

The conference agreement provides that local sponsors shall put up 20 per cent of the annual subsidies for rent reduction and interest payment.

Convenes at Noon.

The senate recessed until noon tomorrow after passing the third deficiency bill, but the house held a night session for consideration of the private calendar. Containing bills for the relief of sundry constituents, the private calendar is dear to the hearts of all congressmen.

One hundred and twenty-five such bills were gaveled through.

House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn predicted an adjournment "before sundown" tomorrow and Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley agreed with him. The gloomy Speaker William B. Bankhead, however, said the congress would adjourn "by midnight," he hoped, but "not before then."

Senators and representatives from the middle west were pleased by the final action on the Panama canal tolls bill, which will benefit their shippers, but dead for another session was the long and short haul bill intended for the same purpose. The Pettengill bill, which would permit railroads to charge less for long hauls than for the aggregate of intermediate short hauls, passed the house this year, as it did last session, by an overwhelming majority, but Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] again killed it in his interstate commerce committee.

Farm Bill Next Session.

The house also adopted by a vote of 193 to 36 the so-called "promisory note" resolution which specifies that a farm bill shall be the first order of business at the next session of congress and declaring it to be the sense of congress that a farm program be enacted. The resolution had already passed the senate.

"This only commits congress to consider farm legislation," explained Chairman Marvin Jones [D., Tex.] of the agriculture committee.

In the ensuing debate disgruntled wage-hour bill proponents inquired loudly why a similar resolution was not offered in regard to that bill. Bitter references were made to the rules committee which has blocked the wage bill. But the excitement finally died down.

The resolution was demanded by President Roosevelt as a condition to his authorization of loans to cotton farmers to bolster sagging cotton prices.

Debate Reindeer Proposal.

Left with much time on its hands, the house devoted more than three hours to the consideration of a bill to appropriate $2,000,000 to buy all the reindeers in Alaska for the benefit of the Eskimos. "Nonnative" owners of reindeer herds are crowding out the Eskimos and the United States has a duty to protect them, sponsors of the measure argued.

LETHER CONCERN ASKS U. S. HELP AGAINST THE C.I.O.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—The jurisdiction of the Wisconsin labor relations board over concerns engaged in interstate commerce was challenged in the federal court here today by the Fred Reuping Leather company of Fond Du Lac.

That company asked the court to restrain the state board from any further proceedings against it. The company says it is bound in its labor relations only by the national laws, but the state board refuses to recognize the company employés association as a bargaining agent. Thus it is compelled to deal with a C. I. O. union, although the association represents a majority of its 800 employés. Under the federal law, the employés' association would be chosen as the sole bargaining agent.

Alabama Governor's Wife Gets $10,000 Post.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama held a microphone up to his round, rubescent face today and proudly exclaimed for the talking news reels:

"It's a great day for the nation!"

Standing beside him was Dixie Bibb Graves, his wife, who had just taken the oath as United States senator from Alabama to succeed Hugo L. Black, now Mr. Justice Black of the United States Supreme court.

Sees Wife Take Oath.

Gov. Graves had brought his wife here by airplane to appoint her to the $10,000 a year senate job immediately upon receiving Mr. Black's resignation. He sat on the senate floor today—governors have that privilege — and beamed while Dixie marched down to the vice president's dias on the arm of Senator John H. Bankhead, her colleague, to shake hands with Mr. Garner and take the oath.

Gov. Graves said his wife would serve only until the Democratic primary, about Feb. 1, selects a successor. Mrs. Graves then will resign, he said, and he will appoint as her successor the Democratic nominee, who will be elected in the special election called for April 26 to fill the unexpired term of Senator Black.

Half Dozen Candidates.

There will be half a dozen candidates for both the short term and the long one, beginning in January, 1939. Among them is former Senator Tom Heflin, an old fraternity brother of both Gov. Graves and Mr. Justice Black in the Alabama Ku Klux Klan.

Mr. Justice Black, it was revealed today, slipped into the office of the secretary of the senate and secretly took the oath for the Supreme court last night. Charles F. Pace, financial clerk of the senate, administered it. This was the constitutional oath; there will be another judicial oath with solemn ceremonies when the court convenes in October. Justice and Mrs. Black will leave soon on a trip to Europe.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C. Aug. 20.—[Special.]—In a surprise appointment, President Roosevelt today nominated Justin Miller of North Carolina, who gained fame as an administration astrologer for the court packing plan, to be associate justice of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Shortly after President Roosevelt proposed his plan to add six pro-administration justices to the Supreme court last February, Miller appeared before the senate judiciary committee as an administration witness. He brought with him a huge chart, which was later labeled by foes of the plan as "the astrology chart."

The chart purported to show that the acts of congress were held unconstitutional in direct ratio to the average age of the court, and that older judges were more apt to hold acts of congress unconstitutional than younger judges.

On the witness stand Miller's chart proved to be a boomerang. Under questioning of court plan opponents he was forced to admit that acts of congress were held unconstitutional more often in times of great stress and that crises in the government had a greater effect on questions of constitutionality than the ages of justices.

Enters Senate Race

J. Thomas Heflin, former U. S. senator from Alabama, who has entered scramble for seat left vacant by appointment of Hugo Black to Supreme court.

BLACK ILLEGALLY NAMED, BOSTON LAWYER CHARGES

Boston, Mass., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—A charge that Senator Hugo L. Black was illegally appointed to the United States Supreme court, and therefore is a usurper under the law, was filed with the court in Washington today by Patrick Henry Kelley, a Boston lawyer and a member of the bar of the high tribunal.

Mr. Kelley made the charge in the form of an "information" filed with the court, and asked the court to take such steps as may be necessary to establish the validity of the charge. It is his contention that Senator Black has no right under the constitution to hold office as an associate justice of the court, in view of the constitutional provision that:

"No senator or representative shall during the time for which he was elected be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States which shall have been created or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time," and cites the retirement act as increasing the emolument.

FATHER-IN-LAW OF THOMPSON ON PENSION ROLLS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Reports that John A. Crosson, Marion, father-in-law of A. M. [Doc] Thompson, $5,000 a year member of the state industrial commission, was drawing a monthly old age pension were verified today at the state old age assistance office.

Discovery that Thompson's mother, Lucinda, 74, of Marion, had received $8 a month pension for the past 13 months drew the attention of Gov. Horner two weeks ago when he ordered her name stricken from the list.

At that time Mr. Horner said Thompson reported he wasn't aware his mother had been certified for a pension by Williamson county officials.

Records here show Crosson has been receiving a $15 a month pension since July, 1936. He was listed as "widower."

SHIPYARD STRIKE COLLAPSE GIVES C. I. O. BLACK EYE

Workers Return to Jobs, Bitter Against Lewis.

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—The failure of the shipyard strike here is a bitter defeat for the Committee for Industrial Organization and represents a considerable loss of prestige for John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chieftain, close observers of the labor situation said today.

The nine weeks old strike collapsed yesterday, when insurgents took command of two "rank and file" meetings of approximately 2,000 members of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, C. I. O. affiliate, and voted to return to work immediately.

Thousands March Back.

Today thousands marched back to jobs in the shipyards in Brooklyn, Hoboken, and Staten Island, while pickets and their placards were conspicuously absent. The owners chose to fight the C. I. O., and won.

There were cheers and war dances by the returning workers at the big Robins Drydock and Repair company in Brooklyn, but also an obvious undercurrent of bitterness against their strike leaders, the C. I. O., and Lewis himself.

Burn Strike Headquarters.

The temper of the crowd was best illustrated when groups descended on a wooden shack set in an open lot near the Robins plant which had been used as headquarters for the strikers. The men filled the shack with old papers and rags and set it on fire.

As they shouted around the burning structure many of them took small books from their pockets and threw them into the flames. The books were said to be "dues books" of the C. I. O. union which had called them out on strike with glowing promises of success more than two months ago. Today, with the strike a failure, the workers remembered bitterly the weeks of pay they lost.

RETIRE JUSTICES AT 75 HEREAFTER, CONNALLY'S PLAN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex] offered a constitutional amendment today for compulsory retirement of future Supreme court justices at 75 years of age and to prohibit them from holding political offices after once serving on the high tribunal.

The Texan, a foe of the Roosevelt court bill, said in a statement accompanying his proposal that any one who accepts service on the court "should forever give up any political ambition."

He said his amendment would remove "any possible temptation for a justice of the court to render political opinions in the hope of furthering his candidacy for President, or other high station."

His proposal for compulsory retirement at 75 years of age would not affect present justices, but would apply to those appointed in the future.

LEWIS WARNS HE MAY TURN ON ROOSEVELT

Is Irked by Failure of Wages, Hours Bill.

President with betrayal and added:

"The mercenaries of the steel companies have murdered 18 of our men and not one word of condemnation has been uttered by those sources from which we naturally would expect it. It may be true that murder is not an offense against the federal government, but it is a moral offense under any government."

Mr. Lewis is full of preparations for political activity in all elections henceforth. And he is beginning to feel his oats as a power in the Democratic party. In the municipal primaries in Akron and Canton, O., last week C. I. O. candidates won the Democratic mayoralty nominations. Labor's Nonpartisan league, with newly enlarged headquarters here and a replenished war chest, is active in other municipal elections and is getting ready to take a big hand in the 1938 congressional and state elections. In the New York mayoralty election Lewis is supporting La Guardia.

Opposes Gov. Davey.

Mr. Lewis is already making his political black list. At the top is Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio, candidate for reëlection, who started out by protecting steel strikers but wound up by protecting the right of non-strikers to work. Then there are Speaker Bankhead and a score or more of southern Democratic senators and representatives who actively fought the wage and hour bill on the ground that it would react detrimentally to their section by destroying the industrial advantage of lower living costs and wage rates.

What the C. I. O. generalissimo will do in 1940 is a matter of speculation. Doubtless he will trafic with both parties for platform labor planks. Perhaps he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president. Perhaps he will lead a radical third party ticket.

Of late he has been reorganizing his political agency. He brought about the resignation of Senator George H. Berry [D., Tenn.] from the presidency of the Nonpartisan league, which Lewis decided to manage personally. Senator Berry, a millionaire labor leader, is head of the American Federation of Labor's pressmen's union and is being boomed for labor's candidate for president in 1940. The league is now being financed by the C. I. O. instead of by the mine workers and garment workers.

Mainly political is the Lewis move to enlist the 2 million federal, state, county, and city employés in the C. I. O. Such employés generally possess political influence which would strengthen the Lewis organization. In addition the dues would aggregate 2 million dollars a month compared with which ordinary political party funds pale into insignificance. The minimum enlistment expected is 400,000, which would yield 5 million dollars a year.

Mr. Lewis is also enrolling farm hands and cannery employés with a view to building up his political organization in the farm belt.

WOMEN HAIL EX-MAYOR JIMMY WALKER, BUT LA GUARDIA IS CHILLY

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Surrounded by a shrieking crowd of women admirers, former Mayor Jimmy Walker mounted the steps of the city hall today for his first visit since he resigned under fire nearly five years ago.

Walker, newly appointed grade crossings expert for the state transit commission at $12,000 a year, came to call on Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia.

The cheers were for the former playboy mayor, however, and none were for La Guardia. The conference was short and frigid. Afterward La Guardia released a curt statement declaring grade crossing elimination could be brought about by constitutional amendment and "the employment of political fixers and alleged experts will not expedite it by one day." Walker was unmistakably the target of the mayor.

Walker, escorted into the city hall by five policemen, was kept waiting 40 minutes by the mayor.

TWO ROOSEVELTS OCCUPY YOUNG DEMOCRATS' DAY

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—James A. Farley, who followed Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and James Roosevelt to the platform at the Young Democrats of America convention here, declared tonight that reports of a rift in their party are merely "politics, stupid politics."

The Democratic national chairman refuted reports that the President no longer enjoys the confidence of the country. He asserted that "today finds all the mouthpieces of conservatism massed against the aims and processes of the New Deal."

Earlier in the day James Rosevelt told convention delegates that organizations such as theirs can go far in schooling party leaders if they are not dominated by self-seekers. Mrs. Roosevelt said "the future of America is in the hands of the young Democrats."

MRS. ROOSEVELT RAPPED FOR PART IN AIDING SPANISH

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Fund raising by groups sympathetic with loyalists in Spain is condemned in an editorial to appear in tomorrow's Catholic News, in which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is criticized for having been listed as a patroness last week of a carnival on the estate of Adolph Zukor at New York City for the benefit of Spanish refugee children.

"Unless Mrs. Roosevelt speedily disavows approval of groups sympathetic with the loyalists in Spain she, as the wife of the President of the United States, is bound on of these days to get into an embarrassing situation," the Catholic News editorial says.

NEED OF AIRPORT IS STRESSED BY FORCED LANDING

Authorities Call Tracks a Great Hazard.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Air line officials and city aviation authorities joined yesterday in citing the need for a first class airport at Chicago as demonstrated by the emergency landing made in an abandoned golf course Thursday by one of United Airlines' transport planes with 17 persons aboard.

The incident, they agreed, showed that the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks bounding the existing field on the north constitute a great hazard. The pilot of the ship was forced to hold the big machine in the air until it could skim across an embankment supporting the tracks to avoid crashing into this obstruction.

Skid Is Close Call.

The big airliner skidded to a stop less than 200 yards north and outside the portion of the field now developed as an airport. Yet the spot upon which it stopped is well within the boundaries of the square mile available for airport uses. This spot will be well within the expanded Chicago field when the railroad tracks are removed.

"This shows," said Maj. R. W. Schroeder, chief of flying for United Airlines, "that the pilot actually did get his machine down on the airport. The only thing about the landing that was dangerous was the need to boost the machine over the railroad embankment."

Harold Crary, vice president of United in charge of trafic, pointed ou that with the twin engined planes already having trouble staying in Chicago field, there is no chance that the air lines will allow their four engined, 40 passenger machines which will be flying next spring, to stop here unless the airport is improved and enlarged.

$810,000 Fund Lacking.

Immediate work on the field is blocked only by the fact that the city does not have $810,000 to spend on removal of the C. & W. I. tracks. The railroad is willing to move its tracks if the city pays for new right of way and bears removal costs. The terms have been agreed upon.

Mayor Kelly has appealed for aid to the army, navy, and interior departments and sought help from various federal alphabetical agencies. A total of $4,500,000 has been earmarked by the PWA and WPA for improvement of the expanded airport but none of this money can be used to move the tracks.

The mayor now is considering the feasibility of seeking legislation to create an airport authority which might issue bonds to raise the money. Such an authority could then collect landing fees, rents, and other income from the airport itself to pay off its bonds.

DRAMA TO SHOW CITY'S 100 YEAR SPIRITUAL RISE

"Light of Ages," historical drama of Chicago from the religious viewpoint, will have its première at the Civic Opera house on Oct. 16. This was announced at a luncheon of press and radio representatives yesterday by Judge John P. McGoorty in the Hotel Sherman.

Judge McGoorty said plans for the drama have been underway for nearly a year. Its purpose is to mark the beginning of Chicago's second century as a city with a festival of religion. "Light of Ages," he said, is a production of solemn beauty and great magnitude which will dramatize spiritual forces at work during the city's first century.

Marcus Bach is the author of "Light of Ages." He was aided by editorial associates composed of Rabbi Solomon Goldman, noted Zionist leader; the Rev. Father James M. Magner of Quigley Preparatory seminary, and Prof. Fred Eastman of Chicago Theological seminary. The cost of the elaborate production is being underwritten by more than 100 citizens of all faiths. John Ross Reed, producer of "Wings of a Century" at A Century of Progress, will produce the drama.

200,000 SIGNIFY DESIRE TO TAKE SYPHILIS TESTS

Early Response Gratifies Health Authorities.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

In a survey of Chicago's campaign to eradicate syphilis to date, health authorities declared yesterday that the response of the public has been greater than expected when the program was launched. The drive in the poll to ascertain how many citizens are willing to submit to voluntary, secret, free blood tests for syphilis is to be redoubled throughout September, when the summer vacation period is over.

Last night 71,659 ballots had been tabulated. Of these 67,451 were checked yes, and only 4,208 no. The yes returns are running an average of three persons to a ballot, members of a family using one ticket, and Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, announced that already more than 200,000 persons have signified their desire to take the blood tests. One million ballots have been distributed.

Expect More Than 500,000 Tests.

From the showing so far authorities estimate that laboratory equipment and personnel will need to be expanded to take care of between 500,000 and 750,000 blood tests after the poll is finished and the tests start.

Meanwhile, a 100 per cent increase in the number of laboratory blood tests for syphilis in the last three weeks was pointed to as a result of the campaign to stamp out venereal disease. More than 1,100 tests a day are being made in public laboratories, so latest health agency figures show.

"Chicago's campaign against syphilis is going over most satisfactorily," said Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, head of Mayor Kelly's committee of 400 to combat syphilis and gonorrhea.

Response 10 Per Cent Already.

"From the million ballots by this week-end we shall have received about a 10 per cent response from the questionnaires which were distributed by mail. When we planned the poll, experts on questionnaires told us a 5 per cent response to a questionnaire is regarded high.

"By Oct. 1 we expect to get at least 20 per cent and perhaps 25 per cent or higher, which would be a very good showing. It shows that Chicago citizens are awake to the syphilis plague, due to the educational campaign made by THE TRIBUNE."

The millionth ballot, sent out Thursday, went to Norman Plambeck, a butcher with a wife and two children at 4226 North Meade avenue. He sent it back yesterday, signing his name to it and remarking: "My whole family will gladly submit to the tests. Every citizen should coöperate in such a worthy campaign, and particularly those who are in the business of distributing foodstuffs to the public."

Illinois and Indiana Join in War on Wedding Fraud

Prosecutors of two states joined yesterday in an investigation of a Crown Point marriage involving an admitted bigamist as divorce suits to dissolve seven other Crown Point marriages were filed in the Superior court.

Mary Gorishek.

First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley declared the husband in the alleged bigamous marriage would be indicted for bigamy if an investigation upheld the purported facts. At Crown Point, Prosecuting Attorney Fred A. Egan of Lake county said the husband faces a perjury indictment if he is found to have made a false affidavit in getting the marriage license.

Missing Husband Sought.

State's attorney's police here are seeking the missing husband, Louis Franco, alias Cozzi, 26 years old. Franco gave the name of Cozzi and the false address of 5513 West Congress street when he obtained a license Aug. 4 to marry Miss Mary Gorishek, 21, of 5531 Congress street.

Justice of the Peace Harvey T. Minas, the busiest of the Crown Point marrying J. P.'s performed the ceremony.

Accompanied by Attorney Irving J. Siegal, Miss Gorishek appeared before Judge Joseph B. David seeking an annulment of her marriage. In addition to giving a false name and address, her bill charged, Franco has another wife, Kathryn, an expectant mother, with whom he is now living.

When Siegal saw reporters and photographers gathering, he sought unsuccessfully to continue the hearing or dismiss his bill. Judge David refused after examining the files. These showed that Attorney Walter Monarch filed an answer for Franco, admitting all the charges.

The judge summoned Monarch to court and notified Mr. Crowley, who sent Morris G. Meyers, an assistant, to attend the hearing. Impounding the court records Judge David told Meyers:

"I think the state's attorney should indict Franco for bigamy. He even admits the charges. Indiana should also be consulted to see if falsification of records is an indictable offense."

Lays Mistake to Clerk.

"This is very serious for a lawyer to admit charges which lay his client open to indictment," Judge David continued, addressing Monarch.

"My clerk made a mistake in drafting the formal answer," Monarch replied. "She should have denied the charges. I had no idea there was any attempt to put something over on the court."

In another hearing involving a marriage performed by Justice of the Peace Minas, Judge Harry M. Fisher refused temporary alimony to Mrs. Lena Sotekes, 26, of 2901 Emerald avenue, a divorcée. Her husband, Anton Mankuski, 51, 2907 Lowe avenue, sued for divorce last week, charging that on June 19, 1936, three days after the death of his first wife, Mrs. Sotekes got him drunk and took him to Crown Point, where Minas performed the marriage after three other justices of the peace refused because of his intoxicated condition.

SUPPORT CAMPAIGN

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—A resolution indorsing the United States Public Health service's campaign against venereal disease was adopted by the house of delegates of the American Pharmaceutical association here tonight.

It placed the association on record as expressing whole hearted approval of efforts of the health service, under the direction of Surgeon General Parran, to awaken public interest in the predominance of venereal disease, and to develop public support of plans for eradicating this scourge.

SOMETHING OUGHT TO BE DONE ABOUT THIS

1,200 PAY HONOR TO FESTIVAL AT MUSIC LUNCHEON

Cadman and Rodeheaver Tell Their Aims.

BY BETTY BROWNING.

What the Chicagoland Music festival has come to mean to Chicago and to the nation was shown at the Festival luncheon yesterday in the Drake hotel.

It was told by a famous composer, a political leader and a distinguished musician, but most of all it was attested by the crowd of 1,200 celebrities, civic figures, musicians and just plain music lovers—a third of them men from busy offices—who jammed the Silver Forest and adjoining rooms to overflowing.

Festival's Quality Mirrored.

The same gay camaraderie that characterizes the great festival which will take place tonight at Soldiers' field, the same combination of fine music and informal presentation that has become synonymous with the festival, marked the luncheon. And it had the same warm, human quality.

When Charles Wakefield Cadman, in a broadcast address, assailed the poor musical tastes of a vast public and called for more of the better type of music popularized by the festival, Homer Rodeheaver, the internationally known evangelist, came back with a demand for "music of the people, for the people, and by the people."

And when Mr. Rodeheaver added that a composer should write for the 90 per cent and not for the 1 per cent who can afford opera, it was Mr. Cadman who laughed longest and who clapped the speaker on the shoulder.

Singers Honored by Great.

When Elmira Fox, 10 years old, of Davenport, Ia., composedly sang "The Italian Street Song," lovely Marion Claire, one of the stars of tonight's performance, was among those who leaned forward eagerly to hear her.

And when John Burdette, the former elevator boy, in his checkered shirt and "galluses," sang "Ol' Man River" as he had sung it at four music festivals, tears glistened in the eyes of more than one noted musician at the three tiered speakers' table.

Miss Margery Maxwell, opera, concert and radio soprano, received applause as she sang two numbers, the second "From the Land of the Sky Blue Waters," written by Mr. Cadman. Julian Stripe, a festival vocal winner, sang "I Love Life." Alexander Gray, who is now appearing in the Palmer House Empire Room, sang "One Alone" from the "Desert Song." Speaking for Mayor Kelly was Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel and secretary of the Chicago Charter Jubilee.

Franz Hug, Swiss champion flag thrower, demonstrated the Alphorn, playing calls used by herdsmen in the Swiss mountains. He also will be featured in tonight's program. Frank Bennet and Carl Craven led in community singing. Others present who will take part in the festival entertainment were Capt. Howard Stube, A. Austin Harding, Glenn C. Bainum, and J. Wesley Jones.

Carbon Monoxide Fumes Fatal to Doctor's Son

Harold Myers, 26 years old, a former medical student and son of Dr. Louis M. Myers, 456 Briar place, was killed by carbon monoxide fumes yesterday while repairing his automobile in the garage behind the Midwest Roofing company, 2522 Lawrence avenue, which he owned. Dr. Myers is on the staf of the Henrotin hospital.

Harold Myers quit the University of Illinois medical school in his senior year in 1933, and later went into the roofing business.

GUNMEN GET $700, A RING AND AUTO FROM UNION MAN

Two gunmen lay in wait yesterday for George Orris, 50 years old, 6235 South Sangamon street, general representative of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, and robbed him of $700 and a $900 diamond ring. The robbers approached Orris in front of the home of Victor Failla, business agent of local No. 1608 of the union. They forced him into the back seat of his car, drove to an alley and demanded his money. When he surrendered his wallet, containing $200, the men said "Quit kidding, give us your money belt." Orris then gave up his belt containing $500. The men then drove away in his automobile.

home. The show is scheduled to start at 7 o'clock, but the stadium will be opened at 5:30 o'clock for those seeking the best of the unreserved seats.

Almost half of the festival goers will travel in private automobiles. There will be ample free parking space on the south, east, and north sides of the stadium. Two hundred uniformed park district guards, who are forbidden to accept tips, will be on duty, along with 100 park policemen.

Loop Approaches Crowded.

All Chicago motorists are familiar with the location of the stadium in Burnham park south of the Field museum. They can save time by realizing that, pending completion of the Randolph street viaduct and the outer link bridge, the approaches from the loop are inadequate for the demands that will be put upon them. This is especially true of the Monroe street and Jackson boulevard bridges. Westsiders can escape congestion by using the 23d street viaduct.

Otto K. Jelinek, park district trafic engineer, said that just before the festival ends police will close Grant park pavements to trafic bound east from Michigan avenue, and will close the outer drive to north bound trafic at 23d street.

Two Street Car Routes.

Street car riders will use Roosevelt road and Cermak road lines which will go direct to terminals in Burnham park, only a short distance from the gates of Soldiers' field. Special cars routed direct to the festival will be operated in Clark street and Wentworth avenue.

North side motor coach patrons may transfer at Randolph street and Michigan avenue for the stadium. South siders may transfer at Michigan avenue and Balbo avenue [7th street]. Jackson boulevard No. 26 buses go direct to festival. All buses will load and unload in the court of honor at the north end of Soldiers' field.

Patrons of the elevated lines will get off at the Roosevelt road station and transfer to the surface lines for the trip to the stadium or use shuttle bus service.

Illinois Central patrons will use the Roosevelt road and 18th street stations. Taxicabs will deliver and pick up fares from the west side of the stadium.

There will be no concert at the Grant park band shell tonight. The Chicago park district and the Chicago Federation of Musicians have kept this an open date because of the Eighth Chicagoland Music Festival which will be held this evening at Soldiers' field. The starting time is 7 o' clock.

PUT 25,000 RESERVED SEATS ON SALE TONIGHT AT GATES OF FESTIVAL

Twenty-five thousand reserved seats will be available tonight for Chicago's greatest annual outdoor music show—the Chicagoland Music Festival—in Soldiers' field. The price will be only 50 cents a seat and the usual rule at such events will be in effect—first come, first served.

The reserved seats will be on sale at gates zero, 27, 28, 15, 16, and various ticket offices at the north end of the field. The main reservation office will be outside gate zero, and all mail orders which came in too late to be filled by return mail will be held there for their owners. Gates for the reserved seat patrons will be open at 5:30 p. m.

General admission tickets at 25 cents will go on sale at 7:45, and it's first come, first served there, too. Gates 27, 28, 15, and 16 will accommodate the general admissions.

The veteran patrons of Chicagoland Music festivals need no reminders to get to Soldiers' field early to avoid crowding. Extensive arrangements have been made to handle all trafic smoothly. Nevertheless, festivalgoers are urged to get to the field as early as possible.

CHICAGO CHILD IS STATE'S MOST PERFECT BABY

Catherine Angela Levinson, 4 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Levinson of 5456 Harper avenue, was declared Illinois' most perfect baby last night at the state fair in Springfield. She was crowned at the 22d annual Better Babies conference.

Physicians who examined Catherine on Thursday gave her a rating of 99.9 per cent perfect. A tiny mole prevented her from receiving a perfect score. Other children were examined yesterday but none of the 777 who entered the contest approached the rating of the little Chicago girl, who weighs 44½ pounds and is 43 inches tall.

Mrs. Levinson said last night that her daughter, whose nickname is Cookie, plays a lot, sleeps a lot, eats simple food and leads the normal life of a 4 year old. Her father is an attorney.

THOUSANDS SEE BLAZE IN LOOP; TRAFIC TIED UP

A loop crowd of several thousand persons gathered last night when fire broke out in the Newart Clothing company building at 214 South State street last night, and trafic in State street was tied up for a while.

The fire started in the basement where considerable clothing, including furs, is stored. This stock was practically ruined, firemen said. Smoke spread through the upper four floors, and damaged clothing on those floors, too.

First Deputy Fire Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney estimated the damage at $10,000. Harry B. Newart, 7809 Phillips avenue, the owner, was in New York City. The cause of the fire could not be learned.

FOLLIES BEAUTY FOUND DEAD IN SUICIDE PUZZLE

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—A beautiful blonde Follies showgirl was found dead today in the gas-filled kitchen of an apartment she shared with two other showgirls in 52d street. Police listed her death as suicide, but said they could find no reason why she should want to take her life.

Adelaide Hughes. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The girl was Adelaide Hughes, 20 years old, who came from Glendale, Cal., a year ago to make a name for herself on Broadway. She left a note addressed to her roommates, June Burdi and Florence Baker.

"Dear kids," the note read, "You looked darling tonight when you went out. Don't worry. Lots of love to both of you." She asked them to tell her parents her death was accidental.

Neither Miss Burdi nor Miss Baker could advance any reason for the girl's act.

"She had everything to live for," Miss Burdi said.

MENTAL TEST SPEEDER FLEES NEW CHARGES

Judge Orders Arrest for Falsifying Name.

Alvin Hallam, alias Roscoe Chandler, the motorist ordered to stop driving an automobile because of emotional instability, fled from Chicago yesterday to escape arrest on charges of appearing in court under a false name and operating an automobile with fictitious license plates.

Before fleeing Hallam telephoned Dr. David Rotman, head of the Municipal court behavior clinic, and said:

"Things are getting too hot for me here. I'm going to California."

Informed of this telephone conversation Judge J. M. Braude of the Traffic court ordered police to make every effort to catch the fugitive. Two policemen were stationed at Hallam's home, 7226 Calumet avenue, with orders to lock him up if he returns there.

Neighbors said Hallam did not appear at home Thursday night, but yesterday his wife got their automobile, parked across the street, and drove away. Police, who sought Hallam at the Chicago park district powerhouse, 5818 Cottage Grove avenue, were told he did not appear for work there, and he did not notify his superiors.

Cites Need for License.

"This man's disappearance again illustrates the need for a state drivers' license law," Judge Braude said. "Now he can go any place without being questioned. Mental tests showed the man to be a menace. Sooner or later he will be involved in an accident which will injure or kill somebody. If Illinois had drivers' licenses, Hallam almost certainly would be picked up in some other state, and the violation recorded on his license."

Police, examining detective bureau records, found that Hallam was arrested on March 13, 1930, under the name Calvin Hallam, on a charge of larceny by bailee. The complainant was a Miss Peggy O'Neill, who at that time lived at 4700 North Racine avenue. She said Hallam had disappeared with $470 she had entrusted to him. The charge later was not prossed.

Ordered to Stop Driving.

Hallam was arrested last July 8, charged with driving 77 miles an hour in the outer drive. He gave the name Roscoe Chandler, and a false address. Police later found him at the park powerhouse, and Judge Braude sent him to the behavior clinic. Reappearing in court last Wednesday Hallam was ordered to stop driving an automobile for six months on penalty of paying a $100 fine, a method now being used in the Traffic and Safety courts to bar reckless drivers from the streets.

Within a few weeks the Municipal court will have in operation a safety laboratory equipped to give tests to all drivers arrested for serious traffic violations.

Rudolph Wojtyla, 44 years old, 1432 Barry avenue, was deprived of the use of his automobile for one year yesterday when results of his psychiatric examination, presented to Judge Braude, showed he was of border line intelligence. Wojtyla was arrested for speeding 49 miles an hour in North Clybourn avenue. His record showed he had been fined twice on earlier occasions for drunken driving.

CLASHES ENLIVEN 2D HEARING FOR POISON SUSPECT

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, suspected in the poison deaths of more than a dozen persons and under indictment for the murder of two, made her second appearance in a crowded courtroom today in a session marked by bitter clashes between counsel for the state and defense.

Attorneys for the attractive blonde housewife accused the state of obstructing preparation of a defense case. They also charged that police had broken into Mrs. Hahn's home, ransacking it for possible evidence.

CITY EMPLOYES WHO SIGN WAIVER TO GET 2 CHECKS

City employés who sign a waiver to all claims for back pay will receive two pay checks on Oct. 1, one at their present scale and one for the amount of the raise to the pre-depression pay rate. Those who do not sign will receive only the first check.

City Controler Robert B. Upham made this announcement yesterday when he received a draft of the waiver form from Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes. Aldermen included the waiver requirement in the measure to restore employés' pay to the pre-depression level.

The requirement brought protests from many of the 17,500 employés who have sued for pay deductions.

ANNULMENT ENDS WRIGLEY OFFIELD SECRET WEDDING

Gum King's Grandson Admits Falsifying Age

Half an hour after the suit was filed yesterday the marriage of Wrigley Offield, grandson of the late William Wrigley Jr., chewing gum magnate, and Miss Edith Margery Haldimand of New York, was annulled by Judge Harry M. Fisher.

Offield, a Yale university student, who is 20 years old, and Miss Haldimand, were married April 17 in New York. Their marriage was kept a secret from his family until a few days ago, according to the bill. Friends of the young man knew nothing of the marriage until the suit was filed.

Couple May Remarry.

Young Offield came into court with his father, Attorney James R. Offield, a few minutes after Attorney Herbert Lautmann filed the bill. Miss Haldimand, dressed in a white outfit, appeared a moment later with her attorney, Warren B. Buckley, but did not testify.

The suit, it appeared, was an amicable uncontested arrangements, although the elder Offield and other members of the family declined to comment. It was reported the young couple might remarry after Offield finishes his Yale course.

According to the bill, Miss Haldimand, who is 19 years old, knew her fiancé was under 21, that he did not have his parent's consent to the marriage, as required by New York law, and aided him in obtaining the license.

Admits Falsifying Age.

Young Offield testified he was born Feb. 7, 1917, that he applied for the license at New York, that he lied about his age, and that his parents had not consented to the union. His father verified this, and Judge Fisher signed the decree.

Avoiding photographers and reporters the Offields, Miss Haldimand, and their lawyers scurried out of the county building. Later father and son were said to have joined the remainder of the family at their summer home in Lake Geneva, Wis., for a regatta. Miss Haldimand was said to be staying at the Offield home, 1400 Astor street.

Rescuer Breaks Baby's 3 Floor Fall; Saves Him

William Bolte was sitting on the roofless porch of his first floor apartment at 506 Onieda street, Joliet, yesterday when he saw the screen hurtle from the window in the third floor apartment of Mrs. Bernice Joutras. Close behind came Lawrence Joutras, 2 years old. Bolte made a dive for Lawrence and reached the falling child with one hand, pushing him so he fell into a clump of bushes instead of on a concrete porch floor. As a result Lawrence escaped with no more serious injury than a broken wrist.

INJURED WOMAN IN AN AMBULANCE IS HURT AGAIN

Victim of 2 Crashes Near Elgin May Die.

Four persons were injured, one of them critically, early yesterday, in two automobile accidents, the second crash occurring when an ambulance carrying the injured overturned on a soft shoulder of the highway on U. S. 20, 12 miles northwest of Elgin.

Mrs. Lottie B. Keller, 45 years old, night superintendent of nurses at the Lutheran hospital in Fort Wayne, Ind., a passenger in the original car, was seriously injured when the ambulance overturned. The first accident occurred when the car of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hirsch, 4322 North Clarendon avenue, went out of control on state Route 72, a few miles from the scene of the second accident. Hirsch is 55 and Mrs. Hirsch 51 years old.

Driver, Passengers Hurt.

Passers-by summoned the ambulance of A. H. Frederick of Hampshire. As Frederick was taking the injured to the Sherman hospital at Elgin, he drove onto the shoulder of the highway in passing another car, and the ambulance overturned, injuring him and his passengers. A second ambulance took the four victims to the Sherman hospital where it was found that Mrs. Keller had sustained serious internal injuries.

The death of Joseph Dunn, 59 years old, 1922 Maple avenue, Evanston, in the St. Francis hospital yesterday, brought the suburb's fatal accident total to three for 1937. Dunn was a passenger in a car driven by Theodore Steiner, 42 years old, 2131 Wesley avenue, Evanston, which collided with a machine driven by Andrew Anderson, 40 years old, 1245 Leon place, Evanston, at Fowler avenue and Dempster street in the suburb Sunday night. Steiner, Anderson and James Hansen, 55 years old, 922 Emerson street, another passenger in Steiner's car, were injured.

Auto Hits "L" Train.

An automobile driven by Henry W. Reibling, 41 years old, 3558 North Rutherford avenue, and containing two women, crashed through the gates and into the side of a Lake street elevated train at Austin avenue early today. No one was injured. The car was wedged under the front coach, requiring the services of the fire department to extricate it. Reibling said he skidded on wet pavement, but he was booked for reckless driving. One of the women with him said she was Mrs. George Duffy, 1500 North Central avenue.

Mrs. Bessie Hanson, 77 years old, 1350 North La Salle street, died yesterday in the County hospital of injuries suffered Thursday night when she was struck by an automobile in La Salle street at Schiller street. Mrs. Carrie Holleb, 32, of 4322 Clarendon avenue, the driver, said the accident was unavoidable, and was not held.

Woman Dies at Harvey.

Mrs. Rose Bernstein, 39 years old, 4232 Augusta boulevard, who was injured when her car collided with a machine driven by James Cochran, 123 East 55th street, New York, in Harvey on July 25, died yesterday in the Ingalls hospital, Harvey. Cochran, charged with reckless driving by the Harvey police, is free on a $1,000 bond.

John Hoffman, 55 years old, 1615 Newberry avenue, died yesterday in the Holy Cross hospital from injuries incurred when he was struck early in the day by an automobile at 63d street and Meade avenue, where he was working as a WPA watchman. George Smith, 33 years old, colored, 7526 West 64th street, who took Hoffman to the hospital, told the police that he struck the man while the latter was lying in the street, apparently a victim of a hit and run driver. Smith was held pending an inquiry.

WPA Worker Is Victim.

George Tripp, 40 years old, 1041 North Springfield avenue, a WPA laborer, died yesterday in the Lutheran Memorial hospital from injuries received earlier in the day when he was knocked down by a WPA truck which backed against him as he was loading paving blocks. Harry Popovitz, 1253 South Millard avenue, driver of the truck, was not held.

Jeremiah Burns, 36 years old, 1916 South Oak Park avenue, Berwyn, died in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, last night from injuries incurred Tuesday night when his car somersaulted several times on the highway near Centralia, Ill. Burns said that the right rear tire blew out.

Frank Meacher, 53 years old, 949 Madison street, a salesman, died in St. Mary's hospital last night from injuries suffered earlier in the day when he was run down by an automobile in Western avenue at Chicago avenue. The driver was Miss Beatrice Rockwood, 17, of 2700 Normal avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 658 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 509 were killed in Chicago, where 14,124 were injured.

KATHERINE HIRSCH.

Mrs. Katherine Hirsch, 23 years old, 1804 Sheffield avenue, was sentenced to five days in the county jail and ordered not to drive her car for six months yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in the Safety court on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Mrs. Hirsch was arrested nearly a mile from Fullerton and Ashland avenues, where her automobile and another collided on Thursday.

Steve Cortez, 42 years old, 8239 Buffalo avenue, was sentenced to the county jail for ten days for driving while intoxicated and his driving privileges were withdrawn for three months. Joseph Johnson, colored, 28 years old, 4514 Forrestville avenue, was fined $10 and no costs for reckless driving, and was ordered not to drive for 30 days.

EVANSTON COPS (PUFF! PUFF!) ARE TOLD TO REDUCE

Evanston policemen are going to get rid of excess weight which interferes with their sprinting ability, under orders issued yesterday by Chief William O. Freeman.

Freeman acted after being informed that last week an Evanston policeman was outrun by a robber in a two block chase and then became ill because of his exertions.

"The Evanston police are getting too fat," said the chief. "All men under 40 will weigh in this week, and those who are overweight must reduce."

Overweight policemen will report regularly to the Evanston Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, where Wesley Brown, former intercollegiate wrestling champion, who is physical instructor for the department, will put them through exercises to take off girth.

Driver Stops Auto, Then Dies from Heart Attack

Harold Willis, 43 years old, 9103 Drexel avenue, an advertising company designer, was stricken with a heart attack last night while driving with his wife, Martha, at 87th and Halsted streets. He managed to stop the car. Mrs. Willis took him to the nearest place, the undertaking establishment of Fern & Son, 858 West 87th street, where he died.

AIM

By CALEB

HERE is a toast to the life with an aim—an aim for today—an aim for tomorrow—an aim for next month—or an ultimate aim.

Some great man has defined good generalship as (1) setting a distant objective, (2) plotting the general direction to pursue to arrive there, and (3) knowing definitely at any minute the next three steps to take.

Every individual is a general—the commanding officer of the forces of his own personality. A general without an objective makes little headway.

Many people face no well conceived route along which to urge their talents because they have no definite objective. Many do not know the specific constructive thing to do today or tomorrow because they have determined no general direction toward which to point their energies.

Progress should begin with planning. Plans prepared should be vigorously prosecuted.

We know a man who has been going to study public speaking for twelve years. Another has been going to catalog his extensive library for five years. We know a woman who has been going to write a book, the plot of which has been settled in her mind for a decade.

Achievement doesn't just happen. It is the result of aims—aims planned for and plans worked.

A work horse or a mule may lead a normal life with each week and each month and each year much like the last. But if the human does not enrich his life with progressive achievement each year, what has his endowment of imagination, speech, and intellect done for him?

Have aims commensurate with your capacity and your job in life. A housewife and mother can aim to scale a new level of interest each season. It might be a matter of reading a certain number of important current books or classics. It might be a program—determinedly followed—to take the children an interesting place each month, such as a museum, or reading up on a subject each month with which to enthrall and entrance the youngsters or her bridge companions.

The business man may set as an objective the vigorous correction of things he has long side-stepped in his business. Or he may determine to give definite study to problems of organization or personnel selection, to name three of a thousand possibilities.

Regardless of one's place in the great round scheme of things, she or he may live aimlessly—like a worm, without drive—or vigorously and alertly, each year reaching new levels of accomplishment.

JAPAN'S PREMIER PREDICTS A LONG WAR WITH CHINA

Says Tokio Is Determined to "Punish" Foe.

TOKIO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoe predicted today that the Chinese-Japanese conflict would be of long duration and that there would be no settlement until Japan had "punished" the Chinese army.

He barred foreign intervention in the undeclared war, asserting that peace negotiations must be conducted by China and Japan alone. Prince Konoe said Japan had launched its campaign against Shanghai and northern China because it "had to." Circumstances, he said, made it necessary for the government to abandon its previous attitude of "passive defense" and assume the offensive.

Aim Is "Amicable Relations."

The government's ultimate aim is to effect amicable relations between China and Japan after chastising the Chinese militarists, he asserted.

He then expressed the fear that a return to normalcy in Chinese-Japanese affairs was distant, though Japan was "trying earnestly to reach a solution."

Konoe declined to comment further on the British proposal to establish a neutral zone in Shanghai other than to say the foreign office already had replied to the British. A spokesman for the foreign office said Japan had rejected the British plan.

Admits Financing Is Difficult.

Amplifying the Japanese position, the foreign office spokesman said Chinese soldiers must withdraw far enough beyond the limits of the demilitarized zone of 1932 to make a positive attack impossible. He would not say whether Japanese troops would then withdraw, but added that, in principle, Japan did not desire to launch an aggressive attack.

Premier Konoe admitted that difficult financial problems would surely result from the conflict and that Finance Minister Okinobu Kaya was already preparing a report on wartime finances.

SWING AND CROON MUSIC DIE; CHINA SINGS WAR SONGS

SHANGHAI, Aug. 20.—(AP)—China's poets and musicians wrote new battle songs today to inspire the army to drive Japan out of China.

These martial airs have completely replaced American swing and croon music in the country's many cabarets and music halls and are being sung in the native temples. The battle song:

Fight, fight!
Rush forward! Rush forward!
Smash the enemy's lines,
Drive away the enemy!
Cease all negotiations,
Abolish all agreements,
A war of resistance is our condition.
Only a war of resistance will bring us peace!
Protect our territorial integrity by a war of resistance,
Fight for our national existence by a war of resistance,
This is our sacred duty,

13 EUROPEAN PLANES OFF ON 3,600 MILE RACE

ISTRES, France, Aug. 20.—(AP)—A fleet of Europe's fastest planes roared away from here tonight in a race to Damascus, Syria, and back for prizes totaling 3,000,000 francs [about $112,000].

Bruno Mussolini, aviator son of the Italian premier, was co-pilot in one of the eight Italian entries in the 3,600 mile race.

Four French planes and an English plane are the other contestants. With fair weather reported along the route, the winner was expected to cross the finish line at Le Bourget field, Paris, in about twenty-one hours, some time late Saturday.

The race was arranged when plans for a trans-Atlantic contest sponsored by the French government to commemorate the tenth anniversary of Col. Charles A. Lindberg's flight from New York to Paris failed. The United States objected.

DISEASE EXPERTS OFF TO HONGKONG TO FIGHT CHOLERA

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlements, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Dr. C. L. Park, director of the League of Eastern Health Bureaus, left for Hongkong today to consult doctors there on means of combating the cholera epidemic in Hongkong and other sections. Accompanying Dr. Park was a league of nations sanitary expert.

The death rate from the dread disease seemed to be diminishing today and authorities believed the epidemic, which was confined mostly to the poorer Chinese, had reached its peak. There have been more than 200 deaths.

Health authorities have dispensed 200,000 free inoculations of cholera serum. A boatload of 1,500 Chinese immigrants was quarantined here after a case of cholera was found among them.

SHELL HITS U. S. WARSHIP; SAILOR KILLED, 18 HURT

Fires Raging in Huge Area of Shanghai.

authorities be given advance notice when craft of any other nationality moved on the Whangpoo after dark.

Shells had been churning the Whangpoo's tawny surface for hours before the Augusta was hit. Three big shells, apparently from Chinese guns in Chapei, had fallen close to her shortly before and another plunged into the river less than 100 yards astern shortly afterward.

The fatal shell, a one inch projectile, fell from a high angle at 6:40 p. m., when most of the crew was below at mess. Orders were then given for all officers and men to remain below decks as much as possible. The same was done on the Parrott and Edsall, and some of the other foreign men-o'-war on the river prepared to move to safer anchorages. The Augusta's wounded were taken ashore, as was Falgout's body, and placed in the American Marine hospital.

Jap Planes Bomb Nanking.

The Japanese airforce today again carried the war inland to Nanking, the Chinese capital. The American embassy was rocked by bomb explosions but was not damaged. Fourteen planes took part in the raid. Ten Chinese were killed in the burning of a hospital and several soldiers wounded when bombs fell in a barracks enclosure. No Americans were hurt.

Chinese reports from north China said eleven divisions of the Chinese regular army were taking part in a sweeping offensive designed to drive the Japanese from their recent conquests in northeastern Hopei province, including the great cities of Tientsin and Peiping.

The Chinese said two of their columns were striking northward at Peiping and Tientsin, another was holding the Japanese at bay in the rugged defiles of Nankow pass northwest of Peiping, while a fourth swept eastward in Chahar province to drive at the rear of the steadily growing Japanese army that is trying to hammer its way through Nankow, gateway to Mongolia and inner Asia.

U. S. TELLS JAPS, CHINESE NOT TO FIRE OVER SHIPS

Admiral Issues Warning at Shanghai.

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 21 (Saturday).—(AP)—Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander in chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, today warned both Chinese and Japanese authorities against shellfire over American and foreign warships after an American seaman was killed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—American action on the shelling of the U. S. S. Augusta in the Whangpoo river at Shanghai today was entrusted to the country's diplomatic and naval officers on the Sino-Japanese battlefront by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

An anti-aircraft shell fell on the deck of the cruiser during the day's hostilities between the Chinese and Japanese. In the explosion of the shell aboard the flagship of the Asiatic fleet one sailor was killed and eighteen were injured.

Asks Neutrality Act Be Enforced.

Radio reports of the incident churned up agitation on Capitol Hill for removal of the nation's armed forces from Chinese danger zones and for invocation of arms and credit embargoes against the two countries under the neutrality act.

At the White House President Roosevelt said he believed it best that officials on the scene should handle the situation because they were in a better position to tell more about it than those in Washington. He said all developments in the far east were being considered daily in their relations to the neutrality act.

The President declared that such incidents as the Augusta fatality were bound to happen under conditions existing at Shanghai.

Cabinet Discusses Shelling.

It was indicated that Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the Asiatic fleet, probably would protest on both China and Japan.

The shelling of the Augusta was the major topic of discussion at the weekly cabinet meeting. Cabinet members concurred in the presidential decision to leave action up to American officials on the scene.

In the senate a joint demand that American armed forces be removed from Shanghai to end possibility of a repetition of incidents similar to the shelling was made by Senators Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] and Gerald P. Nye [Rad., N. D.]. Both urged application of the neutrality act in the far eastern crisis.

3 IN SAN DIEGO ARE WAR BRIDES; MARINES TO SAIL

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Three San Diego girls were "war brides" today as the result of setting ahead their marriages to three United States Marine corps officers who had been ordered to China in connection with the present outbreak of hostilities at Shanghai.

Lieut. Arnold Ford Johnston and Miss Georgia Smiley, who were to have wed Sept. 4, were married last night. Lieut. Raymond L. Murray and Miss Evelyn Roseman, and Lieut. Herbert Amey Jr. and Miss Elspeth Ballou were married today. The first couple was to have wed Sept. 28 and the second Sept. 1.

The officers are members of the second marine brigade which will sail for the orient within the next ten days.

WILKINS HOLDS SLIGHT HOPE OF FINDING FLYERS

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 20.—(AP)—In the face of a pessimistic forecast by Sir Hubert Wilkins, noted explorer, the search for six lost soviet polar flyers went forward today.

Wilkins, in a huge flying boat with a crew of four, landed at Fort Smith, Northwest territory, after a 1,200 mile hop from Port Arthur, Ont. He declared that with the Arctic winter three weeks away, there is little hope that Sigismund Levanevsky and five companions, lost a week ago on an attempted Moscow-Fairbanks flight, will be found.

Jimmy Mattern, American airman, roared out of Fairbanks of an 800 mile hop out over the Arctic ocean. He messaged that he was flying in fog beyond the treacherous Endicott mountains.

The soviet icebreaker Krassin was off Point Barrow, Alaska. Soviet Pilot Zadhov, joining the hunt, was at Point Barrow. He and Bob Randall, Canadian flyer, each with a plane, prepared to hop for Aklavik, Northwest territory.

REFUGEES TELL GRAPHIC STORIES OF 'HELL IN CHINA'

Narrowly Escape Death in Storm on River.

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 20.—(AP)—American refugees fled from one terror to another when they left "a hell on earth" in Shanghai five days ago and stepped ashore here tonight into a panic born of earthquakes.

Nerves worn raw by the Shanghai ordeal snapped under the terrifying spectacle of swaying buildings as the 376 refugees stepped ashore. But a semblance of calm and order soon returned and the refugees told their stories.

Death Hovers Over Refugees.

Mrs. R. M. O'Ttoole of Washington, D. C., described Shanghai as an earthly inferno through which she and the others were led to safety on the Manila bound liner President Jefferson. Disaster stared at the refugees from all sides as they made their trip in a tender down the Whangpoo river.

Mrs. Helen Lawson Cutting of Hutchinson, Kas., said the tender was loaded until one port was almost level with the water line. Huddled below decks, the women turned pale as the tender moved nearer and nearer the roar of guns and bombs. The children seemed to show but little fright.

Panic Among Children.

The younsters screamed, however, as the heavily loaded tender reached the confluence of the Woosung and the Yangtze and struck rough water. The little tender pitched and tossed, Mrs. Cutting said. Two ports cracked and some aboard thought the craft would capsize.

"Twice I saw the bottom of that tender," said a regular passenger of the President Jefferson. "She was not wallowing or pitching. She was somersaulting."

Mrs. O'Toole said the tender trip was "horrible."

"It tipped forward twice as if it was going down in the heavy seas," she said.

Miss Matilde Follett, head nurse of the Shanghai sanitarium and clinic, said that on the Saturday when the international settlement and the French concession were bombed, the wounded were dumped by the scores in the hospital yard and on the floors.

"We didn't have time to handle them gently," she said. "We passed among the men to sort the living from the dead. When we touched a man and he failed to move, we went on to the next one."

'DETECTIVE' TAKES A RIDE, IS DETECTED AND LANDS IN A CELL

Orville Gallagher, 18 years old, fresh from Findlay, O., had everything and more that any detective might need, but Orville showed this morning that maybe he's not quite yet ready to be a detective. Orville fell asleep in another man's automobile and was arrested asleep.

The automobile Orville chose was parked in an alley near Madison and Dearborn streets. He was snoozing soundly in the back seat when the car owner, Thomas L. Lipman, 7046 Euclid avenue, president of the Capitol Linen and Towel Service company, got in and drove away.

Mr. Lipman didn't notice he had a passenger until he started crossing the Monroe street bridge into the outer drive. And, of course, Orville, the passenger, didn't notice he had a driver, he was sleeping so soundly. Mr. Lipman stopped his car and called Park Policeman William Bailey. Bailey shook Orville quite a while before he could make him understand he was under arrest.

Orville was taken to the detective bureau. He was searched. In his pockets were found an unloaded pistol, a special agent's badge, brass knuckles, a flashlight, skeleton keys, memorandum books, and a makeup kit, including skin paint and putty to alter the shape of the nose. Orville was asked the reason for this assortment. "I want to be a detective," he said, and pulled out a card showing he is a member in good standing of the Friends of the Phantom, a detective society.

QUAKES SHAKE MANILA AS WAR REFUGEES LAND

Manila, P. I., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Twin earthquakes—Manila's worst in 40 years—converted this haven of safety into a darkened city of terror tonight for the first American refugees arriving on the President Jefferson from embattled Shanghai.

City lights, snuffed out by the first shock, were restored to reveal streets strewn with broken masonry and glass. One death induced by fright was reported. Thirty persons were injured.

The first and most devastating quake came at 7:59½ p. m. [6:59½ a. m. Chicago time]. The second came 24 minutes later. Residents fled in terror from their homes. Fires broke out in many places, but few proved serious.

"Is this another war?" cried one girl among screaming women refugees.

The foundation of the Great Eastern hotel sank four inches. The Insular Life building was badly cracked. Many churches and other large buildings were damaged.

Baby Born to U. S. Woman at Sea as She Flees China

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 20.—(AP)—A baby girl was born to Mrs. E. C. Misler aboard the liner President Jefferson as it neared Manila today with the first American refugees evacuated from Shanghai. The mother and baby were reported doing nicely. The child of Mrs. W. C. Kent, evacuated from Shanghai in an incubator, was reported to have withstood the voyage well.

WOMAN SWEARS SHE SAW KILLING AS GIRL OF 9 YRS.

Mrs. Harless on Stand in Court.

Inez, Ky., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—A woman who said she witnessed a murder 24 years ago, when she was a girl, told a jury about it today as she sat gazing at the bullet pierced skull of the man she said she saw shot.

It was on the story of this witness, Mrs. Viola Runyon Harless, that the old case was reopened last spring. She said she had not talked officially about the matter before that because no one had asked her about it.

Tells Girlhood Story.

The woman, who was the state's last witness before it rested today, said she was nine years old when she saw Harvey Hardin shoot wealthy James Watterson, 62 years old, a lumberman.

Mrs. Harless' mother, Mrs. Polly Runyon Shuranofsky, who was Watterson's housekeeper and his lumber camp cook, is jointly charged with Hardin in the slaying. She won a separate trial, however.

On the night of May 31, 1913, when Watterson was slain, or died of a heart attack as a coroner's jury at the time decided, Mrs. Harless said she and a younger sister were in their beds in the same room with the lumberman.

Some time during the night, she related, she saw Hardin, 44, a mining engineer, come into the room. He had a flashlight in one hand and a pistol in the other, she said. She swore he went to Watterson's bunk and fired.

Not Inquest Witness

Mrs. Harless said she was out playing at the time of the coroner's inquest and was not questioned. Last spring she told her husband about it and she later gave the same story to a grand jury.

The human skull, which the state declared was taken from the grave of Watterson, was admitted as evidence over strenuous defense objections. It was passed among the jurors for them to examine it.

In protesting the admission of that exhibit, the defense asserted the perforation in the back of the skull had been made by a small piece of wood. Dr. H. Hawes and Dr. J. H. Holdbrook, as state witnesses, said that would have been impossible.

The state has charged Hardin was jealous of Watterson's attentions to the camp cook. The state produced Clyde Preece of Chattaroy, W. Va., who testified that on the night Watterson died Mrs. Shuranofsky did not occupy her quarters in his bunkhouse.

SPANIARDS WAGE 'BATTLE OF BLIND' IN FOGGY HEIGHTS

Many Die in Struggle for Peaks Near Santander.

WITH INSURGENTS ON THE SANTANDER FRONT, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Fierce fighting in which both sides suffered heavy casualties marked the advance of the insurgents through fog-covered mountains 25 miles south of Santander, their objective, today.

Rain-churned mud, however, halted the forward dash of insurgent motorized columns toward the last important stronghold of the Spanish loyalist government on the Bay of Biscay.

But a day long and costly struggle went on among the peaks 12 miles from Torrelavega as insurgent troops fought to drive Asturian miners from the precipitous slopes.

The bloody encounters were staged in an eerie setting. Though the sun was shining in the valleys toward Santander, rain and fog shrouded the rocky terrain 4,000 feet above the sea.

Battle Unseen Foes by Sound.

The antagonists were like blind men—unable to see each other in the swirling mists. They had to fight by sound. Occasionally small groups would run into each other creeping stealthily through the fog and then there would be hand-to-hand fighting with no quarter asked or given.

Battalions of Asturian miners, acknowledged by insurgents to be the toughest fighters in the northwest, sniped from behind boulders and the crests of ravines throughout the day.

The insurgents fired and threw hand grenades in the direction of the sounds and then crawled slowly forward until they came to grips or forced retreat.

Stretcher bearers were able to find the wounded only by their cries. The Asturians were almost the sole fighters today. Prisoners, mostly Basques and conscript troops, poured into the insurgent camp.

Wreck Dozens of Bridges.

The Asturians fought on. They blew up dozens of bridges along the Palencia-Santander and Burgos-Santander highways along which Generalissimo Francisco Franco's motorized forces were moving.

Unless the weather improved it was thought unlikely that the insurgent columns would reach Torrelavega, three miles from Santander, before Sunday. There the Burgos and Palencia columns were scheduled to make their junction for a united advance on Santander. Besieged Santander was reported faced with threat of a famine.

Turkey Probes Ship Attacks.

ANKARA, Turkey, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The cabinet held an emergency meeting tonight following the unexpected return of Kamal Ataturk, president of Turkey, all ministers and Chief of Staf Fevzi from war maneuvers. The meeting was called to discuss the repeated attacks on merchant shipping by an unidentified submarine in or near Turkish waters. The marine department earlier opened an investigation to determine whether the torpedoing of two Spanish vessels, the freighter Amary and the merchant ship Cindad de Cadiz, occurred in Turkish waters.

A team of Percherons owned by Roy Bailey of Lowell, Ind., won the heavyweight horse pulling contest yesterday at the 78th annual Lake county fair at Crown Point, Ind. The team, weighing 3,895 pounds, pulled 2,700 pounds on the dynamic test. This is equivalent to pulling 80 tons on a wagon on gravel or block pavement.

The deep bodied, muscular horses tugged the 2,700 pounds for a distance of 27½ feet.

Second place in the contest went to Howard McDonald of Michigan City, Ind., who entered a team of Percherons weighing 3,555 pounds in the contest. The Lake county poor farm, with a Percheron team, won third place, and Alfred Monix of Crown Point, with a team of Belgians, was fourth.

The fair, which has been attracting record crowds through the week, will close tonight.

IL DUCE PLEDGES PEACE, BUT CRIES 'NO BOLSHEVISM'

Warns of Fascist Might; Affirms Berlin Tieup.

PALERMO, Sicily, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini, addressing a world-wide audience, pledged Italy today to "a concrete policy of peace."

The premier's speech from the waterfront of this Mediterranean port, where more than 200,000 Sicilians crowded to hear him, proclaimed Italy's peaceful intentions to a nation transformed into a vast mass-meeting and to radio listeners in both hemispheres.

His only warlike note—"We will not tolerate bolshevism or anything like it in the Mediterranean"—was an afterthought, inserted when the crowds yelled at him to comment on the Spanish situation.

Hails Germany as Friend.

Italy, the white uniformed premier shouted, "is disposed to give its collaboration on all problems touching the political life of Europe."

But, he warned, if his appeal for peace is unheeded, "we will be perfectly at ease because Fascist Italy has such force, both moral and material, she can deal with any destiny."

Mussolini hailed Germany as a friend, saying that Italy's foreign policy was founded on two realities—first, that Italy is an empire and should be recognized as such by the league of nations; and, second, that "no one can reach Rome ignoring Berlin or against Berlin and no one can arrive at Berlin ignoring Rome or against Rome."

"Detests" Britain's Ideas.

"Between these two régimes," Il Duce declared, "there is active collaboration."

Although Il Duce said he "detested" Great Britain's "superficial and picturesque ideas" of Fascist Italy, he stressed his desires for friendship with Britain.

"I believe we can arrive at a lasting rapprochement," he said.

FAMED BEARDED ITALIAN AIDS IN SANTANDER PUSH

ROME, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Italy's general "with an electric beard" and his flame throwing Black Shirt followers were credited by Italian correspondents today with leading the Spanish insurgent advance on Santander.

The newspaper La Stampa of Turin published a picture of the general, which was unmistakably a photograph of Gen. Attilio Teruzzi, former head of Fascist militia, whose bristling whiskers gained him fame in the Ethiopian war.

"The general with the electric beard advanced with his flame throwers," said correspondent Lamberti Sorrentino in the Gazzetta Del Popolo of Turin.

"Finally, this morning, they [the insurgents] gave him new enemy territory to conquer. In the last few days he was in close contact with a Spanish column on the left. He personally took prisoners."

NEWSBOY INJURED IN FALL.

Falling twenty-five feet from the upper level of Roosevelt road at State street while leaning over the railing, John Garza, 13 years old, 249 West 24th place, a newsboy, was seriously injured last evening.

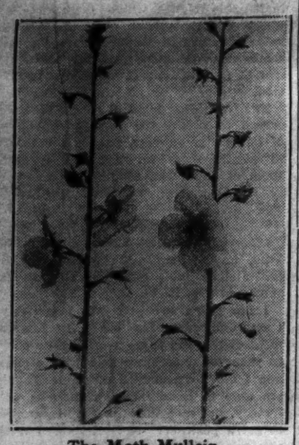
Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Flora of Chicagoland (The Moth Mullein)

WHEN a hot August sun has been pouring its heat over the countryside for many days, and there has been insufficient rainfall, only the hardiest wild flowers or flowering weeds are able to keep alive on dry hillsides and in brown meadows where the grass is parched. Thus the so-called "dog days" have a story to tell us about plants if we will but use our eyes when we hike through Chicagoland.

When we walk over the Wheaton experimental farm we go through one open field which slopes to the west so it is well drained and receives all the intense heat of the afternoon sun. In the spring we watch the bobolinks in this field; then the grass is lush and green. Now this field is the testing ground for the most hardy flowering weeds. It is here that the moth mullein, [Verbascum blattaria], an immigrant from Europe, arrogantly lifts its sturdy stalk and opens its yellow flowers, whether rain comes or not.



The Moth Mullein.

When we saw the moth mullein in this sun swept field a few days ago it seemed to be looking down the slope to the Half Moon pond, where wea[kling flowers and weeds [like the blue monkey flower] were hugging the moist edge of the lowlands in order to live. To see it standing in the field, defying the sun to do its worst, is to respect it even though it is just a weed.

Easy to Pick Out.

It is easy to pick out the moth mullein in a field. If you see a flowering weed with a slender, unbranched stem growing two to six feet high in dry open ground, and there are handsome yellow [or white] flowers on it, you can be pretty sure that it's the moth mullein.

It has a scheme of opening its flowers usually rather early in the morning for just a few hours, so don't be surprised if you see little color on the plants in the afternoon.

One might think that the moth mullein was conserving its energy on hot days by not exposing its blossoms when the August sun is scorching hot. And not only is the plant conserving in this way, but it also puts the flowers on a part time schedule. Instead of staging a real show, with every flower open at the same time, the moth mullein opens only three or four at a time!

A Rural Mothball.

Years ago the moth mullein doubtless meant much more to the farmer than it does today because the country dwelling housewife used to pick the leaves around the base of the plant and use them as mothballs. In fact, the moth mullein was considered the rural mothball, and many a woolen garment was packed away for the summer with the leaves of the mullein in order to keep moths from damaging these garments. But the drug store, making it easy to buy mothballs, has taken an interesting and useful rôle from this variety of mullein. Today it is just another flowering weed in the meadow that gets along no matter how adverse growing conditions may be.

At this season of the year the moth mullein still is exhibiting its flowers. Other wild flowers may blossom for just a few days or weeks, but this persistent plant thinks nothing of starting its own private flower show in June and keeping its flowers well into fall when less hardy plants are glad to call it a season and quit. When we saw the flowers of the moth mullein a few days ago, noticed how brightly they loomed above the parched grass, and how much they added to a weather-beaten August landscape, we could see why John Burroughs found much beauty in this plant even though it is rated as a plebeian—just a flowering weed of low rank.

THE U. S. A. IN CHINA—TOO FEW TO FIGHT; TOO MANY TO BE KILLED.

In the increasingly disturbing news from China comes the report that the flagship Augusta of the American Asiatic squadron has been struck by a shell and that the casualties are one dead and eighteen wounded. The Augusta was ordered to Shanghai waters to protect the Americans encompassed by the fighting and to cover their withdrawal from the dangerous areas.

It was reported the day before when the Augusta moved to a new station, closer to the point of debarkation, that two Japanese destroyers took position close to the American warship. Later it was announced by Chinese officials that they could not accept responsibility for anything that could happen to the Augusta unless the Japanese ships withdrew from such proximity to it. They said the Americans must compel the Japanese to remove or be responsible for anything that happened.

It may be China's desire to compel an intervention by American and European forces to protect foreign people and interests. Japan has said that no other nation will be permitted to intervene. An American or British ship may be sunk and what would follow that would be difficult to predict. Ever since the Boxer revolution foreign troops have been quartered in various Chinese cities to protect the lives of foreigners, but this precaution was against the Chinese themselves. It was not anticipated that the troops would be in the center of international war, and bombing planes were unknown.

Along with the report of the hit made on the Augusta comes news of Japanese bombs dropping close to the American embassy in the national capital of Nanking. Bombs and anti-aircraft shells are not discriminating missils in such a congested district as the battleground in the Shanghai fighting. Warfare which no longer discriminates between civilians and military forces makes such a situation as now exists in China the more dangerous and threatening.

That the United States should go to war because Japan has attacked China would seem one of the most unreasonable things imaginable, and yet everything our government has done over a course of years in association with other nations has tended to produce a situation from which extrication is a most difficult problem. Nine nations, including Japan itself, have under solemn agreement sworn not to attempt or permit any aggression against China having the splitting up of Chinese territory as its object. When Mr. Stimson was secretary of state he was guileless enough to take that treaty seriously and the United States found itself unsupported, and if Mr. Stimson's advance into Manchuria was not a brilliant military feat his retreat was not a brilliant diplomatic achievement. The United States went in and got out and the matter rested there.

Now we are in a worse position. Our civilians, our troops, and part of our fleet are in the midst of heavy bombardment. The military force is too small to fight and too large to be sacrificed. The American predicament is almost intolerable. The British have their possessions at Hongkong and a naval base there. We are simply exposed to anything China chooses to do in its territory; likewise to what the Japanese could do in the Philippines.

It might be regarded as disgraceful for the United States to pull out of the danger zone whenever it could and retire as precipitately as possible, abandoning the field rather than protect its treaty rights and its national interests. Yet the longer the military forces of the United States remain where they may be destroyed the more America is exposed to unforeseeable consequences, most of them appalling.

The Chinese in desperation may be quite reckless. They might not care what happens to any foreigner and think that even if the worst happens it will be in their interests. The Japanese have shown an intractable mood. They are engaged in a major war without declaring war and taking the consequences of that declaration. They seem to invite foreign intervention and may get it.

America does not want war of any kind. It may be required in humility to accept the consequences of governmental mistakes over a number of years, to have its meager Asiatic forces destroyed before they can get out and leave some of the civilians to the precarious protection they could expect from the Japanese invader. Uncle Sam is caught in the middle of a fight that is none of his business. He can't stay in and he can't get out.

WHERE THERE'S A WILL—

During a rain squall this week an Air Lines pilot, landing his ship with its complement of fourteen passengers, overshot the Municipal airport. A shocking accident was averted only because he succeeded in clearing the railway tracks and grounding the plane on its belly, with landing gear retracted, in the north section of the square mile of territory that has been set aside by the city for the eventual development of Chicago's port. These are the facts, but there is also an object lesson.

Actually the portion of that square mile which has been fitted out as an airport is too small and has been for some time. The recent placing of orders for forty place planes by the air lines has inaugurated a concerted effort to get the field enlarged because such ships cannot operate there at all. The fact remains that the Municipal airport is inadequate even for present operations, as witness difficulties encountered in landing the twenty-one seat airplanes now in service. A sharp squall is likely to call for some heroics by the pilots.

Chicago is the aviation center of America. Should so valuable a preëminence be put in jeopardy by the presence of a slightly elevated railway track which bisects the airport development and constricts the field into an almost unworkable area? Certainly not—particularly when it is considered that the removal of this one obstacle will clear the way for construction of one of the safest ports in the world.

Mayor Kelly has recently announced that there is no money available for the purpose, but that reply is unsatisfactory. The question is not "Can Chicago afford a modern airport?" but rather "Can Chicago afford to drive the main line of airplane travel from its door?" The city's growth has been founded upon its unique position as the hub of the country's transportation system. There is no economy in a program that would make Chicago a branch line point for any method of carriage and communication.

OUT WITH THEM.

The metal shortage in Great Britain, coinciding with the intensive efforts for rearmament, has brought forth the suggestion that the numerous statues in the metropolis be melted up for war munitions. One authority lists 250 metal atrocities which could be better used in a different form, thereby giving the nation a small but useful supply of what is needed for war purposes and also removing the bronze boys from the eye.

A war scare or even a war might find its justification in the removal of such offenses against public taste. Statues are the worst of all atrocities. Those in London are not much worse than what we have in Chicago. Barring one or two of Lincoln, there is not a statue hereabouts we should not be better without. What applies to Chicago applies nearly everywhere in the country, and for that matter in almost every other country. Washington, D. C., has a chamber of horrors through which no ordinarily patriotic citizen of the United States can pass without shuddering.

We are not for prohibition but we would make an exception against statues. We are against bans but we would ban sculptors. It is the essence of this alleged art that its exhibitions should be where nearly all the people must encounter them. When a sculptor sculps he sculps for the public. His piece is to be set where there will be the greatest passing or congregation of people. He infests the public parks, the public places of assemblage and the boulevards and public streets.

It may be said for painting that the pictures are put away in art galleries and to see them you must enter the gallery. There is always the hope for fires. It is not required of any person that he continue reading a book which at the beginning he finds uninteresting. The arts are not forced upon the people except in the matter of the chiseled or cast figure. Then occurs the greatest offense against the public eye. Statues of the most atrocious kind, and that is a description of the majority of them, are forced upon our revolted gaze in every park and at almost every other street corner.

A war scare that removed nearly all of them would be a blessing, even if in disguise.

NEW YORK'S LATEST PLUM.

The federal Public Works administration has just announced a $29,100,000 loan and grant to New York City for the construction of the Lincoln vehicular tunnel, running under the Hudson from midtown Manhattan to the Jersey shore.

By some happy coincidence the announcement comes just as Mayor La Guardia, the fair haired boy of the New Deal and the C. I. O., is entering a strenuous campaign for renomination. It comes rather late for patronage purposes, it is true, but in plenty of time to give point to his references to the blessings he is able to obtain from his great and good friend in the White House.

Those blessings have been substantial, totaling nearly $165,000,000 for bridges and vehicular tunnels alone. In addition to the Lincoln tunnel, New York has financed the midtown tunnel, which parallels the Lincoln tube under the Hudson; the East river vehicular tunnel, and the major portion of its triborough bridge with federal easy money, either as loans or outright grants. There was an additional $25,000,000 for the municipal subway.

Chicago views with unmixed admiration the system of elevated highways, bridges, and tubes which New York is building to handle its automobile trafic. When attention is turned to the ease with which a large portion of the cost has been shifted to the taxpayers of the whole country, envy is bound to replace admiration.

Chicago, too, has sought federal funds with which to build elevated highways and end the automobile massacre in its streets. The estimated cost of initial units of the Chicago system, $8,212,000, is less than a third of the single allotment the other day to New York. But this town's requests have been consistently refused.

Editorial of the Day

PERRIN LAMOTHE.
[Providence (R. I.), Bulletin.]

At Velaines en Barrois in the Meuse valley there has just been erected an obelisk to perpetuate the name of Perrin Lamothe in grateful memory.

And who, pray, was Perrin Lamothe? What triumphs brought he home? How many fellow mortals did he leave bleeding gloriously on the field of battle? What shrewd piece of statecraft did he execute at the expense of other mortals who spoke a different language or were, perchance, of a different hue?

None, my friends. None. By no sudden valor did Perrin entrench himself in the hearts of his countrymen. By no brave stroke did he carve out a niche nor write a chapter for himself on the pages of history.

But to that true regard of his fellows which discerns the small conditions making up the bulk of their happiness did Perrin address himself. Not to the fleeting glories of war nor to the heady conquests or intrigue nor learning did he bend his effort, but to those enduring sweetnesses which flavor the common day with their little drop.

It was Perrin, my friends, Perrin Lamothe of Velaines en Barrois, who nearly six hundred years ago discovered and made known the recipe for red current jelly. Long may his obelisk stand!

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

WE WASTE countless golden hours speculating on the human features of professions and trades as remote from our own as possible. Are street car motormen angry when they have to get out and change a switch, or do they always know just how the switch will be when they come to it? Do the yardmen who break up those long trains of Pullmans in the night ever get thinking of something else and give the wrong car to the right railroad, or vice versa? Do engineers sometimes open the throttle just for the devil of it, or is there some way the management can tell what they have been up to? Is there intense jealousy among Chicago bus drivers because of the fact that some have shiny new vehicles to drive and others are still coaxing the old lumbering juggernauts along? Do the motormen of Evanston expresses snub the motormen of Wilson locals when they all meet at some social function or other? And the cab drivers who ferry drunks around during the watches of the night—what do they think of life?

RUNE.

Never again this autumn leaf
Will come to grief,
Never again this broken flower

APROPOS OF NOTHING department. The man from Lower 12 who fidgets nervously in a corner of the Pullman smoking room this morning does not know that a certain celebrated midget is traveling on the same train. Neither does he know that this celebrated midget suffers horribly from insomnia. Therefore there is terror in his eyes as he confides to a fellow passenger: "You know, I must be going crazy! All last night I thought I heard somebody above me, pacing up and down—up and down!"

MANY THANKS to Pauline of Palos for the following poem. She vouches for the fact that it was actually written by a kindergarten pupil.

CULTURE DEPARTMENT (Motto: "A little learning is a very fine thing.") The age of Niagara falls has been estimated at 31,000 years. This makes the famous cataract a mere youngster in terms of geologic time. The Grand canyon has seen about 700,000 birthdays. It was not really grand until many thousands of them had passed.

THOSE PERFECT creatures who smile so dazzlingly out of advertisments sadden rather than delight us. Too often we put aside a tempting color page in the rueful consciousness that the precious things there offered cannot be intended for the likes of us. Why would it not be a good idea for an advertiser to picture actual people using his products? If we could see grumpy, thwarted looking men and women picnicking in fair contentment beside their handsome Sizzler Six, we might be encouraged to go and buy one.

WE ARE A HOUND for the fine print on insurance policies, claim checks, etc., and always manage to have a fairly good time trying to imagine the dangers which these elaborate disavowals are intended to avoid. On the back of a parking lot identification ticket we once found a statement that the owner of the business was not responsible for any damage to cars even though such damage should be the result of sheer malice on the part of his employés!

HOW SOME CHICAGOANS BATTLED DEPRESSION

THE TRIBUNE here presents the story of another Chicagoan who, workless but with high courage, faced the recent depression and fought through it without applying for relief. There is no inference to be drawn that all could have done it; nevertheless the case cited is inspiring. This and succeeding cases are from the files of the Illinois state employment service.*

A Polish father on the southwest side, a building contractor, entered the depression with head high. He had a large home, free of liens, and was worth $150,000. Overnight everything disappeared. Both he and his wife had nervous breakdowns.

The couple had four children, two girls and two young boys. The eldest girl, now 20, who had taken a brief business course, assumed all responsibility. "I have to," she told the Illinois state employment service. "If a relief worker comes in our door my father will kill her."

At night, when her parents were in bed, she went to neighborhood political meetings and did secretarial work, averaging 50 cents a night. Some weeks she made $4, and the family of six got along somehow. During the succeeding three years the gravest calamity was the father's attempt to commit suicide by taking gas. He was revived, but the gas bill left them without food for almost a week.

Eventually the girl obtained work operating a machine in a factory at $9 a week. She was so well liked that when she left, a few months ago, to work in a dairy at $18 a week, her younger sister was given her position. The two boys, now 13 and 14, also have small jobs at last, and the family is still together.

POISON IVY VACCINE.

EVERY hiker and camper is interested in finding some preventive or antidote for the severe skin irritation that may come from contact with poison ivy. Almost every one is susceptible and in a few individuals the lesions are so severe as to be incapacitating. But because the effect is so general, some of us are likely to look upon the discomfort as something which must be borne. If we escape we regard ourselves as just plain lucky.

Having prepared and used successfully extracts of various plant poisons to combat hay fever, physicians have advanced the thought: Why not make an extract of poison ivy, inject it under the skin, and thus produce an immunity to the toxin? For this purpose ivy leaves have been treated with ether and the material obtained has been redissolved in corn oil. Caulfeild of Toronto reports good results with this preparation. Earlier he had attempted to heal the painful skin inflammation caused by tulip bulbs and had employed a vaccine which apparently gave relief.

In his ivy experiments he first made tests for sensitivity by applying a bit of the toxin to the skin. The extract was diluted one hundred or even one thousand times, and a piece of clean muslin was moistened with a drop or two of the fluid and brought into contact with normal skin. If a reddened area developed in from twenty-four to thirty-six hours the reaction was considered positive. If watery blisters appeared the reaction was labeled "strong." All those having positive reactions were then injected with minute quantities of the poison. Between 60 and 70 per cent of the patients were rendered immune.

There is a popular folklore remedy which has a rational basis. It consists in chewing poison ivy leaves. Various unsuccessful attempts have been made to administer an alcoholic tincture by mouth, while other investigators have tried hypodermic injections of this type of material all without appreciable effect.

Some have gone so far as to advocate warm water baths in which ivy toxin has been dissolved. Failure with all of these methods is due to the fact that but little of the irritating element is present. In other words, a water extract, such as that made by chewing, does not obtain from the plant a sufficient amount of the toxic substance. With almond or corn oil a far more potent solution was provided.

Recently a new plan of treating actual cases has been reported by Newman. It consists of drying freshly gathered ivy leaves in a warm oven. The material is then passed through a coarse sieve to eliminate twigs and fiber. About one ounce of the powder is then added to one hundred cubic centimeters of absolute alcohol and allowed to remain for seventy-two hours. After filtration the extract is ready for use. A few drops of a one in one thousand dilution are injected into the deltoid muscle [below the tip of the shoulder]. Most of the patients so treated complain of a slight burning reaction, which continues for a minute or two. Only three injections are required to abate the symptoms.

Of seventy-four patients treated by this method sixty-three were completely relieved in four days; in eleven the course of the dermatitis was unaffected. Of the total number of cured cases all gave positive skin tests, and of the eleven unrelieved cases six were negative to any form of dermal testing.

Many authors believe that every one is susceptible, but that some will not exhibit symptoms unless the skin is broken. This accounts perhaps for the fact that certain individuals appear highly susceptible. A party of a dozen or more may be tramping through the woods, each one having the same chance of coming in contact with poison ivy. Tiny lesions or scratches about the fingers of some may account for the fact that they develop the symptoms while others escape.

The fact that some of the inflammatory evidences are found on remote parts of the body, even though covered, is explained by the transportation of the irritant by the blood stream or the lymph system. Again in this case we must assume that an abrasion of some sort has opened the way for the entrance of the toxin into the circulation.

A reasonable amount of protection is now possible through the administration of commercially prepared vaccine. If one has become a victim year after year, advantage may be taken of the chance of immunity thus offered.

SKIN LOSES COLOR.

D. C. writes:

My son, aged 12, has vitiligo or leucoderma, first evidenced about three years ago. Although we consulted several doctors, the affected area grew larger, and one physician said that the boy would become an albino within five years. Finally a treatment was prescribed that has not only stopped the spreading of the white patches, but has restored natural color to some of the area. The procedure consists mainly of plenty of sun, an artificial sun lamp being used when real sunlight is not available. The area involved is on his face, and burned very quickly and quite badly at first, but slowly built a form of resistance, with the appearance of small freckles here and there which gradually grew, closing in to form a mass of natural color. This treatment has been going on now for over two years and, while it is very slow, we are confident that it will eventually achieve the desired result.

REPLY.

I hope that the treatment will prove successful, but I am not confident. While ultraviolet is helpful, it rarely effects a complete cure.

There is only a remote chance that your son would ever lose all of his skin pigment and thus be classed as an albino.

Dilute hydrochloric acid by mouth has also been advocated in many of these cases.

CALL AT CLINIC.

F. J. L. writes:

I am afraid that I have become afflicted with some venereal disorder, and am utterly unable to employ a private physician, as my small income barely covers the necessities for my family.

Where can I obtain an examination free—one that can be relied upon?

REPLY.

The health departments of most large cities have clinics for this purpose. Many provide hospitals and dispensaries which care for cases that are worthy, free of charge. Call your health department for particulars.

PROBATE.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother died two years ago, leaving no will and all property was in her name—bank account, etc. My father is dead and there are four children, all of legal age. Naturally we are heirs to the property my mother left. We agreed to waive probate and settle the division of property between ourselves.

1. Is this proper? The total amount of the property would come to about $3,000 if liquidated. Our sister handled the funeral bills, etc., and has taken charge of all papers pertaining to the property but to date has done nothing to liquidate the property for division.

2. What can be done to make her liquidate or have some one else liquidate the property so it can be divided equally without excess legal proceedings? I need my share badly. How can I go about receiving it if she refuses to cooperate and liquidate the property?

S. F.

1. We see nothing necessarily improper about it. In general, the possibility of dispensing with probate depends on the nature of the assets and the attitude of the parties with whom you are dealing.

2. Notify her that unless she settles by a reasonable named date you will apply for probate of the estate.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TITLE TO PROPERTY.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father was a resident of Alabama and died, leaving real estate, the deeds of which are in his name. There was no will, but I was told at the time that, since I was an only child, was of age, and my mother and myself the only heirs, no legal steps regarding the estate were necessary.

1. If the property is sold during my mother's life, will there be any legal complications in the transfer of title?

2. On my mother's death, will I inherit the property in full?

3. If my mother leaves no will, what action must I take to establish title?

4. Are any inheritance taxes involved both as to the time my father died and at my mother's death?

5. Would a will made by my mother simplify any complications in 2, 3, and 4?

Z. A. K.

1. Unless the title was in joint tenancy, it seems probable that a purchaser will insist on further assurance as to who are the heirs and as to whether debts have been paid.

2. Yes, if there are no other children.

3. In general, probate is necessary in order to produce a readily salable title.

4. Depends on the value.

5. No.

DISAPPOINTED WINDOW SHOPPER.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—I have been coming in and out of Chicago for many years—purchasing and shopping. Windows of stores attract my attention.

It used to be that small town ready to wear merchants came to Chicago several times a month to see what Chicago stylists had to offer—naturally the first thing was a trip via "hoof" up and down State street and Michigan avenue.

Today the small town merchant, instead of coming into Chicago several times a month, goes to Indianapolis, Terre Haute, South Bend, Peoria, Champaign and various other small towns weekly to gaze upon the windows of apparel shops.

Why? Because Chicago is one month behind the small towns in display and decoration of women's apparel in their windows. Last evening when in the city I took several ladies on a window shopping tour. What did we find? Eighteen shops on the "Avenue" still showing summer "closeout" clothes, nine places of business on State street the same. However, four large stores on State street and two on the avenue did have fall and school windows. Remarks made by ladies with me at the time prompted me to write this article.

Why do so many shops in this city change hands so often? Nine times out of ten it is not location but mistreatment of their display windows. One particular avenue store, known for their high prices, has had a certain white coat in their window now for over five weeks. Why? It may be their attitude of "people trade with us regardless of our windows." However, they are completely wrong, since a closed shop on lower avenue thought the same thing.

THE CHARTER JUBILEE EXHIBIT.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—How many of us by our presence have shown our appreciation of the splendid art exhibit in Exhibition hall, Navy pier? I have visited it twice, and came home each time filled to the brim with enthusiasm and with pride in our own Chicago artists, and with a determination to enjoy it many times before the doors close in September.

I have visited many of the finest art galleries of the world—the Louvre and Luxembourg of Paris, the art galleries of Florence, Italy, the National galleries of London, and many others, and can truly say that many of the pictures in this exhibit compare most favorably with the pictures in the foreign galleries.

MINERS' WAGES.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—The July Information Bulletin issued by the United States department of labor gives the annual earnings of bituminous coal miners in 1935: "Out of every 1,000 workers in the industry who received pay at some time or other during 1935—

"Two hundred and sixteen earned less than $600; 175 earned $600 and under $800; 216 earned $800 and under $1,000; 171 earned $1,000 and under $1,200; 99 earned $1,200 and under $1,400; 80 earned $1,400 and under $1,800; 41 earned $1,800 and over."

Mr. Lewis has not helped these men to any great extent. Old Timer.

THE FIRST JOURNALIST.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Who was the first journalist of world-wide scope, at once home and foreign correspondent, covering the news field of the world in all its phases, whose news dispatches, witnessed across the ages, are read with avidity today even as they were read with relish 2,500 years ago? You will readily admit that the dean of pressmen is none other than Herodotus of Halicarnassus.

And did Herodotus have a nose for news? Countless generations of readers have testified that he knew news and how to dish it up. Sober or sensational, plain or polished, the articles of Herodotus are always newsy and readable. Whether you like facts with your fiction or fiction with your facts, Herodotus is ready to cater to your tastes.

Censors were an unknown nuisance in his day, editorial restrictions were of his own making, and the term "freedom of the press" would be to him incomprehensible; for all he knew was that, as a good journalist, he was entitled to his inalienable rights which included life, liberty and the pursuit of news. A freelance newsman he scooped the world, interviewing whom he saw fit, where he saw fit for his daily or weekly investigation.

The fresh dispatches of Herodotus have served to kindle the metaphorical fires of knowledge in days past and bid fair to kindle them in days yet unborn. Dean of scribblers, all hail!

Jerry Mulvihill.

THE OLDER WORKER.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—I have read in the Voice of the People "The Older Worker," and I frankly state that I am in the same position as he is.

I am going over the ads every day. I am running my legs off to the employment offices, but to no avail. I have some 23 years of experience as shipping clerk and I am not ashamed of saying that I am able to handle the position in any factory, but do you think that I am able to get a position? No. Reason? Well, they are satisfied with the references and all, but the age is 48—that is enough. The employer today is creating more and more ill feeling among the older workers because he absolutely shows he will not give an older man a chance. He automatically pushes him in the street.

SCRIPTURE ON JUSTICE BLACK.

Jones, Mich., Aug. 17.—Regarding Mrs. Roosevelt's appointment of Hugo Black to the United States Supreme court, Roosevelt supporters might do well to read I. Kings xiv., 33-34: "After this thing, Jeroboam returned not from his evil ways, but made again of the lowest of the people priests of the high places; whosoever would, he consecrated him, and he became one of the priests of the high places. And this thing became sin unto the house of Jeroboam even to cut it off, and to destroy it from off the face of the earth." Lois Trattles Bowman.

WE DO OUR BEST.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—I fear your jackassical editorials will cause the nomination and election of President R. for a third term. My advice is that you write better editorials or else that you do not mention President R. in your editorial column.

Things to Do Are Plentiful This Week-End

BY JUDITH CASS.

AN August week-end usually is rather quiet, socially speaking, with tennis, golf, and a country club dance on the program, but for a change the coming 48 hours will find every one with plenty of choice for amusement.

There are those who will join the tremendous throngs expected to jam Soldiers field tonight for the 1937 Chicagoland Music Festival. Other music lovers will hear a concert in a comparatively tiny group on the lawn of Col. and Mrs. Charles C. Haffner's Lake Forest home tomorrow night.

The emerald green fields at the Oak Brook Polo club will lure polo fans to the opening of the United States Polo association national intercircuit championship tomorrow. Completing the picture of a week-end that compares favorably with one in a busier season of the year, there is to be a wedding, that of Miss Ethel Plunkett Hulbert to Frank Whipple Renwick Jr., which is taking place this afternoon, and a baseball game tomorrow at the Onwentsia.

Sunday baseball has become more popular than ever this summer, it seems, and the game scheduled for tomorrow afternoon will be the third and deciding one in a series between the Onwentsia and a Chicago team headed by Ogden Kniffin. Each team has won one game. A soft ball is used. A week from tomorrow afternoon the Onwentsia will meet a team from Highland Park, headed by Dudley Onderdonk.

The batteries for tomorrow's game are Durand Smith and William K. Meyers for the Onwentsia, Donald Jerrems and H. T. Gilbert Jr. for the Chicago team. Regular Onwentsia players among the seniors are Otis Hubbard, Willard N. Boyden, J. Ramsay Minor, John S. McMillan, Philip S. Dalton Jr., C. Daggett Harvey, John E. Baker Jr., Hermon D. Smith, Henry E. Gardiner, Burke Williamson, Nelson S. Barnes Jr., and Thomas S. Tyler.

Regimental Band to Give Concert.

The musical program at the Haffners' tomorrow will be given by the band of the 124th field artillery, Col. Haffner's regiment. Col. and Mrs. Haffner will entertain at a buffet supper preceding the concert, and during the long twilight their neighbors as well as their guests will enjoy the musical fare.

"Polo for the Public" is the new watchword at the pretty little club at York road and 22d street. The club is copying the famous Meadowbrook club on Long Island by lowering the admission price to 50 cents to attract greater crowds. There are grand stands along one side of No. 3 field and ample parking space.

The Monmouth County, N. J., team, champions of the northeast circuit, will oppose the Santa Barbara County team, Pacific coast circuit champions, at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Other teams competing in the inter circuit championships include those from Fort Sill, Okla., and Fort Myer, Va., and among their players are three men who are remembered for their ability when playing with Fort Sheridan, Capt. Larry G. Smith and Capt. John L. Hines Jr. of Fort Myer and Capt. Pete P. Rodes of Fort Sill.

There will be a stag dinner for 50 visiting and local polo players—the largest assembly of the sort ever here—tonight at the Oak Brook club. Paul Butler, chairman of the Central Polo association and a governor of the Oak Brook club, is giving the dinner. Play for the Oak Brook cup was postponed from yesterday, because of wet grounds, to next week, adding yet another event to the brilliant array of polo matches in view for what will be Chicago's biggest polo season since 1929.

Hulbert Wedding at Bride's Home.

Today's bride, Miss Ethel Hulbert, is a daughter of Mrs. Milan H. Hulbert, in whose home at 555 Stratford place the wedding will take place at 2 o'clock. The bridegroom is Frank Whipple Renwick Jr. Only the immediate families will gather in the spacious living room to hear the Rev. Dr. R. Everett Carr of St. Peter's Episcopal church read the ceremony. A small reception will follow at 3 o'clock.

Miss Adele Hulbert will be her sister's only attendant, and George Renwick will be best man. Milan H. Hulbert will give his sister in marriage. A third sister, Miss Helen Hulbert, has come from New York for the occasion, but the oldest sister, Mrs. John G. Ryan, was unable to accompany Miss Helen.

Mr. Renwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Renwick of Geneva, will take his bride to Bermuda on their wedding trip. They will be at home Oct. 1 on the near north side.

Philip Hosmer Engaged to Eastern Girl.

The week-end's latest romantic news comes from Fall River, Mass., where Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Haffenreffer recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Harriet, to Philip B. Hosmer Jr., son of Philip B. Hosmer, and the late Mrs. Hosmer of Chicago.

Young Mr. Hosmer and his father were in the east last week-end when the announcement was made at a party in Fall River. Miss Haffenreffer attended the Knox school. Mr. Hosmer is a graduate of Lawrenceville and attended Yale university. The wedding will take place next spring. Most of Mr. Hosmer's friends will meet his fiancée when she comes west to visit next month.

Parents Give Dance for Miss Betty Dubbs.

Miss Uhlemann Engaged

[Carlos Photo.]

At a tea yesterday afternoon at the Homestead in Evanston Richard H. Uhlemann announced the engagement of his daughter, Dorolyn, to John A. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Martin of Lake Forest. Miss Uhlemann attended the Chevy Chase school in Washington, D. C., and Lake Forest college. Mr. Martin attended Lake Forest college and Duke university.

'Makeup' Used Merely to Aid Natural Charm

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Jack Pierce, head of the makeup department of Universal Pictures company tells you young women a few things about makeup and the making of Hollywood beauties that should prove invaluable.

Writing in Toilet Requisites, he begins with the enlightening fact that makeup artists at movie studios are not "make over" experts. The girl comes to the studio and wins her contract because she has something different to offer. She has a combination of appearance, charm, and talent which goes into the important thing known as audience appeal. Therefore says Pierce, the makeup artist would be defeating the primary purpose of the search for new and different personalities if he began trying to make the player over immediately.

What the makeup artist does, then, is not to make the girl over according to any standardized pattern, but he aims to bring out and emphasize the qualities seen in the new girl and which, in her, attract the talent scout.

And here's the little lesson, young ladies, you may draw from Jack Pierce's words! If the girl whom the talent scout picked out had been a sweet, unsophisticated type like Nan Grey, but had tried to make herself like the svelte and sophisticated Doris Nolan, she would have been all wrong.

The mistake girls make is in not realizing their greatest value lies not only in being themselves, but in looking themselves. If you want to make the best impression, in other words, be yourself and look yourself.

When the studio makeup artist has studied the newcomer's face and personality, brought out the qualities in her that first arrested attention her way, she may look different in a manner, BUT she has not been made over or changed out of character.

Pierce tells that because every face is different, every personality different, you can't treat them all alike. Some actresses wear false eyelashes. Others are better off without them, as proved in a recent test on a new recruit to the screen who had been wearing false eyelashes before they were ruled out by the makeup expert. He saw that they did not fit her at all.

Even in the matter of mouth changing the makeup, it is suggested that you bear in mind you are shaping your mouth. One certain star may look well with large, voluptuous lips, but it does not hold true for all.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

From the note book:

At a Chicago beauty salon you'll find a ping-pong table in the body department. Women who take reducing treatments can get their exercise this way before they have their heat treatment and massage. And a fast game of ping-pong is wonderful exercise. The client plays with one of the attendants, who is not permitted to pick up any balls. The stout lady must stoop for them herself and then swing back into action. It's an excellent idea, isn't it? The women find it much more fun than the regulation exercise—and it's awfully good for their figgers.

At this same salon you can take sun treatments, too—lying in a sand trough under a sun lamp, toasting your whole body evenly. Lots of women take these sun treatments regularly as a building up measure; others do it because they want to keep their summer tan the whole year round.

Some foxy little experimenter has discovered that one of the most popular shampoos on the market—a soapless, oilless marvel that leaves the hair positively brilliant—is a bath glorifier of the first rank. The shampoo lathers wonderfully, but rinses out very easily. A tablespoonful or so in the bath water makes millions of billowy bubbles that are so soothing to the weary body. There's no bath tub ring afterwards, either. You just use this as a bath trimming, using your regular toilet soap for the scrubbing. It's a very pleasant little home treatment for tired nerves.

It was the custom, years ago, to use dark silk print material against a plain background. The easy to piece nine inch squares are set together with the stripes or beach running from top to bottom of the coverlet. The overall dimensions are 90 by 108 inches which is large enough for either a coverlet or spread.

Horror Scene Ends in Laugh as Gun Fizzes

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Regis Toomey, playing the part of an army officer in "Without Warning," stands at the head of a stairway with an automatic pistol in his hand and using Marie Wilson as a shield as Boris Karloff approaches, also armed.

"Now, Miss Wilson," Director John Farrow instructs his actress, "I want you to make a horrified shriek for this scene."

"Don't worry," quivers the blonde ex-dumbbell girl. "I will when I hear that gun."

This brings a laugh from the crew and the visitors on the set, and when Director Farrow calls for action every one is anxious for the report from Toomey's pistol. Several put hands to ears to lessen the shock.

When action reaches the point where Toomey shouts, "All right, you asked for it," the gallery stiffens, awaiting the shot. But instead of a roar Toomey's gun gives a cap pistol pffft.

"Without Warning" is a blood-and-thunder picture of the who-dunnit type with which Warner Brothers flood the class B field. It is adapted from the stage play of the same name by Ralph Spencer Zink.

Farrow, Australian born author and husband of Maureen O'Sullivan, has branched out into the directorial field during the last few years. His previous pictures included "War Lord" and "Men in Exile."

Farrow's assistant is Lawrence Gray, former actor and singer, who has taken the unique step of forsaking the footlights and arclights while still young and good looking to train for producership. He appeared with Marilyn Miller in the motion picture version of "Sonny" and in the Ed Wynn show, "Laugh Parade," which ran a year in New York.

"Without Warning" marks Marie Wilson's first big part with all of the appurtenances of a star, including a stand-in.

Latest New York headline hitter to wind up in Hollywood is Lois De Fee, Broadway lady bouncer. This delicate miss of 185 pounds, who stands 6 feet 2 inches in her stocking feet [size 7½ shoes], jumped into the news last May when she charged Lou Brice, booking agent brother of Fanny Brice, with hitting her in a New York night club and showed two black eyes as proof.

Warner Brothers is testing her for a part in "Swing Your Lady." The cast is not definite, but present plans look as if the battling Amazon will oppose 207 pound Willard Parker, new Warner star, who is being tested for the masculine lead.

Gene Raymond is to play the lead opposite Lily Pons in "It Never Happened Before" at RKO, which definitly ends Producer Jesse Lasky's original idea of having his personal contract player, Nino Martini, play opposite Miss Pons and also sing in the film. Pons will do all the singing, and her fiancé, Andre Kostelanetz, will conduct the music.

When Gus Hyland, one of the male dancers in "Rosalie," was reported sinking and in need of a blood transfusion at the county hospital, four of his mates, Ed Caldwell, John Jennings, Jack Dawson, and Jack Coogan [no relation to Jackie Coogan], volunteered to give blood. Caldwell was chosen by the doctors and while he is playing good Samaritan at the hospital the studio is continuing him on the pay roll for the film musical.

Edward Flanagan, former Fort Madison, Ia., boy, has gotten himself a good start toward picture prominence with the male lead rôle opposite Virginia Bruce in "Bad Men of Brimstone" at M-G-M. Flanagan's name has been changed to Laird Doyle for film purposes. He has been a bit player around the studios for a year. His father, Edward Flanagan Sr., was in the old vaudeville team of Neely, Edwards, and Flanagan, and was one of the originators of the "Hallroom Boys."

Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone have left for a secret hideaway for the next three weeks.

Alice Brady's sprained ankle is holding up scenes in the last reels of "In Old Chicago." She plays the Widow O'Leary and she had to run from the fire, jump into a wagon, get into a political argument which almost requires blows, and move around spryly, none of which she can do with a lame ankle.

Scraps of Fur Will Be Stylish on Winter Hats

BY RHEA SEEGER.

While planning and buying your winter glory during the August fur sales you should save a few inches of the pelts to provide the proper winter hat.

Fur trimmed hats are just as nigh fashion as the felts and velvets already in place above summer sun tanned foreheads. They're small, infinitely smart, and as cleverly and smoothly designed as the fabric affairs.

Just enough of the fur is used to achieve the right note of rather abandoned luxury. Fur is swathed knowingly around the front line, at the back and on top of the sleek antelope or fabric that makes for fine fitting and comfort.

In one fur shop we saw a bell boy cap of brown banded in mink. Another high, square cut black hat of antelope had a three cornered patch of silky Persian lamb directly in front. A third model of Persian was cut as expertly as can be imagined in a small skittish looking turban cut out in a shallow vee over the right eye.

Equally small are the flat fur hats of kidskin in various colors.

So smart that you wonder why somebody didn't do the trick long ago are the knockout new hats of tweed. They are small and a few of them are rakishly brimmed affairs. All have been made to match swanky fur trimmed tweed coats also featured in the August fur sales.

BY ANNA NANGLE.

Heaven help the ushers in a week like this! Ladies' day at the ball game has nothing on the Chicago theater. Women are storming the place, stalking up and down the ailes to pounce on seats closest to the stage, ignoring or arguing with courteous young ushers who try to stem their wild rushes up and down the ailes.

Mrs. Jones finally lands a seat and disturbs every one for 20 rows to let Mrs. Smith know where she is. They have little or no interest in the picture—while the film is showing they spend their time gamboling up and down and talking.

I couldn't wait to see the cause of all this, Mr. Rudy Vallee, but when people weren't crawling over my feet, knocking my hat off, or discussing another change of seats I did manage to get glimpses of "Confession."

It's a doleful little number featuring Kay Francis in a "Madame X" rôle. She tries hard, but the part simply isn't suited to her, and I thought her makeup entirely unconvincing in the latter part of the film. Even with stiff blonde hair and deep shadows painted beneath her eyes, she looks young and not nearly as tragic as the story calls for.

Basil Ruthbone is sleekly fascinating as a philandering musician with a passion for ruining the lives of young, nappy women. He's ardently pursuing young Lisa when a croaking blonde entertainer in a cheap cabaret puts an end to his predatory tricks for once and for all. Her confession on trial, after continued silence until the court is cleared, shows why she is what she is and did what she did. Her story comes as no surprise—the ending is obvious very early in the film.

Little Jane Bryan does an excellent job as Lisa; she's simple and unaffected and charming. Ian Hunter and Dorothy Peterson are seen briefly, and Donald Crisp presides as a stern but understanding judge during the trial.

This was intended to be good, weepy melodrama, but I doubt very much if you'll need to bring an extra handkerchief.

ABOUT those counting-out rimes: Research into the matter brings to light that philologists believe many of them come from ancient Welsh numerals. These numerals are said by one authority to be in use still in some parts of England—employed by shepherds to count sheep, by old women to enumerate their knitting stitches, and by boys and girls for counting out.

Counting-out rimes.

The hundreds of counting-out rimes sent in to this column by readers resolve themselves into two classes, those that start with a first and second word that are some form of the numeral one and two, and those that make use of nursery rimes. There were many more of the first class sent in, and in this group falls the Onery, orery, ickery Ann formula, the "Einie, meinie, minie, mo" routine, and the Inty minty, tibberty fig rime.

A BRITISH philologist advanced the theory that these counting-out routines have Welsh numerals as their base and brought to attention a system of counting to twenty he called the Anglo-Cymeric score. A Hartford, Conn., authority observed that Ellis' score was similar to the numerals employed by some Maine Indians in their dealings with the colonists, a system originally brought by the colonists from the mother country and taught the Indians.

An Oak Park reader writes that the numerals were introduced to the Indians by settlers in Ohio, but that he first heard it called "Indian counting" and thought that was what it was. William Wells Newell discusses the theories of both gentlemen and prints the Anglo-Cymeric score and the ancient and modern Welsh numerals in his "Games and Songs of American Children." Henry Bett, in his "Nursery Rhymes and Tales," also says the counting-out rituals are corruptions of ancient Welsh counting formulas used by shepherds. Which is something to think about when you hear a gang of modern youngsters counting out of a summer's evening, preparatory to a dash down the alley back of your apartment or across the corner lot.

MISS SOPHIE CHANDLER of Chicago sends in a counting-out rime from the highlands of Scotland. Her mother told her it was Gaelic, corrupted by employing two English words in the last line. Her phonetic spelling of it is as follows:

Eenity, teenity, fickity, feg,
Ell, dell, domo neg,
Erkie, berkie, sto' a ro'
I am Tam Tooch.

Miss Anne Kerr learned what was probably the same counting-out rime from her parents, as they said it when they were children in Scotland. Put a Scotch burr to it and see what it would sound like:

Zeenty, teenty, figgery fell,
Ell, dell, dromin ell
Airy, pairky, taury rope
Ram, tan, tousy joke.

Eenie, meenie, typsy teenie,
Eyly, oly, dominoly,
Eytsy, peytsy, domineytsy,
On, plon, tus.

That the version chanted at the Lincoln school in Chicago in 1882 was a further corruption of the same formula is probable. As contributed it is:

Eenie, meenie, dippery, dick,
Delia, dylia, dominic,
Hy-cha, py-cha, dom-i-ny-cha,
Hom, pom, dust.

And the version sing-songed in the vicinity of Sedgwick and Blackhawk streets about 1905 began "Inty, minty, tibberty fig, Delia, dorma, norma nig . . ." Similar versions have been said throughout the middle west and New England for generations, apparently, and a number of readers offer counting-out rimes they say have been handed down in their families for five generations.

Since readers have displayed such feverish interest in the matter, more of the counting-out rimes as recalled from their childhood will be printed at a later date.

Robert Taylor Shows a Healthy Appetite While Doing New York

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Robert Taylor is doing the town. While not exactly on public display, the movie hero is easy to gaze at—in more ways than one—when taking in the sights.

When Mr. Taylor dined at one club the guests forgot the humidity in their breathless admiration for his work as a trencherman. Robert is no calory counter.

A shrimp cocktail whetted the Taylor appetite for the stylish, stout sirloin steak that followed, with hashed brown potatoes and corn on the cob. Mr. Taylor uses the two hand grip, or back country stance, when attacking that great American dish, C. on C., the only way in which this superb vegetable can be eaten with true enjoyment.

A Roquefort cheese dressing adorned a lettuce salad. Then came a fresh fruit compote with kirsch and finally a cup of coffee.

"Find This Girl"

BY ROY VICKERS [Copyright: 1937: By Roy Vickers.]

SYNOPSIS.

Bessie Mersand, a nurse, is acquitted of the charge of administering a fatal dose of medinal to an elderly patient. Gwynneth Bentley and her lover, Roy Gleason, attended the trial. Later Gwynneth meets Bessie, who has changed her name to Mathews, and, waiving references, gives her a job caring for Gwynneth's invalid husband. She plans to kill her husband and plant the guilt on Bessie. Medinal tablets for Gwynneth's sleeplessness are placed in Bessie's charge. Gwynneth hides a valuable jeweled dagger, then puts the ground tablets in her husband's food. She then sends Bessie off to meet a supposed relative, and sends away Bessie's luggage to make it appear that Bessie has fled. In London Bessie meets her friend Jim Watkin. Jim has heard of the crime over the ticker at his club and is torn by doubts of Bessie's innocence.

INSTALMENT XII.

PROOF OF INNOCENCE.

As the show drew to an end Bessie glanced once or twice at her wristwatch.

"How long does it take to get to Waterloo from here?" she asked Jim as the curtain fell.

"About five minutes."

"O, then there's more than half an hour to spare!"

Her luggage was at Waterloo and the police were waiting by it. She might not know the police were waiting for her. But obviously she did not intend to go to Suddington—leaving her luggage in the cloakroom at Waterloo. Why should she have put the luggage at Waterloo if she intended to return to Suddington that night!

He nodded to the commissionaire who called them a taxi.

"Slip along to Clapham Junction, he ordered.

"But I want Waterloo!" exclaimed Bessie.

"We can pick up the same train at 11:39 at Clapham, and that will enable me to pinch nearly another nine minutes of your society."

"Do you know you're more than a little mad!" she laughed as he got in beside her.

"Much more than a little! And it's rather nice, don't you think!"

"Very nice!" she dared. "But what is the real man like?"

He hesitated. Here was a chance to turn the conversation in a direction he wished it to take.

"A competent architect, an indifferent sculptor, with a lot to learn, but an amateur detective with a touch of genius," he answered gravely. "For the rest, a man who is not half as sure of himself as he pretends to be. Now it's your turn. What's underneath all the magic?"

"Just what you said that day in the park. A commonplace young woman trying hard to stand on her own feet. And always afraid she's going to make a mess of it."

"You don't really feel that!" he pressed.

"Not when I'm with you. You make me feel important, though I know I'm not really."

Inwardly James Watkin was profoundly uncomfortable. They had touched a moment of self-revelation. He felt a quite violent desire to take her in his arms and tell her that she need never again try to stand alone. The nicest girl in the world?

"You've had very tough luck so far."

"But the luck has changed. Gwynneth Bentley changed it for me."

Still clinging to that bluff! Was it a bluff! If so, he would call the bluff—round about eleven thirty-nine. In the meantime he would set himself deliberately to feed her suspicions—if she had any.

"I suppose it gives you the creeps whenever you think of that Brighton case?"

"I never think of it. I did have a sort of shock once—before I'd been with the Bentleys a week. But that was only because it had to do with medinal," she added dreamily.

"I remember!" he prompted. "Medinal was the stuff the Brighton woman took. How did it crop up with the Bentleys? They don't suspect your connection with that case, do they?"

"O, no! It was just a moment's weakness on my part. Dr. Treadgrove prescribed medinal for Mrs. Bentley. But he stipulated that I should take charge of the tablets. That was all."

"What was the good of the stuff to Mrs. Bentley if you were to keep it?

"I'd give her a tablet whenever she wanted it—which is every other night. Why are you making me talk shop?"

"Because I've got the creeps if you haven't," he answered. "Doesn't it strike you how ghastly it would be if, say, old man Bentley were to get at the supply of medinal! If the whole thing were to happen over again, as it were!"

"But I keep it locked up. There's no mistake about the key this time. It's in my purse."

"Suppose, when you get back, you find——"

In her voice, he could swear, there was nothing but annoyance.

"Here we are!" he said as the taxi slowed. He inquired the number of the platform. "This train," he told her, "is a non-stop to Suddington. Did you know that?"

"Good!" she said without enthusiasm.

Of course she did not intend to get into the train and be arrested on arrival at Suddington!

They had some ten minutes in hand. Presently she would suggest that a railway platform was a dull place and he had better leave her.

He waited but the suggestion did not come. She seemed quite willing, pleased, that he should wait and see her into the train.

"Here she is!" announced Watkin. The train rumbled into the station and stopped.

He opened the door of an empty carriage. She got in. He shut the door. She stood by the window.

"It's been a lovely evening," she said. "I shall remember it for ever so long."

"This train is a non-stop," he said desperately. "It will take you straight to Suddington."

"You told me that before. Good night, Jim!"

The guard blew his whistle. The train had actually started—when Watkin flung open the door and dragged her out on to the platform.

"Jim, you're mad!" she cried—and this time she believed it. "Let me go."

Her cry was partly drowned by the clatter of the train as it rumbled out of the platform.

"Shut up!" he hissed. "I'm not mad. Something dreadful has happened. You can't go back to Suddington."

She look up at him, her eyes wide with fear and bewilderment.

"You still think I'm mad so I'll have to tell you. Bentley is dead. He died suddenly two hours after you left. And they suspect an overdose of medinal."

A stifled moan broke from her. She swayed and he caught her as her knees gave beneath her.

As it so happened, to faint was the most tactful thing Bessie could have done in the circumstances. A ticket collector who had witnessed Watkin's extraordinary conduct had called a company policeman and was hurrying towards him.

"It's all right!" Watkin assured them. "I saw she was going to have an attack just as the train was starting and got her out in time."

If she were hysterical when she returned to consciousness he would probably be arrested himself—and so, of course, would Bessie.

"If you don't mind, don't stand too close to her or you'll frighten her when she comes to. I'll put her feet up on this bench."

"I saw you grab the lady just as the train started and I wondered what you was up to," said the ticket collector.

"Yes. Very unfortunate," said Watkin indifferently.

The two men stood watching a dozen feet away. In a minute Bessie opened her eyes.

Stealing Sister's Beau Is Mean Trick

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Is it nice, young sisters, for you to go sneaking up on big sister's beau and trying to wrest him from her?

We hear about you doing this from time to time and we don't like the spoil-sportsmanship of the idea. Besides we see you often making perfect little monkeys of yourselves and getting nowhere eventually with the man, and possibly ruining big sister's chances.

Judy writes today that she is 17 and in love with her older sister's beau who is 26. Her sister is in love with him, too, Judy confides, and he has been paying her attention for nearly a year. She connives to get Judy out of the way the night her beau is due and with mother's aid sometimes manages it.

"Not always, though," Judy gloats. "I fooled them the other night. Mom gave me the money to go to the early movie. I just went out and bought a lipstick with it and came right back home. You should have heard the row after the beau went home. I can't see that it is any harm if I do sit around and get in my sister's way, as she calls it, when her beau comes, because I am sure that I am the one he wants to see, not her. After all, men do prefer young girls, don't they?"

There's more to Judy's letter, more evidence penned by her own hand that she is a mean, conniving little sister and heartless as steel. We would like to take Mom aside and tell her she's too easy on the young miss. What that girl needs is a good paddling and being put to bed and kept out of the way of the older girl's suitor.

As for you, Judy, you need to be told that older sisters' beaux see in you youngsters just a kid to be fooled with. Their faces would be mighty red did they suspect that their innocent diversion was getting another interpretation from you. They'd be the first, in fact, to recommend getting you straightened out about your too, too tender years and your ridiculous young emotions.

Take our word for it that young men of 26 and thereabou. are in their least susceptible years so far as girls in the 'teens are concerned. You're wrong about thinking you have it over the older sister there. She undoubtedly has poise and grace and charm that you lack. She has had more experience with men, too, and she doesn't misinterpret every friendly little gesture from the other sex as a declaration of a burning passion.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Continue Being Attractive.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl and she loves me, but another fellow steps into the picture. How could I win her affections from the other fellow? E. J. D."

Continue to treat this girl with the usual amount of attention. In time she will know which one she likes best.

schoolgirl daughter, Miss Betty Dubbs.

Miss Dubbs, who will return to Dana hall at Wellesley, Mass., next month, was assisted in her duties as hostess by her brother, Carbon C. Dubbs, and his wife; her sister, Mrs. William H. McAdams, the former Jean Dubbs; and by two Wilmette friends, Miss Janice Yeoman and Miss Lenore Russell. Strolling musicians, in addition to the orchestra, furnished entertainment.

Instead of giving a luncheon party to raise funds to provide free tickets to next winter's opera season to needy music students, Mrs. William E. Graham is planning a bridge party. The event is scheduled for next Friday afternoon, at the home of the hostess' mother-in-law, Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, at 25 East Banks street.

The pretty young hostess is providing especial decorations in the ballroom of the house, where the bridge tables will be set up. She is asking several young friends to assist her.

On Labor day the senior Mrs. Graham will return from New York, and young Mr. Graham and his bride of six months, who have been living in the Banks street residence, will be moving out and into a home of their own.

Dinner-Dance Tonight at Knollwood Club.

Members of the Knollwood club and their guests will dance at the club tonight in an atmosphere of the old south. "A night in Dixie," the party is called, and reservations have been limited to 400 for this special party.

Among those who will have guests for a southern style dinner are the Percy Wilsons, Mr. and Mrs. August Kochs, the Donald Boweys, the David J. Molloys, the Robert C. Mitchells, the Robert E. Kenyons, and the James R. Bremners.

Mlle. Odile Weiller is arriving today from France for a visit with her parents, René Weiller, French consul general, and Mme. Weiller, whom she has not seen since their trip abroad last year. Mlle. Weiller will return to her studies at the Sorbonne at the end of two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Castle and their twin daughters, Miss Josephine and Miss Caroline Castle, are returning tomorrow after a vacation in Honolulu. On their way home they have been visiting Mr. Castle's mother, Mrs. William Simpson, in Menlo Park, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurance H. Armour and their son, Laurance H. Armour Jr., are arriving in Lake Forest Tuesday after a six weeks' trip abroad.

John Colemans at Virginia Springs.

Vacationing at the Virginia Hot Springs are Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman, John Jr., and Robert Coleman of Lake Forest. Mr. and Mrs. Ballard Moore, who have a house at the resort, entertained fifty of the summer colony at a buffet supper at their home this week.

Mrs. J. Bernard Mullen has been engaged these summer months in painting a portrait of Bishop George Craig Stewart. The canvas will be completed when he returns from Europe the first week in September.

The Mill Creek Hunt club will open for the season next Friday, and the first hunt of the season has been scheduled for Labor day.

Charles B. Goodspeed has gone east to join Mrs. Goodspeed at their summer home at Osterville, Mass. Mrs. Goodspeed has been there since returning with Mr. Goodspeed in July from a trip abroad that included the coronation. Mr. Goodspeed is returning to Chicago after Labor day, but Mrs. Goodspeed will remain in the east until the end of September.

WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Kathryn Mohr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph J. Mohr, 5618 North Kimball avenue, to Leonard Simpson Shoberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Shoberg, 4106 Addison street, will take place at 4:30 o'clock today at the Irving Park Baptist church. A reception will follow at the Mohr home. Mr. Shoberg and his bride will go to Sault Ste. Marie on their honeymoon, and will be at home at 2253 Ridge boulevard, Evanston, after Sept. 15.

Curiosity of Small Child Healthy Sign

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Today's letter reads like this:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: My baby, who is two and a half years old, is both destructive and bad. As much as I scold him, he won't obey until I come over and hit him for the wrong he did.

"Though he has toys, he seems to want to touch everything else. For example, a few days ago, he pulled out the sugar bowl and spilt it all over the floor. I, of course, became very excited and spanked him until my hands hurt, but the next day he is up to mischief again. I don't know what to do.

"He is terribly bashful when among strangers.

"Can you help me to change him?"

Almost a baby—just beginning to walk and to get capably around on his sturdy little legs—pretty new in this complicated world ruled by grownups, how can he be called destructive and bad?

This small son isn't bad and destructive, he is just utterly misunderstood.

Just use a little imagination and picture yourself in a foreign land where you do not understand the language or the customs of the inhabitants. Suppose you were told not to do everything you had an instinctive desire to, and then suppose the officers of the law in that strange land, without explaining, simply buffeted you and struck you. Many a little baby is in a parallel position.

Curiosity, constant activity, the deside to find out how everything feels, looks, and tastes are the strong primitive urges of little childhood. These urges cannot be constantly denied. What children need at this age is to have just as much freedom, just as many good toys as they possibly can have. If their desires are understood and satisfied in general, they accept very sweetly the few restrictions that it is necessary to put upon them.

The near-baby who has a chance to dig, and build, and play in sand or dirt, and climb and paddle in water, and examine things he sees is not going to be either destructive or naughty. Instead, he will develop richly.

In addition, it is very important to remember that many of the accidents and breakages little children have are due to their not having the muscular skill which we have developed.

For mothers of babies and runabout the leaflets "How Not to Say Don't Touch" and "Make Patience Your Handmaiden" will be helpful. Each will be sent out on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

There Is a Cheese for Every Taste

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Today's column continues a brief discussion of the most important varieties of cheese, both imported and domestically produced. Swiss Emmenthaler was the last type discussed.

GJEDOST: This is the national cheese of Norway, peculiar to that country alone. It is made of goat's milk, is dark brown in color and sweetish to the taste. Gjedost is very hard and must be shaved in thin portions. Other Scandinavian cheeses are Gammelost, made from skimmed sour milk, and having a pungent odor; Myost, a light brown, buttery and mild cheese; appetitost, a Danish buttermilk cheese, and Nokkelost, a spiced cheese.

GOUDA [pronounced gow-da]: Made in Holland, this hard cheese is very similar to Edam. A brilliant red rind and a rounded, flattened shape are distinguishing characteristics. Baby goudas are small cheeses, as the name implies. Kosher goudas are made in accordance with Jewish dietary laws.

GORGONZOLA: A semi-hard Italian cheese with a black coating. Gorgonzola is very hard and extremely salty. It is mottled with a mold similar to that of Roquefort. Made from fresh cow's milk and rennet, Gorgonzola is manufactured widely in Italy. Its origin was in a town of the same name near Milan. The cheese is cylindrical in shape.

GRUYERE: This is a Swiss cheese resembling Emmenthaler, but differing slightly in method of manufacture. It is a hard, blended, pasteurized cheese with a nutlike flavor. Imported Swiss Gruyere is wrapped in foil either in the circular cake or in individual portions. Gruyere cheese is now made for the most part in France. Good Swiss Gruyere is made in this country also.

HAND CHEESE: So named because originally it was molded by hand into its final shape. This is a sour milk cheese very popular with German people, and manufactured in many countries. Much of it is made in Pennsylvania, New York, and Wisconsin. The cheese has a sharp pungent odor and taste disagreeable to most persons not accustomed to it.

LEYDEN: This is a Holland made cheese of the Edam type. It is hard and contains caraway seed.

LIEDERKRANZ: This is a semi-soft American cheese resembling hand cheese and Limburger. It has a pungent odor and flavor likely to be unpleasant to any but cheese connoisseurs, who usually fancy Liederkranz.

LIMBURGER: The manufacture of Limburger cheese requires greater care and more constant attention to details of cleanliness than any other variety of cheese with the possible exception of Camembert. It is made from sweet, whole milk, in the better grades, possesses a strong flavor and a pungent odor which is almost entirely confined to the rind. Limburger is a harder cheese than Liederkranz, being classified as semi-hard. The origin was in Belgium, but the cheese is manufactured in many countries. Much of it is produced in America.

MUENSTER: This cheese originated in Germany near the city of the same name, but a limited quantity is made in this country. It is made in much the same manner as Limburger. Muenster is a semi-hard cheese of smooth texture and cream cheese flavor.

NEUFCHATEL: A very soft rennet cheese made from whole or skimmed milk, sometimes with the addition of cream. The quality varies with the skill of the cheese maker, and with the ingredients used. Neufchatel is creamy and white, and is sold in the same manner as cream cheese, in small, foil wrapped packages. The origin is France, but cheese of this type is made in this country also.

PARMESAN: A hard Italian cheese made from partially skimmed milk. The best Parmesan cheeses are grated for use after two years of curing. Parmesan is a product of Lombardy, Italy. A similar cheese is Reggiano, produced in a near region. These cheeses are not made in this country, but similar products have been made in Argentina.

PINEAPPLE: A hard Cheddar type cheese, shaped like a pineapple because of the method of drying in a coarse mesh net. The outer coat is rubbed with linseed oil and shellacked.

ROMAN: This is a hard Italian cheese with a sharp flavor. It is black-coated, dry, and salty, made from sheep's milk. Like Parmesan, it is used grated.

ROQUEFORT: This semi-hard, blue-green veined cheese is produced only in the caves of Roquefort, France, though somewhat similar cheeses are made domestically. The genuine Roquefort is made from sheep's milk. Moldy bread is used to introduce the flavor producing veining into the cheese. The odor and flavor are pronounced. Many persons consider Roquefort the "king" of cheeses.

SAP SAGO: The true "green cheese." Its color is imparted by dried leaves from a cloverlike plant which are pounded through the body of the cheese. This is a Swiss cheese, harder than Emmenthaler, and good for grating.

SWISS: Emmenthaler is the true Swiss cheese.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

TOO MANY RULES.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

I wish I could get my hands on some of the fellows who, 'way back in whist days, coined phrases that have somehow endured through the years and brought grief to untold millions of bridge players. I have been reserving an especially horrible torture for the author of "second hand low," a little cliché that, according to my estimate, costs players in the neighborhood of three million tricks a year. Perhaps I shouldn't feel so resentful toward the whist masters. After all, in whist, with all four hands closed, it is necessary to play largely by rule. There is no excuse, however, for present day contract players to be all choked up with inhibitions. Ninety-nine times in one hundred the bidding and the cards exposed by dummy reveal the true situation. As I have said on innumerable occasions, a rule of play always must be cast aside in favor of individual hand analysis. The deal below illustrates this point:

South, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K Q 10 6
♥ 9 7 2
♦ A Q 4 2

WEST
♥ 8 5 4
♦ J 10 3

EAST
♥ A K 3
♦ K 7 6 5
♣ Q J

SOUTH
♥ Q J 10 6
♣ A K 10 6 4 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

The hand occurred in a match-point duplicate game which, in a large measure, explains the somewhat peculiar bidding. East was too weak to enter the bidding aggressively, but when North passed to the two no trump, East thought something strange [possibly "psychic"] was going on. The fact that North would not have stopped one short of game without a reason caused East to take a shot at the double.

West hit upon a good opening, the diamond jack. Declarer, after some thought, refused the finesse, playing the ace. On a club lead from dummy, East's jack lost to the king, and then a low spade was led toward the king-queen. West, blindly loyal to the aforesaid [in]famous rule of "second-hand-low," ducked. The queen won and, when another club lead trapped East's queen, the entire club suit was run off, giving declarer a total of eight tricks and contract.

West's duck to the first spade lead was bad for several different reasons. First, on the opening lead of the diamond jack and play of the ace from dummy, East had signaled with the seven spot and declarer had followed with the eight. This last fact made it highly probable that declarer had started with only the nine and eight of diamonds which, of course, would place East with the K-7-6-5. Second, East's play of the club jack on the first club lead was highly significant. If East had held the Q-J-10, there would have been no excuse for the false-card of the jack. The 10 would have been the correct play. The jack would have been correct only from a holding of K-Q-J, or K-J blank. In the first case, if East had the club suit stopped there was no danger in the situation, but if East's jack signified lack of a stopper, as was quite likely, declarer was marked with six club tricks. He already had taken a diamond and to give him a spade would be to give him the contract.

There was one more reason why West should have jumped up with the spade ace. Since he also held the jack in front of dummy's K-Q-10, declarer could not go wrong on a guess. Any card he played from dummy would win. Had West jumped in with the spade ace and continued with the diamond 10, the defenders would have taken six tricks, which would have returned them an excellent match-point score.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question. I opened the bidding with one spade on the following hand: ♠ A Q 7 6 ♥ Q 7 ♦ K 9 8 ♣ A 10 8 6. Partner responded with two spades. What should my next bid be?

Answer: You should pass.

Free Ice Fund Needs Help in Late Summer

Contributions of $39.50 from THE TRIBUNE readers yesterday swelled the free ice fund's total for the summer to $2,471.52.

Nevertheless, the need for contributions still is great. Despite the waning of summer every sudden spurt of heat brings a flood of appeals for free ice into the ice fund office.

"Dear Friend," began one such appeal, written in an uneven hand, "is it possible for you to send me some ice tickets? I need them so bad. I have now passed my 79th birthday and am in my 80th year.

"Kindly help me out if only a few and I will be so thankful to you."

And another: "I go to the Municipal Tuberculosis institute with my son Frank and he gets iodine in his milk and the milk must not be sour and I can't buy ice to keep it sweet, so I'm asking you if you can help me."

If these fresh appeals are to be answered, TRIBUNE readers must continue to be generous. One dollar will give one family ice for a week. Current contributions are:

Mrs. Edward H. Pease	$ 10.00
Malcolm and Dorothy Provis and Marilyn Kaplan	5.00

Classic Two-Piece Frock

WOMAN'S AND MISS' "TOPPER."

The classic two-piece frock is with us again in a new fall version. Women are so partial to such ensembles that designers couldn't let the mode die. We think you will like the model presented today. It is a "topper" or blouse in either of two lengths. The shorter one is grand with your tailored skirts, and the longer version is perfect for afternoon and evening skirts. The combination of longer skirt and tunic blouse gives a nice, long line flattering to many types of silhouettes.

Satin is a good fabric choice for either length blouse. Various silks with rich surfaces also make up well, and lightweight woolens have their place, too.

You have a choice of styling. The larger sketch illustrates a blouse with high, collarless neckline and short sleeves. It is in the peplum length. The longer blouse may have a tailored collar and longer sleeves.

Style No. 3013 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 1½ yards of 39 inch material for the short-sleeved peplum blouse.

ACCUSE WEALTHY OF TAX EVASION IN LAKE COUNTY

Estates of 84 Residents Cited in Inquiry.

Wealthy residents of Lake county were accused of evading personal property taxes yesterday by Okel S. Fuqua, assistant state's attorney in charge of tax matters, and members of the county board of review.

Fuqua, who has been directing a campaign to collect delinquent taxes, said Waukegan court records on the estates of 84 persons who died in the last two years disclosed that 31 of these persons had paid no personal property taxes for from one to five years prior to their deaths. The records showed, Fuqua said, that the remaining 53 paid taxes grossly disproportionate to their personalty holdings.

Two Exceed Million Dollars.

Two of the estates involved amounts of more than $1,000,000. One is that of the late Laura A. Shedd Schweppe of Lake Forest, whose personal property was estimated at $3,000,000 in a petition filed in Probate court. Records showed no taxes had been paid for the last five years.

The personal property of Leslie Wheeler of Lake Forest was estimated at $1,200,00 when a bond for twice that sum was filed in Probate court by his executor. Mr. Wheeler paid a tax of approximately $360 on a 1936 assessment of $6,000, according to the records.

The personalty of twelve other estates among the 84 under investigation is valued at more than $100,000. Attorneys for the executors in all the cases are being notified, Fuqua said, and are being asked to appear at his office for a conference on the taxes. Each case then will receive a hearing before the board of review, comprised of Homer T. Cook, chairman, and John E. Hayes Sr. and Frank J. Ronan, members.

Hearing Set for Sept. 1.

Attorneys in 30 cases already have been notified, and one has been set for hearing on Sept. 1. That case involves the estate of John H. Leslie of Antioch, whose personal property was valued at $486,000 in the inheritance tax return filed in the County court. Records showed no tax paid in the last five years. Fuqua said attorneys for the estate will contend that Leslie regarded Antioch as his summer home.

Fuqua said he expected that thousands of dollars will be paid to the county as a result of his investigation, but he also pointed out that in many of the cases the estates will be able to claim exemptions because their property holdings consist largely of tax exempt securities. In the Schweppe case Fuqua said attorneys contend all except $50,000 of the $3,000,000 estate is exempt.

Other estates of persons who paid no personal property taxes for from one to five years prior to deaths, and the amount of their estates, as shown by Probate court inventories, inheritance tax returns, or orders, and executors' bonds follow:

Annie H. Wood, Highland Park, $53,000.
Bessie Brigham Anderson, Highland Park, $37,000.
Bessie Roberts Howlands, Cuba township, $61,000.
Camilla McPherson Holt, Lake Forest, $120,000.
Caroline Mitchell, Mundelein, $35,000.
Caroline Bacon, Waukegan, $20,000.
Dorothy L. Keith, Lake Forest, $350,000.
Flora W. Lasker, Lake Forest, $100,000.
Harriet Calhoun Moss, Lake Forest, $82,000.
Jessie M. Jacobus, Highland Park, $333,000.
Lillie M. Hendricks, Ingleside, $35,000.
Marie B. Johnson, Highland Park, $52,000.
Mary Louise Waller, Highland Park, $135,000.

Other Estates Cited.

Other large estates of persons who Fuqua said, were assessed far below the proper value of their holdings, are as follows—the first figure shown being the amount of their property according to court records, and the second figure being the amount of their assessed valuation for 1936:

Milton S. Florsheim, Highland Park, $350,000—$4,500.
Kate D. Haven, Lake Forest, $65,000—$150.
Martica G. W. Heyworth, Lake Forest, $100,000—$4,025.
Sidney Kaiser, Antioch, $163,000—$125.
William P. Kelly, Highland Park, $191,000—$550.
Roger Moore, Highwood, $28,000—$60.
Harold C. Smith, Lake Forest, $600,000—$11,510.
Charles Rubens, Highland Park, $200,000—$1,800.
Annie M. Brown, Lake Forest, $30,000—$1,500.
George S. Wedge, Antioch, $40,000—$190.
George F. Jaeger Jr., Lake Forest, $100,000—$1,025.
Melville S. Flinn, Highland Park, $500,000—$800.
Caroline M. Wells, Prairie View, $20,000—$1,275.
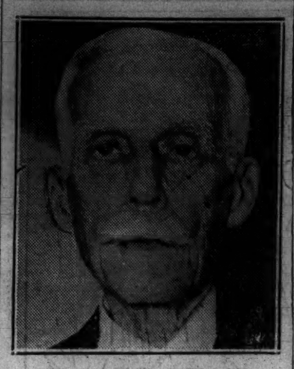
Oliver Hook, Avon township, $20,000—$180.

Lake county's tax collection campaign is no soak the rich program, Fuqua said, but is directed against all delinquent taxpayers.

HEALTH FAILING



ANDREW W. MELLON.

MRS. DAVID BRUCE.

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Andrew W. Mellon, who has been ill for several months, has become too infirm to leave the home of his daughter, Mrs. David E. K. Bruce, a member of the household said today. Mellon's condition was said to be due to his advancing years. The aluminum magnate, who was secretary of the treasury for 11 years, was 83 last March.

CONCEDES HE ATE DURING HIS 41 DAY 'HUNGER ORDEAL'

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—A jobless man who offered his scrawled diary of "41 hungry tortured days" to prove he had not eaten during that time admitted to a nurse today he had been eating meals regularly for more than a month at a relief kitchen.

Police expressed doubt that the diary had been written daily. They were seeking to identify the man, who appeared to be about 54 years old and gave the name of George Jones, asserting he apparently was suffering from amnesia.

Physicians said they doubted the man's story of an enforced fast in a fruitless hunt for work when they fed him a full meal yesterday after he collapsed in a downtown building. They said "Jones" ate the meal as a matter of course and retained it all, which a man who had gone without food for 40 days could not do.

$200,000 CARGO OF COD LIVER OIL REACHES CHICAGO

A $200,000 shipment of cod liver oil from Bergen, Norway, arrived in Chicago last night for the Walgreen Drug company aboard the Norwegian freighter Carmal Fjell, via the St. Lawrence river and the lakes. The oil was carried in 30 gallon drums especially treated to keep it fresh.

"Shipping by way of the St. Lawrence has many advantages," said E. A. Reese, head of the Walgreen laboratories. "It makes unnecessary the transfer of cargoes and is quicker. The oil on this trip came from 1,200,000 codfish caught north of the arctic circle."

The congress will seek to ascertain the true conditions of Jews in Poland who complain of anti-Semitism persecution and lack of security for their persons and property. Means of aiding 3,500,000 Jews in Poland locally or by helping them to emigrate will be studied.

Gunman Slaps Girl Cashier, Then Loots Safe of $350

A gunman slapped Miss Helen Kadzewick, 22 years old, 7000 South Talman avenue, cashier of the Tower Finance corporation, 806 West 64th street, when she said she did not know the combination of the office safe yesterday. He then forced the manager, Milton Mason, 1241 Loyola avenue, to open the safe and escaped with $350.

PLAN TO REOPEN GRAVE, HUNTING 20 MILLION WILL

Henrietta Garrett's Tomb Guarded in East.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Somewhere is a will distributing the $20,000,000 fortune of Henrietta E. Garrett, her namesake declares, so her grave will be opened to determine if the will was hidden there.

Attorneys for the state of Pennsylvania, which claims the undistributed part of the estate on ground Mrs. Garrett left no heirs, agreed today to the opening of the grave, probably next month, and meanwhile the grave is guarded.

Mrs. Henrietta Garrett Ferguson, daughter of an Atlantic City, N. J., physician and a large beneficiary under a will signed by Mrs. Garrett in 1921, said she witnessed a later will in 1924.

"Some one dissatisfied with its contents could have hidden it in her coffin in 1930," Mrs. Ferguson declared at a hearing to determine Mrs. Garrett's heirs.

Find Concealed Safes.

Attorneys for Garrett administrators and the state made a search of her home for hidden safes—and found them, but nothing of value in them.

Mrs. Garrett inherited the family snuff fortune from her husband, Walter E. Garrett, in 1895. It increased rapidly and at her death in 1930 it was estimated at $17,000,000. The will which the administrators filed for probate distributed only $62,500.

Leaves Advice to Widow.

"Make your will at once," Walter Garrett cautioned her in his will. "I would not like it if what I have worked long and hard to accumulate should be squandered by your or my sisters, cousins, and aunts, and uncles."

After the exclusion of his heirs there remained 17,000 who hoped to prove their relationship to his widow and thus their right to a share of the fortune.

Last January the administrators and court appointed examiners began to hear these claimants. Every week hopeful persons brought family Bibles, old ships' papers, birth records, portraits, and memoirs to Philadelphia to offer as evidence. The hearings were adjourned yesterday until Sept. 16.

DR. LOOMIS SUES TO UPSET SCHOOL PRINCIPAL LIST

Dr. Hiram B. Loomis, retired principal, filed suit for an injunction yesterday in the Superior court to restrain the board of education from using the eligible list of April 29 in making appointments for school principalship.

Dr. Loomis, retired after 28 years as principal of Hyde Park High school, charged the examinations were conducted fraudulently so that the board, dominated by Mayor Kelly, might set up a spoils system and "Tammanyize" the schools.

The bill, filed by Attorneys John E. Northup, Cameron Latter, and John C. Lichtenberg, charges that grades were arbitrarily made so favored applicants would get jobs. The bill asks the city treasurer also be restrained from paying the salaries of fifteen recent appointees.

Take Office Manager's Body from River at Cermak Road

Sleeping Oak Park Girl Taken Home from Hospital

Her fever gone, Patricia Maguire was moved from West Suburban hospital yesterday back to her Oak Park home, where she has lain a victim of sleeping sickness for five and one half years. Miss Maguire, now 32 years old, was taken to the hospital Sunday. Patricia's trips to and from the hospital by ambulance were her first trips outside her home at 523 Clarence avenue since 1932.

SATURDAY NEWS OF NEW BOOKS

Drama Packed Into Story of Torn Emotions

"Lena," by Roger Vercel. [Random House, $2.50.]

MORE of the same sort of fine writing that made Roger Vercel's "Salvage" such a memorable book is found in his latest novel to be translated from the French. Whether his characters perform the bitter hard work of marine rescue, as in "Salvage," or are torn by the passions of war in the Balkans, as in "Lena," Mr. Vercel makes them tremendously human and interesting persons, although by no means happy folk.

The current novel, an intense and sometimes bloody drama, relates the heartbreaking romance of a French lieutenant and a beautiful Bulgarian army surgeon, Dr. Lena Apostolova, who meet when De Queslain, the Frenchman, is wounded and captured by the Bulgarians in the closing months of the world war. It was a bad time to fall into the hands of those people, who knew they were beaten, and Lena's own strong nationalism would not permit her to favor her prisoner, no matter what were her feelings. Only in the final scene is their real love implied and it is swiftly blotted out by tragedy.

Vercel writes the story in the first person with an effect comparable to Conrad's celebrated use of Marlowe, his favorite narrator. De Queslain himself tells the tale, endowed with the author's gift of simple statement, which is an excellent and restrained medium for all the horror and pathos. "Lena" is a blunt but powerful story, well and tightly told.

Scarlett O'Hara Has English Counterpart.

"Time Piece," by Naomi Jacob. [Macmillan, $2.50.]

Scarlett O'Hara has a Yorkshire counterpart in Claudia Marsden, the central character of this long but far from tedious novel of English family life. Although "Time Piece" is somewhat less strenuous in plot than "Gone With the Wind," it glorifies the same sort of assertive femininity that was on display in the record selling civil war story. If you liked Scarlett, you'll probably like Claudia; but don't expect quite so much of her, for life was fairly placid in Yorkshire in the closing years of the last century.

Claudia was the daughter of a pretty, timid mother and a roistering, hot blooded father. From her mother she inherited beauty, from her father a zest for living and a tenacity which, had he devoted it to pursuits other than an overaddiction to brandy, might have saved him from dying an impoverished gentleman farmer.

But that isn't the tale Naomi Jacob wanted to tell. She gives us Claudia, with her mother's comeliness and her father's doggedness, meeting all situations as they come, from the heartbreak of learning that the man she loves is her stepbrother to mastering the intricacies of the wine business or the operation of a metal works—businesses which came to her by her two widowhoods. Author Displays Skill in Characterizations.

"Key Next Door," by Mathilde Eiker. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.]

Probably not even Miss Eiker would contend that this is her best novel, but it has enough of the family resemblance to those delightful predecessors, "Mrs. Mason's Daughters" and "Over the Boatside," to stand gracefully beside them.

"Key Next Door" is perhaps strongest in the pages devoted to one of Miss Eiker's matriarchal families, the Jeffries. The ailing Mrs. Jeffries, the bluff colonel, and their three selfish daughters lead the freest lives, have the most fun and the deepest unhappiness, and seem most a piece of American life.

Holden Satterfield, whose mistake in entering the wrong house in a storm, and Agnes Thomason, with whom he falls in love through this mischance, are destined to frustration and the torture of delicate feelings. Miss Eiker's fondness for twisting the threads of her characters' sensibilities here betrays her into occasional tedium. But all through her pages lie scattered charming bits of detail and flashes of happy characterization. R. P. Mac F.

Book Views in Brief

Author Presents Able Portrait of Audubon.

"Audubon, the American Woodsman," by Stanley Clisby Arthur. [Harmanson, $5.]

This new portrait of John James La Forest Audubon is probably the most satisfying history that has ever been written of America's foremost delineator of bird life. Throughout its 517 pages it follows the molding of his character, day by day and year by year. Into this work, which required 23 years to complete, went a wealth of new material and significant private writings of the great woodsman which for years had been suppressed by his descendants.

John J. Audubon.

And in bold relief is presented the enigma of Audubon's birth, an enigma that influenced his entire life. Was he born in San Domingo to Capt. Jean Audubon and a Mlle. Rabin or was he born in the palace at Versailles, the son of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette? Was he in fact the lost Dauphin of France? The conclusions drawn here are most absorbing.

With impersonal precision Mr. Arthur spikes the fairy tales that have been built up about Audubon in many biographies. As an example: Killing a bird for science was no tragedy to him; actually his one lust was the slaughter of the birds he loved. But the book is charming, at times thrilling reading. Appended are a history of the lost Dauphin, a complete list of the Audubon bird engravings, and all the likenesses of the great woodsman. C. L.

A Divorcee's Problems Treated with Sympathy.

"Call It Freedom," by Marian Sims [J. B. Lippincott, $2.50].

A neglected aspect of the much written about divorce problem, the rehabilitation of the divorcée, is treated with insight and sympathy by Marian Sims in her new novel, "Call It Freedom."

Martha and her problem are women's magazine story material, but Mrs. Sims handles them ruthlessly and with a refreshing absence of lavender and old lace. C. J. W.

Here's a Jolly Jaunt on China's Yangtze.

"Yangtze Skipper," by Thomas Woodroofe. [Sheridan House, $2.50.]

If you'd like a vicarious voyage on one of China's most famous rivers, piloted by a droll English naval officer, a man who shocked the world during the coronation of King George VI. with a slightly alcoholic announcement of fleet festivities, "Yangtze Skipper" can be recommended to entertain, amuse, and edify.

This jolly jaunt through China in the ungainly little British gunboat Beetle is at times hilarious, occasionally exciting, and throughout the voyage is well loaded with a cargo of facts and chuckles.

Thomas Woodrooffe retired from the navy in 1933 and since then has been one of the British Broadcasting company's most widely known announcers. It was his hiccoughed comment, "The fleet's all lit up," and other lively remarks while standing at the microphone and telling the British empire about the coronation fleet review that caused the shocked wireless executives to cut him off the air. Personality Given Ship in This Stirring Story.

"Pipe All Hands," by H. M. Tomlinson. [Harpers, $2.50.]

This is the tale of a ship and her people, of the battered and weather stained freighter, Hestia, wandering through the ports of the world and the fierce loyalty by which she binds men to her cause. Although not the equal of his "Gallions Reach," "Pipe All Hands" is one of H. M. Tomlinson's best books.

Cursed with the name of ill luck, yet with a certain dignity when handled by the seamen who love her, the Hestia emerges through this modern Conrad's imagery with a definite personality as she wanders the world from Celebes to Java to London's West India docks, Tripoli, Sicily, and toward Boston.

The plot is the course of the ship, both spiritual and physical, and the lives of the men tied to her, even when the Atlantic hurricane sweeps down in all its fury. You will enjoy meeting Capt. Doughty, whose eyes "chilled with the glint of unrelenting life," Billy Christmas, the Chinese cook who can't speak a word of his native tongue; Bosun, Chips, Witchelow, the old chief engineer, worn out with his ship, and the Tenants, father and daughter, who tie their fortune as passengers with that of the Hestia. J. H. T.

Erskine Trains Witty Eyes on a Famed Rogue

"The Brief Hour of François Villon," by John Erskine. [Bobbs Merrill, $2.50.]

WITH the same jaunty wit with which he recorded the private life of Helen of Troy, John Erskine tells the life story of a great poet, a great lover, a great rogue, François Villon, who knew the highest and the lowest and sang an imperishable song.

Villon seems almost created for Mr. Erskine to record, so perfectly does his career lend itself to the type of gay and witty dialog that Mr. Erskine does best.

The gallows, even death, hold less fear for his hero than do a woman's eyes. But Villon can see his true love turn from him in disgust, comforted by his own philosophy.

Mr. Erskine declares Villon's famous clerical godfather his father in the flesh and puts many an impudent quip on François' lips when they meet. Like his novels about Helen and Adam and Eve and other characters whose vital statistics are not recorded, "The Brief Hour of François Villon" has fact only as the dash of bitters which gives tang to the fictional champagne cocktail Mr. Erskine mixes for his readers. Novel Withdrawn by Its Author 8 Years Ago Published Again

"Nights of an Old Child," Heinz Liepmann's first novel [Lippincott, $2.50], appeared in Germany eight years ago. Based on the author's personal diaries, it was intended only for the author himself and his friends. During his absence from Germany a friend had the book published. When Liepmann returned he was so horrified he stopped further sale of the book, though in ten weeks twelve editions had been sold. Not until he had published four other books did he permit another edition of his early novel.

Last year—it was GONE WITH THE WIND that was sweeping everything before it with sales of more than 100,000 copies one week after publication and a demand that mounted geometrically day by day, and has continued over 14 months!

This year another book is duplicating that remarkable record because it also fills the first requisite for popular reading: sustained entertainment. That book is

"WHAT A RIVER! WHAT A LIFE STORY!"

Critics are almost unanimously agreed that this book, published early this year, is Ludwig's greatest. As we follow the course of the Nile, originating in a primordial land of wild beauty and maturing amidst our ripest civilization, there arise before our eyes all the shadows of the past: an endless train of historical figures, the warring tribes, the strange races, that have desperately fought and struggled for existence along its shores.

Here is the story of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba; of Alexander the Great; of the Ptolemies; of Abyssinian slave markets; of Caesar, Antony and Cleopatra; of Stanley's heroic discovery of Livingstone and the Congo; of Bonaparte; of Lord Kitchener—and countless other heroes, adventurers and madmen who make up the splendid pageant which has followed the course of the Nile.

Through it all the protagonist of the story remains clear. The Nile, mighty artery of life to land and people, flows majestically through the ages while humanity grubs and claws on its banks.

WHY WE OFFER TO GIVE YOU A FREE COPY OF THIS BOOK

THERE is no reader of this newspaper who would not find it in many ways to his advantage to subscribe to the service of the Book-of-the-Month Club; and we make this extraordinary offer in order to demonstrate that this is the case.

What we here propose is this: mail the inquiry coupon, and a copy of THE NILE will immediately be put aside in your name, and held until we hear whether or not you care to join. In the meantime, a booklet will at once be sent to you outlining how the Club operates.

Study this booklet at your leisure; you may be surprised, for instance, to learn that belonging to the Club does not mean you have to pay any fixed sum each year; nor does it mean that you are obliged to take one book every month, twelve a year (you may take as few as four); nor are you ever obliged to take the specific book-of-the-month selected by the judges. You have complete freedom of choice at all times. You also participate in the Club's "book-dividends," of which over $1,450,000 worth were distributed among members last year alone.

If, after reading the booklet, you decide to join the Club, the free copy of THE NILE being reserved for you will at once be shipped to you.

Here is a very interesting fact; over 150,000 families—composed of discerning but busy readers like yourself—now get most of their books through the Book-of-the-Month Club; and of these tens of thousands of people not a single one was induced to join by a salesman; every one of them joined upon his own initiative, upon the recommendation of friends who were members, or after simply reading—as we ask you to do—the bare facts about the many ways in which membership in the Club benefits you as a book-reader and book-buyer.

WILKE MAKES LONG GAINS IN ALL-STAR SCRIMMAGE

RUNS, PASSES TO LEAD ATTACK OF FIRST TEAM

Pairs with Drake at Half Back.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

As a friendly tip to Green Bay's Packers, who come to Soldiers' field Sept. 1 to play the All-Americans, let them remember that Robert Edward Wilke of Notre Dame is a member of the college football squad. Had there been any Green Bay scouts at Dyche stadium yesterday they would have seen one of the greatest exhibitions of running and passing in the current practice periods.

Bob Wilke, 6 feet tall and weighing only 165 pounds, one of the most unassuming stars on the squad of stars, stepped into the left half back berth on the No. 1 eleven. His ball carrying, sharp knifing drives inside of the tackle or wide runs; his passing, and in particular, his enthusiastic execution of all offensive plays touched off an attack which swept through the defense so easily that it was almost unbelievable.

Drake at Right Half.

Wilke was paired with Purdue's John Drake at right half back. In between them was Wisconsin's Ed Jankowski, who, like Drake, is familiar with the system of attack which Coach Gus Dorais and his assistants are teaching. At quarter back was Vernon Huffman of Indiana, alert field general and smashing blocker. The line was Gaynell Tinsley and Merle Wendt, ends; Ed Widseth and Del Bjork, tackles; Max Starcevich and Steve Reid, guards, and Bud Svendsen, center.

This eleven has coördination. And Wilke took advantage of the precise blocking and hard charging to rip through the line for gains of four to 20 yards. Reverse plays, with Drake carrying, were effective, but the surprise of the scrimmage was Wilke's passing. His tosses were accurate, and two were completed for what would have been touchdowns in a regulation game.

Will Do His Share.

Wilke's play increases the possibilities of the All-Star attack. With Sammy Baugh and Ray Buivid ready to pass and run, and already confidently demonstrating their ability, the evidence that Wilke can take care of his share of the burden increases the threat of the All-Stars' offense.

Wilke probably is one of quietest players who ever starred at the all important left half back post at Notre Dame. Successor to the position where such men as George Gipp, Jim Crowley, Jack Elder, Marchie Schwartz, Nick Lukats, Bill Shakespeare, and Andy Pilney have performed, Wilke is less widely known because his tenure was only one season.

Wilke substituted for Shakespeare and Pilney for two years. Last season the burden of play fell to him. He led Notre Dame in scoring, making six touchdowns, two of them against Northwestern when the Western conference champions were beaten, 26 to 6. He scored twice against Army. In all, Wilke carried the ball 128 times from scrimmage, gaining 463 yards for an average of 3.6 yards. He completed nineteen forward passes in fifty-three attempts and his percentage of success was .359, not the best in the country, but a mighty splendid record.

He Isn't a Kicker.

Wilke is not a kicker. But he will not need to kick against the Packers with such men as Sam Francis, Vern Huffman, Joe Riley, Steve Toth, and Al Agett available. For that matter, Wilke's teammate from Notre Dame, Joe O'Neill, can be called upon if necessary. Wilke kicked once last season for the Irish, a quick kick in the Northwestern game which went

HEROIC SLUGGING BY HOSE WASTED AS INDIANS WIN

Lee Forces In Two Runs in Sixth.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

A triple and a homer by Rip Radcliff, a double and a homer by Dixie Walker, three doubles by Luke Appling and a triple by Thornton Lee. All this heroic swatting, not to mention a leadoff pinch single by Larry Rosenthal in the ninth, wasn't enough to balance the quality of pitching Manager James Dykes sent forth yesterday against the Cleveland Indians in the opener of their series with the White Sox. The Indians won, 7 to 6, and the deciding run was produced by the Indians' only shot that exceeded a double—Earl Averill's eighth inning homer.

The Indians' fifth and sixth runs were forced across the plate in the sixth when, with the bases loaded, Lee couldn't find the plate with the aid of a pack of bloodhounds.

Third Defeat in Four Games.

It was the third thumping the Sox have suffered in the four games they have played since returning from their Tournament of Morning Glories in the east. Because their first division rivals, the Tigers and the Red Sox, also lost, the Sox did not lose ground in their struggle for the American league's principal also-ran honors. They continued a game and a half back of the Tigers and a half game head of the fourth place Red Sox.

The Sox wasted a lot of power in putting over their run in the first inning. After Hayes had popped to Kroner and Kreevich had tapped to Hale, Walker smashed a double to the right field scoreboard and scored on Radcliff's triple to center. Appling ended it with a fly to Solters.

Power also was evident in the production of the Sox run in the second. With two out, Sewell singled to center and scored on Lee's triple to right center. Lee's triple, like Radcliff's in the first inning, failed to blossom into a run. The inning ended with Hayes' tap to Lary.

Indians Tie Score.

A pair of singles was all the Indians made in tying the score in the third. Pytlak singled and stopped at second on Galehouse's single. Lary bunted and when Piet threw away the ball Pytlak scored, Galehouse reached third and Lary second. Kroner flied to Kreevich, Galehouse scoring and Lary taking third. Averill fouled to Sewell and Trosky flied to Kreevich.

The Indians went ahead after two were out in the fourth. After Hayes had tossed out Solters and Alexander had fanned, Hale singled to center and stopped at second on Pytlak's hit to Piet. Galehouse then came through with his second hit, a single to center, scoring Hale. Lary walk-

Say Arch, why do Helpers Ronnie and P. J. W. have to be like that regarding Ed Burns' sentence to the White Sox? That was a dirty crack of Ronnie's about "Wrigley's band box," and at a time like this when P. K. is building more stands for the customers. And then this P. J. W. fellow ups and disinters the city series. There will be no city series this fall, Uncle P. J. The Cubs play in the world series only and poor Ed Burns' team will not be there. I still claim he got a bum assignment. No future to it. —Ed D. of Pontiac.

DERRINGER (HE'S A PITCHER) BATS IN FIVE TALLIES

Defeat Cuts Chicago Lead to 2 Games.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 20.—Paul Derringer, a gentleman noted as a Cub tormentor, had all his mystic powers working under the electric lights tonight. He put them off their guard with his right arm and knocked them flat with his bat, the lowly Reds meanwhile showing so much class that they almost ran away from their shadows while piling defeat on the league leaders. The score was 6 to 4 and, even sadder than that, it reduced the Chicagoans' lead to two games in the pennant campaign.

Derringer could not finish the job he started, but his sudden fadeout in front of the finish line was excusable. For eight innings he had kept the Cubs so well in arrears that it was apparent that nothing less than some outstanding heroics, of which they haven't been guilty of late, could save them. And the giant right hander not only subdued the pacemakers as hitters, but personally batted in five runs in his own behalf on a pair of doubles followed by a single. In the ninth he retired from a difficult situation, but Lefty Lee Grissom did the rest.

Parmelee Chased in Sixth.

For a good portion of the evening the Cubs maintained their nine man lineup by employing Leroy Parmelee on the mound, but he could escape from tough situations only when Derringer didn't get a chance to swing. Derringer jolted Parmelee for a double in the second, driving in two runs. He doubled again in the fourth, pushing one run home. In the sixth he cut himself down to a single which drove in two-thirds of a three run rally and induced Parmelee to sneak away in the dark, leaving Clay Bryant to put on a dazzling demonstration which gained nothing.

Derringer accomplished his third victory over the Cubs this season and his thirteenth in three years by slicing the heart out of the batting order. Billy Herman and Frank Demaree, who are supposed to be the burden bearers, went hitless. Between them they had chances to drive in six runners, but only one of the six scored and that one on a fly by Herman. Joe Marty, with a triple and double, was responsible for starting two of the runs. The two others were shoved home by Augie Galan's triple.

Jolt Parmelee in Second.

The Reds punctured Parmelee for two hits before anybody was out in the first inning. So the two run affair in the second wasn't exactly a surprise. Riggs started this scoring episode by singling over Jurges with one gone. Kampouris walked. Demaree delayed trouble by dashing back and leaping to capture a healthy drive by Miller. Parmelee apparently took Derringer lightly as a hitter. He served up a cripple on the first pitch and Galan found it eventually in the vicinity of the scoreboard in left center. Riggs and Kampouris scored and Derringer stopped at second. Jurges threw out Davis.

During the first two innings the Cubs had to be content with one hit, which Galan contributed on a roller to short in the opening session. Business picked up in the third, but the Chicagoans flopped after fixing up a swell opportunity for themselves. Marty opened with a pass and Parme-

PACKER VETERANS SCORE 3 TIMES, NEW MEN TWICE

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 20.—Five touchdowns, one bruised hip, one sprained arch, and the realization that they have a long way to go in a short time were the net results today of the Green Bay Packers' first scrimmage for the All-Star football game in Chicago on Sept. 1.

The Sauers, composed of veterans, defeated the Sweets, made up of new men and reserves, three touchdowns to two, scoring twice on passes by Arnie Herber. But the hour and a half exhibition was not as impressive as one might expect from the champions of the world.

With George Svendsen, Tiny Engebretsen, Lon Evans, Champ Siebold, Lou Gordon, Don Huston, and Capt. Milt Gantenbein clearing the way, the Sauers marched sixty-five yards to their first touchdown, with Full Back Clark Hinkle going over from the three yard line. Herber threw a fifteen yard pass to Hutson several minutes later and the slender end threaded his way thirty yards through the secondary for the second score. The third touchdown was a forty-five yard pass, Herber to Paul Miller, in the end zone.

Sweets Get Going.

Later the Sweets, with Ray Peterson, the rookie from the University of San Francisco, leading the offense behind Darrel Lester, Zud Schammel, Russ Lettlow, Lyle Sturgeon, Walter Bartanen, Wayland Becker, and Bernie Scherer, marched 70 yards to their first score. Peterson passed 20 yards to Scherer to prolong the march and threw another for 20 yards to Scherer in the end zone. Joe Laws broke away for several gains of more than 5 yards to set the stage for a 35 yard pass. Laws

U. S. Leads in Series for Wightman Cup

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—The United States moved to the threshold of another Wightman cup victory at Forest Hills today as American women stars routed the invading English forces, 3 to 0, in the opening day's play.

About all that can keep the trophy from falling into American hands by night fall tomorrow is a rainstorm. The home squad needs only one victory in four matches tomorrow afternoon to gain its eleventh triumph in the fifteen year old series.

Miss Alice Marble and Miss Helen Jacobs, present and former national champions, led the victory march as they toppled Miss Ruth Hartwick and Miss Katherine Stammers, respectively, Nos. 2 and 1 of the English team.

Miss Marble turned back Miss Hartwick, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, striking her stride in the middle set after a much too conservative start, while Miss Jacobs took the measure of the ranking British player, Miss Stammers, with a rally in the last set to win, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

Then, to complete the day's program, the American doubles combination of Miss Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan routed Miss Evelyn Dearman and Miss Joan Ingram, 6-3, 6-3. Victory tomorrow in one of the three singles matches or the doubles encounter will clinch the series for the United States forces.

Wilbur Shaw Slows Up; Interested in Turtle Derby

Shaw raced to fame over the Indianapolis 2½ mile oval at better than 113 miles an hour, but he would not venture a guess as to how fast his turtle would go.

KING LOUIS GOES FISHIN'—WITHOUT HIS RIGHT HOOKS

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Aug. 20.—Joe Louis getting ready for the Tommy Farr fight next Thursday night is very much like Joe Louis getting ready for the fight with Jim Braddock.

There are just a couple of noteworthy changes. One is his general bearing. He's the world champion now and you can tell it in the swing of his walk and the look in the eye.

Although he doesn't say it, of course, you can almost hear the words "I've got something now."

Wears a Very Nifty Garb.

Another change is Joe's hat. He's a sailor boy this training season. He wears a glorified gob model along with slacks and a white pull-on sweater. Very nifty indeed.

His board of advisers and staf are just about the same. At the moment, his Hoosier schoolmaster, Radford Morris from Indianapolis, is busy teaching Joe how to remember names and faces. Joe is proving an apt pupil. No white visitor at the camp ever is greeted by his first name. It is always, "How are you, Mistah So and So?"

A temporary addition to the family is Mel Frazier of Brooklyn, who serves as sort of a general sergeant at arms. He has a very convincing way of telling visitors that Champion Joe is out when in reality he's up in a feather bed snatching several large healthy winks of sleep.

Joe Goes Fishing.

Frazier's duties on this very scorching day here at the camp in the vale of the Ramapo mountains were unusually difficult.

Joe had actually gone out on Pompton lakes this morning for an all day fishing trip, forgetting among

30,000 Extend a Welcome to South American Boxers

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The people of Chicago last night extended their greeting to the amateur boxing champions of South America who have come to town for a series of matches with the Catholic Youth Organization fighters next Wednesday evening at Soldiers' field.

Since their arrival several days ago, the South American boys had become accustomed to hand shakings and official welcomes. But last night's experience was something new. These young men from distant countries were escorted to Garfield park, where they found thousands of Chicago folks gathered upon the lawns about the bandstand, ready to give them cheers as they might expect from the people of their own land.

30,000 Brave Rain.

Through an evening of intermittent showers the crowd, which police estimated at 30,000, waited for an opportunity to cheer the South American lads. Prominent civic and diplomatic officials were on hand. A program of entertainment had been arranged by Ray McCarthy and other west side business men, parish organizations had provided floats for a parade, and there was a promise of fireworks to top off the evening.

Bishop Sheil Speaks.

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, director of the Catholic Youth organization, extended the welcome of a gracious host to the visiting boxers. He said that the South American boys came here not as foes but as friends to bring about a better understanding and a more solid friendship between the youth of the two continents.

Georgia Donoghue welcomed the South Americans as the spokesman of the Amateur Athletic Union and the Chicago park district. Judge Oscar S. Caplan spoke as a representative of the B'nai B'rith.

The consuls of the various countries represented on the South American team were present. They were E. Gruning Rosas and J. C. Weidemann, consul and vice consul respectively of Argentina; R. C. Lebret,

MARICA IS STILL RARIN'; TO RUN IN STEGER TODAY

Lincoln Fields Track Heavy for Two Stake Races.

Marica, Tom Taggart's champion race mare, isn't ready to call it quits yet at Lincoln Fields. She was named overnight by Trainer Howard Wells for a third crack at the horses of the handicap division and unless the combination of muddy going and crushing impost causes her to be a late scratch, the daughter of Epinard-Canberra again will be the favorite today.

Marica was one of 13 named for the seven furlong Steger handicap to be run as the fifth race. Following it will come the tenth running of the Lincoln handicap, another $2,500 added race, this one at a mile and a sixteenth. Ten route runners were named for the Lincoln handicap.

Cloudburst Hits Track.

The cloudburst that descended upon Lincoln Fields yesterday as the field for the second race was off removed all chances of the track being fast for today's double stake program. The card will be run over a muddy track, but is not expected to cause many changes in the fields. Marica, should she go to the post, will be favored for the Steger despite her impost of 127 pounds.

The rain enhanced the chances for J. W. Parrish's Dellor to win the Lincoln. Dellor will be starting his sixteenth stake of the year, and so consistently has he performed that he will be little more than even money today. Dellor's main opposition is expected to come from Mose Goldblatt's Dnieper and Kirby Ramsey's entry of Brandon Prince and Palamede.

Spots Deliberator 9 Pounds.

Despite Marica's presence, the Steger is likely to be the more open race of the two. Marica will be giving Deliberator eight pounds more than in either of their two previous meetings. She also will have to turn back the improving Bien Fait, once handicap champion of the west and now in the midst of a successful comeback, and the Valdina farm's entry of Sir Emerson and Solar Hawk.

Jocky Bobby Dotter, who has been astride the winner in three of the four Lincoln Fields stakes already contested, will have the mounts on Marica and Dellor this afternoon. Should Marica be withdrawn, Dotter will ride Pompa in the Steger.

Rain yesterday sent race goers scurrying for cover at Lincoln Fields. It came down in such torrents that the backstretch and turn for home were hidden from view. The storm caused Shawka, a field horse in the second race, to run into the fence, throwing Jocky Frank Bowles, whose leg was injured. Five minutes later the sun was out.

Favorites accounted for the daily double and it was worth only $21.40. The Blue Ridge farm's Mr. James won the first half in the downpour over a slow track, scoring by a head over Full Tilt, with Fluke almost out of sight back in third place. By the third race the track was sloppy, and Bedight waded home in front of Gay Water and Baranca.

Employer, purchased by Bryant Ott from Joseph Widener a few days ago, won at first asking for his new owner yesterday in the Wooddale purse. Employer turned back Blaufuss, Wicked Time, and five other juveniles in 1:07 2-5 for the 5½ furlongs. Jocky E. Rodriguez was in the saddle.

Employer had won only one of thirteen starts for Widener this year, but had raced with the best on almost every occasion. Yesterday he ran for $3,500 and apparently found his winning level. At the finish he was six lengths in front and paid $8.

H-m-m! Brookfield Humming Birds Have Quite a Home

BY BOB BECKER.

Among the scores of exhibits featuring exotic birds in the Brookfield Zoological Gardens there now is one made up of beautiful humming birds from South America. When we visited the zoo a few days ago Karl Plath, who is in charge of the birds, was just putting the finishing touches to the glass and screen home of the hummers.

In a small wicker cage near by we saw the humming birds just before they were transferred. One of the species in this little cage was the gorgeous emerald humming bird with iridescent green plumage.

Of all the inclosures which the zoological garden has for birds, few can match the one for the humming birds in construction and decoration. Bouquets of flowers are almost everywhere. When we saw the opening of this humming bird home the flower feature that caught our eye was a colorful bunch of hollyhocks. Mr. Plath remarked that the hummers would look like pampered guests because they would be provided with fresh flowers from time to time—flowers from which they can obtain food.

But there were other novel food counters for the hummers. Suspended from vines and from the sides of the inclosure were a number of small glass containers containing liquid food mixtures. When they are shipped in small cages across country the birds are fed a mixture of honey and water. In the zoo they will get a liquid containing a prepared food which is nourishing and which they like.

Although there are many unusual animal exhibits at the Brookfield zoo which are bound to interest nearly every visitor, one ought to go through the building for cage birds if for no other reason than to see the hornbill and the toucans, and to hear the bell bird and the saucy myna.

PUDDIN, at home in the going and quick to settle into stride, drew into command after a quarter, sustained good speed without need of strong urging and won with something left. ROYAL BLUE was under pressure from the start, had no mishaps and held on well. MINSTREL STAR, fractious at the post but away well, also received a hustling ride and held on with good courage.

MR. JAMES took command quickly, was rated under light restraint to the stretch and, holding on gamely under strong handling, stalled off FULL TILT. Latter, a strong factor from the start and also under restraint for a half mile, closed resolutely but failed to get up. FLUKE, well up from the start, saved ground throughout and weakened but outstayed DARIA.

BEDIGHT, rushed into command and kept under strong urging for about three-eighths, received a breathing spell on the stretch turn, maintained a good pace when returned to vigorous riding after straightening out in the stretch and faltered badly in the late stages but was not seriously endangered. GAY WATER, never a great distance back and under mild restraint for a half mile, secured room on the inside in the stretch and stood a drive gamely. BARANCA improved his position gradually and closing in determined fashion was getting to the leaders.

Winner trained by S. B. Ott. Went to post at 3:54. At post half minute. Start good, from gate. Won easily, place driving.

EMPLOYER, performing superbly in the going and rushed into command, held away on the turn under strong restraint, increased his advantage while bearing out through the stretch and responded well to strong urging in the final three-eighths and was best of the others. BLAUFUSS, on the inside much of the race, began to improve his position after about three-eighths and held on with good courage. WICKED TIME, forced to race wide and receiving a hustling ride, weakened but held the others safe.

Winner trained by H. Chappel. Went to post at 4:22. At post 6 minutes. Start good, from gate. Won driving, place same.

FIGHT BACK drew into command approaching the turn, swerved out when increasing his margin on the stretch turn and holding on with determination, outgamed TWO SONS in the late drive, was under strong urging. TWO SONS, first half mile, continued to get through on the inside when racing to FIGHT BACK and held on well after getting to the front but was not good enough. HEART BREAK, placed outside the stalls for the start and away fast, was steadied when slightly outrun, closed strongly on the outside and was rushed for getting to the leaders.

MARY VITO took command under urging, was taken under restraint after reaching the turn, pulled away as she responded to pressure in the final quarter and held away thereafter but probably had little left. AHEAD, slow to begin and always under stout urging, came strongly in the final quarter and took up before reaching the last sixteenth but did not menace the winner. LEGENDA began well but fell back badly on the far turn, moved up with a rush on the inside in the stretch but way gave under mild urging in the closing stages.

Winner trained by A. E. Alexandra. Went to post at 5:24. At post half minute. Start good. Won easily, place driving.

JACK PATCHES, at home in the going raced to the front entering the backstretch without the need of pressure, increased his advantage steadily and, never seriously threatened, won easily. PRINCE TORCH, never far back and under slight restraint for the six-eighths, responded well to strong urging in the final three-eighths and was best of the others. SILENT SHOT, outrun for about three-quarters, saved ground and just got up for the show end.

DANDY JAY, away well, followed TWO TRICKS under restraint for about a half mile, took command with a rush approaching the second turn, increased his advantage rapidly and won easily. DISCOURSE, outrun for about five-eighths and forced to race on the outside while moving up fast on the far turn swerved in when put to pressure in the drive and finished gamely after straightening. TWO TRICKS had good speed from the start, gave way readily to DANDY JAY and then held on fairly well.

GIANTS DEFEAT HEAT, INJURIES AND PHILS, 13-6

Misfortune Hits Bartell, Coffman, Castleman.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 20.—(AP)—The New York Giants pounded out a 13 to 6 victory over the Phillies today, despite the breaks and the heat.

They were handed three bad breaks during the afternoon. The first came when Dick Bartell, shortstop sparkplug of the infield, was sent to the bench with an ailing ankle only a few days after his return from the hospital list. The second came in the third inning, when the heat got their star right hander, Clyde Castleman, and forced him to leave the game.

Then, in the sixth, Relief Pitcher Dick Coffman collided with Herschel Martin of the Phillies in a play at first base and was spiked so badly on the right foot that he had to be carried to the clubhouse.

PIRATES, 7; CARDINALS, 4.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Cy Blanton won his twelfth game of the season today as the Pirates rallied behind his six hit pitching to defeat St. Louis, 7 to 4. Johnny Mize's seventeenth homer of the season in the first inning with Terry Moore on base and Joe Medwick's twenty-seventh in the third with Brown on gave the Cardinals a four run lead. Medwick later was ejected by Umpire Ballanfant for his objections to a third strike.

Arky Vaughan, Pirate shortstop since 1932, made his debut as a left fielder. He had been out almost six weeks because of a leg injury.

JOHN MONTAGUE LEAVES TO FACE ROBBERY CHARGE

Montague, who had been fighting extradition with the help of his screen celebrity pals, wired Gov. Frank F. Merriam that he was returning voluntarily.

Why Montague has changed his mind was not made known, but there was some talk of a clemency deal. Three policemen from upstate New York accompanied him.

Yankees Beat A's on Homer in Tenth, 8-7

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Bill Dickey hit his 25th home run of the year with one out in the tenth inning and the score tied to give the Yankees an 8 to 7 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics today. It was the Yankees' fifth consecutive victory.

The victim of Dickey's game-wrecking drive was Lynn Nelson, who had relieved Buck Ross in the seventh. For a while it looked as if Nelson might be the hero, for his pinch homer in the seventh, with a mate on base, featured a four-run Athletics rally, which was followed by a three-run splurge in the ninth to tie the score.

Sox Waste Hits; Lose to Indians, 7-6

ed, filling the bases, but Kroner forced him to end the inning.

With one out in the sixth Pytlak bounced a double over Piet's head, his third straight hit, and held second while Galehouse was beating out a single to Appling. It was Galehouse's third straight hit. Lary singled to right and the bases were full when Pytlak wisely decided not to try for home. Kroner walked on four pitches and Averill on six to force Pytlak and Galehouse across the plate. Trosky struck out but Lee fell down while trying to field Solters' tap. Lary scoring and the bases remaining loaded. Alexander fanned.

Brown Replaces Lee.

Walker opened the Sox sixth with his No. 7 homer, a drive into the upper deck of the right field stand. Radcliff also knocked a homer, a line drive into the lower deck of the right field stand. It was Rip's No. 3. Appling socked his second double, a sizzler along the left foul line, and moved to third on Haas' sacrifice. Piet, who had amazed many by getting Luke home from third with the tying run in the fourth, reverted to form in this instance and was called out on strikes. Lary made a great play to throw out Sewell and end the inning.

Lee didn't come out for the seventh and Brown took his place. Hale beat out a single to Appling but was forced by Pytlak. Galehouse supplied his first out of the game by fanning on three pitches. Hayes made a fine play to stop Lary's grounder and threw him out.

Brown walked on four pitches to get the home seventh under way and moved over on Hayes' sacrifice. Kreevich walked on five pitches. Walker popped to Kroner and Radcliff flied to Solters.

Averill Smacks One.

With one out in the eighth, Averill smacked one over the score board in right center for his No. 11 of the season. Trosky flied to Radcliff, then Solters smashed one off Brown's foot which Hayes recovered and threw to Haas. Umpire McGowan called Solters safe, but Umpire in Chief Quinn reversed the decision.

Appling opened the eighth with his third straight double and went to third while Lary was tossing out Haas. Piet walked and was forced by Sewell, Appling scoring. Piet did a nice job of taking Kroner off the line to break up a double play. Brown flied to Solters.

Rosenthal batted for Haas at the start of the home ninth and singled to right. Hudlin replaced Galehouse. Kreevich failed in two attempts to sacrifice, then forced Rosenthal. It was Mike's fourth failure to get the ball out of the infield in as many times at bat. Walker forced Kreevich and Radcliff lined to Kroner.

Ted Lyons, who turned in a neat victory over the Indians in Cleveland stadium last Sunday, will pitch for the White Sox against the Indians this afternoon. Whit Wyatt, former member of the Comiskey staf, probably will work for the Indians.

Rain which fell after the first half of the first inning of yesterday's game caused the entertainment to be suspended 32 minutes. Wires from the loop during the suspension reported a heavy rain in that sector but the storm never was severe at Comiskey park.

Derringer Bats in 5 Red Runs to Beat Cubs

That Derringer Again.

Parmelee got through the third on one harmless hit and there was another safe blow landed in the fourth, but this wasn't harmless. Riggs opened with a roller to Cavarretta, Parmelee covering the base. Kampouris was nicked on the shirt by a pitched ball. Miller gave the ball a great ride into left center, but Galan galloped back to complete a spectacular catch. Then Derringer drove one to the same spot, but Galan couldn't catch up with the ball. It dropped for a double, Kampouris scoring. Marty had to stage a sprint to get Davis' fly for the third out.

The Cubs came through with their third and fourth hits in the fifth, and this demonstration shoved them into the scoring column. Marty led off with a drive which bounced gayly into right center for a triple. Marty had plenty of time to recover his breath while Parmelee was fanning for the second time. Hack clipped a single straight past Derringer's feet to transport Marty across the plate. Galan then flied high to Goodman and Herman lofted to Cuyler.

Derringer Spoils Strategy.

The three run hilarity in the Reds' sixth got under way when Riggs walked with one out. Kampouris doubled to left, Riggs stopping at third. The Cubs figured Derringer had exhausted his supply of hits for the night, so Miller was purposely passed, filling the bases. Before Derringer could swing his bat Parmelee threw a wild pitch, Riggs scoring and the two other runners advanced. Then Derringer ruined the Chicago strategy by singling to left, Kampouris and Miller scoring. Parmelee was yanked after cutting loose with another wild pitch and walking Davis. Bryant ended the inning without further trouble.

The two runs compiled by the Cubs in the seventh left them in arrears by 6 to 3. They didn't get to work on this effort until after Cavarretta and Marty had been retired. Bryant beat out a hit to Miller in deep short. Hack singled over second. Galan then whistled a triple into right center, Bryant and Hack scoring. Herman succumbed on a fly to Davis in center.

Grissom Restores Order.

The Cub ninth that started with promise and wound up with only one run across the plate was touched off by Marty's double to left. He jammed a knee sliding into second and Stainback ran for him. Frey batted for Bryant and walked. That was all for Derringer. Lefty Grissom came in and Hartnett, who batted for Hack, was expunged on a liner straight into Goodman's hands. The wild southpaw cracked Galan on the left knee with a pitched ball, filling the bases. Herman sailed a fly to Goodman, Stainback scoring and Frey taking third after the catch. Then Demaree tapped to Miller and the lights were turned out.

Bill Lee, who injured his side exctly two weeks ago to the day, will start for the Cubs against the Reds in the second of the series tomorrow afternoon. Manager Grimm originally intended to save the big fellow for the opener at New York next Tuesday but because of the scarcity of nine inning workmen decided not to wait. Al Hollingsworth probably will operate for the Reds.

When the Cubs played their night game here last season they attracted an overflow crowd of more than 30,000. Tonight's attendance was 18,448, indicating the novelty of the electric light spectacle is wearing off.

Grange Tells How Packers Rose to Title

[Following is the fourth instalment of a brief history of the Green Bay Packers, world professional football champions, who will meet the college All-Americans in The Tribune's fourth annual charity game at Soldiers' field the night of Sept. 1. The author won nation wide fame as a running back at the University of Illinois in 1923-24-25 and starred for ten years thereafter in the National Professional league.]

BY RED GRANGE.

In 1927, Lavvie Dilweg joined the Packers. I always have rated Dilweg as the greatest end who ever brought me down. And in 1929, the addition of Johnny Blood, Bo Molenda from Michigan, Mike Michalske of Penn State, and Kern of Pittsburgh rounded out the squad that brought Green Bay its first championship in the National Football league.

When the Packers clinched the title, they returned to Green Bay to find the railroad tracks dotted for miles with red fire. Thousands were at the station, with the band playing "On Wisconsin." Other thousands lined the streets as the team was convoyed across the bridge to the city hall for an official reception.

Packers Keep on Adding Power.

Johnny Blood's ability to catch passes was a big factor in the victories which brought the title. His real name is John McNally and he has been one of the most colorful characters in professional football for many years. Johnny attended Notre Dame for a month or two, then was off to the professional football wars. He served time with the clubs at Duluth, Minnesota, and Pottsville, Pa., and in 1929 was signed by the Packers.

In 1930, Tom Nash of Georgia, and Cal Hubbard of Geneva were added to the roster of the team and the signing of Russell Saunders and Nate Barrager of Southern California, and Dick Stahlman, who had no college affiliation, the next year, brought the Packers to the peak of all-round football talent, efficiency, power and finesse.

Gentlemen, Meet a Foursome of Great Linesmen.

In Hubbard, Stahlman, and Kern, Curley had three really great tackles, any one of whom could be held out of a game until a critical moment, then sent in to hearten and inspire his teammates. That is part of the Lambeau method—to have reserves so capable and respected that the injection of one of them into the game at the right moment has an excellent psychological effect on the rest of the team.

I rate Hubbard, tackle; Michalske, guard; Earpe, center, and Dilweg, end, as the best men in their positions I ever encountered in competition.

Hubbard weighed 270 pounds. During a game with Green Bay in 1931, I had to carry the ball on a quick opening play. For a fraction of a second there was an opening all right and then it was full of Hubbard, charging low. That's all I remember—as a matter of fact, it is all I care to remember.

Averell Daniell Played a Lot of Tackle for Pitt

Averell Daniell.

Several other members of the All-Star team were gathered in the room and the conversation inevitably got around to the subject of football.

"Sure, we played good ball at the Rose Bowl," Daniell interposed at one point. "But it wasn't our best day. I'll nominate the Ohio State game as our best, and go farther than that; it was probably the best game a Pitt line ever played.

"Why at the end of the first half they actually owed us six yard, and when you hold an offensive team like Ohio to minus yardage you must be good. I forget the actual figures, but they gained less than 40 yards all afternoon."

He Overlooks Himself.

Being modest Daniell didn't point out the rôle he played in making possible that stone wall defense. But the facts are that this 6 foot 3 inch giant, who weighs 210 pounds, was one of the principal reasons why Pitt turned up with probably the greatest line in football history last year.

Daniell reported to the freshman squad at Pitt in 1933, a tall, awkward youth weighing 185 pounds and knowing little about football. All he had to offer was aggressiveness—and it was this same aggressiveness that caused Pitt's opponents during the last three years no end of trouble.

He was on the second team at the start of the 1934 season and didn't get his chance until the Southern California game late in the season. The Panthers were protecting a small lead when suddenly Cotton Warburton began to sift through the left side of Pitt's line for long gains, much to the dismay of the Panther coaches

RADIO CONCERT IN HOLLYWOOD TO HONOR GERSHWIN

Noted Artists to Be Heard from Bowl.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A two and one-half hour concert in memory of George Gershwin is to be broadcast over CBS from Hollywood bowl the night of Wednesday, Sept. 8, starting at 11:30 p. m. The program will include the first public performance of Gershwin's Three Preludes, as transcribed by Arnold Schoenberg.

A score of noted artists, all close friends of the composer, will be heard with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Symphony orchestra. These include Fred Astaire, Al Jolson, Bing Crosby, Irene Dunne, and Helen Jepson; José Iturbi, who will play the piano solo parts of "Rhapsody in Blue"; Anne Brown, Todd Duncan, and Ruby Elzy, who will give portions of "Porgy and Bess"; the Hall Johnson choir, and Conductors Fritz Reiner, Otto Klemperer, Nathaniel Finston, Alexander Steinert, Nathaniel Shilkret, Victor Young, and Charles Previn.

WJJD will broadcast the city series between the Cubs and White Sox Juniors, representing the best sand lot players in the city, next Monday at 2:30 o'clock from Wrigley field. The youngsters, picked from 30,000 who participated in WJJD's baseball school run at city parks and playgrounds, are to perform before such notables as Presidents Harridge and Frick of the American and National leagues, respectively, and Judge K. M. Landis. Joe E. Brown will manage the White Sox Juniors and Walter Johnson the Cubs. John Harrington will broadcast the game.

Husk O'Hare, the band leader, writes from the south that the Big Apple Dance craze sweeping Dixie is nothing but the old "Everybody Form a Circle" stuff under a new name.

"There is no set music for Big Apple Dancing," Husk explained, "the most popular request number being the current hit 'The Merry Go Round Broke Down'."

WLS National Barn Dance has an extra-special feature for tonight—Chief Clarence Taptuka of a Hopi tribe, who was the recent winner of a talent hunt of KOY, Phoenix, Ariz. Chief Taptuka will do some warbling at 8 tonight at the Eighth Street theater presentation.

A physician took a blood pressure taking apparatus to CBS studios the other evening to test the tension of some of the young ladies in the audience as they watched "As You Like It." Their pressure went up about ten points. Thus CBS has concluded that its versions of Shakespeare plays are definitly stimulating. We can hardly wait for NBC's reports on what John Barrymore's streamlined efforts with the Bard of Avon did along hypertensional lines.

Syphilis as a national health problem will be discussed on the Northwestern university reviewing stand broadcast over W-G-N at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Dr. David C. Elliott of the United States Public Health service and Dr. James R. Miller of Northwestern's medical school will be the speakers.

WED ARCHDUKE WHO SACRIFICED ROYALTY; IN WANT

VIENNA, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Even hope was lost today for the once beautiful Wilhelmine Adamovic Woelfling, the postmaster's daughter for whose love Archduke Leopold Ferdinand sacrificed his royal rights.

News came to her in her windowless, shabby hotel room that a provincial court had refused her plea for an allowance from the Hapsburgs.

Wilhelmine, now 60 years old, and dependent on the dole for her existence, was married to Leopold in Switzerland in July, 1903, a dazzling figure in European aristocracy before the war. They were divorced in 1907. When Leopold died in Berlin as Leopold Woelfling, a porter, her allowance stopped.

Frau Woelfling believes a brother and sister of her father, named Adamovic or Adamovics, live in Chicago, but she does not know their address.

LINK OLD WHARF STONE TO BRITISH RAID ON CONCORD

Boston, Mass., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Remains of what historians believe may be the very wharf from which the British set off from Boston common on the march to Lexington and Concord were discovered today by workmen digging the new underpath at Commonwealth and Massachusetts avenues.

The men struck what they thought was hard clay. A closer survey, however, disclosed wharf stone running across the excavation obliquely, from one side of Commonwealth avenue to the other side and in the direction of the Charles river. The remains were almost under Massachusetts avenue.

Huge, hand hewn timbers also were found, with some of their foot long wooden pegs still in them. These discoveries were pulled out of the earth and a crowd quickly gathered.

FIRE DRILL TEAM WINS FIRST PLACE IN WATER FIGHTS

A water fight team headed by Division Marshal Arthur Brady, chief of the fire department drill school, won yesterday over teams from life saving squad No. 2 and engine company No. 5 in a push of war at the drill grounds at 720 Vernon place.

The water fights are staged by six-man teams with lines squirting 3,000 gallons a minute at a pressure of 60 pounds a square inch. A bucket is strung on a wire midway between two posts 100 feet apart. The object is for one team to push the bucket with a stream of water until it touches the post defended by the rival team.

The triumph of the drill school team gives it the right to represent Chicago in an intercity contest to be staged at the first national fire fighters' tournament, a Charter Jubilee event, at Soldiers' field Sept. 5 and 6.

FIND LITTLE GIRL, MISSING 4 DAYS, ON MOUNT AINSIDE

Arlington, Vt., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Alice Lorraine Baker, 20 months old, missing from her home since last Monday night, was found late today lying nude on her one piece sunsuit and weak from exposure, but apparently otherwise unharmed by her four days and nights in the open.

Her moans attracted searchers, who had hunted the woods and mountain sides, after they had traced her footprints up a steep, winding lumber road between Bald and Spruce mountains. The child had wandered to the spot, three miles from the cottage of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kimbell Baker of Hudson Falls, N. Y.

She was given first aid treatment and taken to a hospital, where doctors said her chances were "very good" although her name was on the danger list.

NEW OIL WELLS GUSH IN ILLINOIS, AND ALL'S WELL

Downstate Farmers Revel in Riches.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Olney, Ill., Aug. 20.—Southern Illinois today celebrated the discovery of oil under lands from which farmers for many years have tried to scratch a living with indifferent success. Today some of them, who formerly regarded a ten dollar bill as a fortune, are getting incomes rivaling those of movie stars.

The new oil basin's leaders took a party of state officials, including Lieut. Gov. John Stelle and Dr. Morris M. Leighton, state geologist, through the new oil fields and tonight they climaxed the celebration with a meeting at the town's leading theater in which the keynote was the giving of thanks for the end of seven long years of depression.

Oil Scent Supplants Clover.

Already the countryside's appearance has been altered by the erection of gaunt steel derricks and others are going up as fast as the material can be assembled. Instead of the scent of clover over a large part of this oil district, which embraces the counties of Richland, Clay, Wayne, and Jasper, exudes the smell of petroleum, while the road of drilling machinery has ended the countryside calm.

This new found prosperity has wrought other changes. Here in Olney, the center of the oil country, there is a miniature boom. They have boosted the rate at the hotel 25 cents a day and the price of ham and eggs in the last week has jumped a nickel—from 25 cents a plate to 30 cents.

Oil drillers and "roughnecks" from the fields in Texas, Louisiana, Michigan, and Kansas, and Oklahoma, have poured into the district. The population of Olney has grown since last May from 6,100 to about 8,000. Clay City, about 16 miles southeast, has grown from 600 to 1,800.

They All Talk Oil.

The one object of conversation of the inhabitants of Olney is oil. They say that almost every one with a few dollars to spare has a stake in some potential well, or site of a well. Shares run as low as one sixty-fourth of the output of a well—if it is brought in.

Since May 23, when a 2,500 a day barrel well was brought in on the farm of Bunyan "Bunny" Travis near Clay City, the rate of production in this territory has jumped to about 14,000 barrels a day and it is expected to go to 20,000 barrels early next week. The price for the crude oil is about $1.23 a barrel.

Travis, who sold a half interest in his royalty for $500 just before his first well was brought in, is getting about $200 a day from two wells. The royalty paid by the oil producing companies is an eighth of the output, so Travis has a sixteenth interest in his wells.

It Seems Oil Is Panacea.

Travis has bought a set of store teeth—his one big desire—and he plans to buy a farm for his son. And since he has come into his fortune his rheumatism is better, he says.

"I always thought there must be something under this land," Travis tells visitors, "because it wouldn't grow much on the top of it."

Oscar Poppe also is becoming a legendary figure in this oil community, which in a few short weeks has converted them from simple farmers into plutocrats. Poppe, who was born in Chicago in 1864, left the city shortly before the fire of 1871. For about 53 of his 73 years he has been engaged in farming near Clay City. Now, in his declining day, he has struck it rich, with a daily income estimated well over $300 a day.

Standing before his modest home, while an engine made a deafening roar, Poppe was asked what he was going to do with his money.

He's Going to "Blow It."

"I'm going to blow it, blow it, blow it," he exclaimed. "I am going to stay right here on my farm. My wife and I are used to this land, and we don't want to leave it. We'll use the money to take care of our children; we have four daughters and a son.

"Don't care much about traveling. I've been out to Montana and that's a good piece away."

In the meantime some of the town folk, who haven't been in on the flow of oil money directly, say there is going to be a lot of fun around here next winter when these new rich start trying to figure out their income tax returns.

Development of this new oil area has been different from operations in earlier fields.

Cost Prevents "Wildcatting."

It now costs about $25,000 to drill a well, so that only companies with adequate capital can afford to carry on exploration. The high cost of sinking the wells 2,500 to 3,500 feet has reduced wildcat operations.

Some of the more prominent oil men say they have recognized in the crowds of newcomers a few familiar faces connected with "sharpshooting" methods, and they are warning those contemplating investing in royalties or entering into leases on their lands to watch their step.

Reviewing the development of the Illinois oil fields, Dr. Leighton said last night that there are about 6,000,000 acres under lease in 40 southern counties. There have been 45 wells brought in with initial productions ranging from 100 to 2,500 barrels a day. On Aug. 1, there were 104 drilling operations participated in by 20 companies and since then these operations have been expanded.

Slender Loop 'Skyscraper' Is Sold to Cuneos

BY AL CHASE.

One of Chicago's slenderest "skyscrapers," the 12 story Browning building at 12 to 14 West Washington street, which has a 30½ foot "waistline," was purchased yesterday by Frank Cuneo, retired capitalist and South Water street commission merchant, and his son, John F. Cuneo, head of the Cuneo Press.

John F. Cuneo.

The contract, signed late yesterday, calls for payment of about $220,000 for land and building, it is understood. Frank S. Slosson of Hooker & Slosson, represented the seller, the estate of Joseph N. Field, and Cornelius Teninga was broker for the buyers.

May Cut Off 8 Stories.

The new owners, when title is obtained, contemplate shaving off the upper eight stories of the building, which is 182½ feet deep, as soon as leases expire in 1939. As the building is only 100 feet west of State street, the remaining four floors probably will be remodeled into a modern shop building.

No one connected with yesterday's deal could say when the building was erected, but the steel and concrete structure was bought by the late Joseph N. Field, brother of the original Marshall Field, in 1904.

In 1911 Field leased the land to Browning, King & Co., clothiers, at a net annual rental of $25,000, and sold the building to the same concern for $100,000.

Returned by Foreclosure.

In 1923 John De Woolf bought the leasehold and building for $350,000 from Browning, King & Co. and placed a $375,000 bond issue against the leasehold estate. Default occurred in 1931 and the Joseph N. Field estate took back the property through foreclosure in 1934.

The trustees of the Field estate are Stanley Field, son of Joseph N. Field; James Simpson, and the Northern Trust company.

STATE-DIVISION CORNER SOLD FOR $100,000 IN CASH

One hundred thousand dollars in cash was paid yesterday for the southeast corner of State and Division streets, according to Albert H. Wetten & Co., who represented both buyer and seller. The old buildings will be wrecked and a modern one story business block will be erected for occupancy not later than May 1, next year.

Julius C. Jaffe, representing an undisclosed purchaser, took title. The sellers were Mrs. Fanny Cary of New York, and the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee. The property is 86½ by 90 feet. Buildings now on the corner are landmarks of the neighborhood. The florist shop of Katharine B. Adams has occupied the corner for more than twenty years.

Several corners in the immediate vicinity have been bought within the last year or two. The estate of Marshall Field bought the northwest corner of Division and Dearborn. Henry R. Levy, president of Studebaker Sales company, bought the southeast corner of Division and Dearborn, and erected a modern store building, which is completely rented.

FLOUR CHEAPER, BUT BREAD STILL REMAINS HIGH

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 20.—(AP)—The northwest's big rain crop, now rolling to market, has pushed wholesale flour and mill feed prices to new lows for the year, but consumers, flour observers agreed today, won't benefit until most of the crop is in.

Hesitant to predict a definite price drop in the product for home consumption, millers said much depends on the grade of spring wheat from the northwest territory in regard to its flour making qualities.

Although family flour dropped to as low as $6.65 a barrel today from a price of $7.65 on July 18, householders are paying a cent more than they did a month ago for one pound loaves of bread. This was attributed to increased labor costs. A barrel is equivalent to two 98-pound sacks.

Sent into high price levels early in the year by last season's drouth and the uncertainty of the present crop, family flour was quoted up to $8.50 a barrel on April 7 last. Baker's flour has also shared in the price dip, being quoted down to $6.45 a barrel today, compared with $7.30 to $7.60 a month ago.

The New York Reserve bank reported the engagement yesterday of $6,029,000 more gold in Japan for shipment to this country. This brought to $136,000,000 the total engaged since mid-March. An additional $364,000 gold was engaged in England.

Chinese and Japanese currencies were steady yesterday. The Hongkong dollar was quoted unchanged at 31¼ cents. The Shanghai dollar eased .00¼ of a cent to 30 5-16 cents, and the yen closed unchanged at 29.12 cents.

European currencies were quiet. The French franc was unchanged at 3.75½ cents and the pound sterling lost 3-16 of a cent at $4.98⅝.

Stocks Shelled Into Dugouts by War News

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 20.—Stock market prices again broke severely today, losses ranging from fractions to around 2 points. Steels, coppers, and several miscellaneous issues were the biggest losers, while rails and utilities eased from comparative neglect. Volume of trading was somewhat heavier on the recession, approximating 800,000 shares.

Various factors were held responsible for the liquidation, foremost of which was uncertainty over the situation in the far east, especially in view of the possibilities of international complications arising out of the shelling of the U. S. S. Augusta off Shanghai. Brokers reported that traders were extremely cautious, awaiting developments in the war zone and the adjournment of congress.

Early Rise Soon Lost.

An early attempt to push prices upward proved abortive and the market gave away as sales became freer. U. S. Steel spurted a point in the first hour and then encountered increased offering to descend to 113⅝, only to pick up again and closed unchanged. Other steels fell a point or more.

Base metal shares, particularly coppers were outstandingly weak despite the war rumblings. Anaconda lost almost two points, while American Smelting dropped 3 points.

General Motors and Chrysler declined rapidly in heavy selling. The former kept its net loss under one point, while Chrysler's loss exceeded that margin. Auburn, Studebaker, and Reo moved in a fractionally lower range.

Utilities made rare appearances on the tape and generally at lower quotations.

Carrier Shares Weaken.

Despite an increase in car loadings last week, carrier equities eased mostly fractions on little volume. Union Pacific, off one point, dipped to a new low for the year. New York Central was another one point loser. Most other declines were fractional. Carrier equipments were correspondingly weak.

Mail order and farm equipment issues dipped sharply. Among the former Sears lost 2 points and Montgomery Ward was off 1½ points. Case lost over 2 points. Deere moved counter to the trend, adding a half point.

Oil stocks sank fractions in active trade.

Led by Radio, which again was heavily traded for a fractional loss, communication shares sagged.

Atlas corporation moved into the list of ten most active stocks. The issue declined a small fraction. United corporation also was quite active, holding to previous levels.

A membership on the exchange sold today for $81,000, a drop of $12,000 from the preceding sale and the lowest price of the year.

AUTO OUTPUT FALLS AS MODEL YEAR CLOSES

Production of American and Canadian autos this week was estimated yesterday at 93,339 vehicles by Ward's Automotive Reports. This compared with last week's total of 103,250, and 71,935 in the corresponding week last year.

This week's decline was accounted for by the completion of production of 1937 models by three companies and a tapering off of production by several other concerns.

General Motors' output was placed at 32,954 against 41,865 units last week. Ford turned out an estimated 26,000 cars, unchanged from preceding week, and Chrysler output dropped 300 cars to 26,600 cars.

C., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Factory sales of automobiles manufactured in the United States including foreign assemblies from parts made in this country and reported as complete units, totaled 438,834 in July, 1937, as compared with 497,298 in the same month of last year, the commerce department announced today. Sales during the last month included 360,275 passenger cars and 78,559 trucks.

New steam locomotive installations numbered 198 compared with 26 for the corresponding time last year. Twenty-five electric and Diesel locomotives have been put into service in the first seven months, compared with 14 in 1936 and 99 in 1935.

JAPAN PLANNING TO DEVELOP OWN TOOL INDUSTRY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Japan is about to begin a drive for the development of its machine tool industry, through which it hopes to attain a production value in this field of about $40,000,000 annually by 1941, an amount equal to the output of the same industry in the United States in 1933, according to information received by the machinery division of the department of commerce and made public today.

The program, according to the department of commerce information, would involve training 4,500 mechanics annually. It was stated that an appropriation of 20,000,000 yen was contemplated for establishment of training institutions in seven industrial cities.

Moody Will Erect New 12 Story Building

One of Chicago's oldest religious and educational institutions, the Moody Bible institute, yesterday announced plans for a $600,000 12 story administration building to be erected on the west side of North La Salle street, just north of Chicago avenue. Wreckers next week will start razing the old buildings now on the site, extending from 812 to 828 North La Salle.

Dr. Will H. Houghton, president Moody Bible institute.

Thielbar & Fugard's plans for the new Gothic structure provide for use of the three upper floors of the tower section by radio station WMBI, owned and operated by the Moody Bible institute.

Centralizes Administration.

Dr. Will H. Houghton, president of the institute, said the new building would make possible the grouping of the administrative activities of the institute now widely scattered among the thirty-eight buildings occupied.

The new structure will have modern lecture halls, a spacious library with facilities for 50,000 volumes, offices for the business staf and faculty, and reception halls. A completely equipped printing plant will occupy part of the basement.

Gives Enrolment Figures.

During the school year just closed there were 1,200 enrolments in the day school of the institute, more than 1,500 in the evening school, and 10,000 in the correspondence school and radio school of the bible.

Since the founding of the institute in 1886 more than 130,000 students have received training at the north side school founded by the late Dwight L. Moody. More than 2,000 institute students have gone out as missionaries to seventy countries, the institute reported.

ATLAS CORP. NET ASSETS DECLINE TO 91 MILLIONS

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Atlas corporation, big investing concern, reported today a decline in net asset value to $91,035,733 as of July 31 from $114,006,000 on Jan. 31 and $106,678,591 on Oct. 31. Figures for a year ago are not available. Latest net assets are equivalent to $18.17 a common share, compared with $20.59 in January and $18.77 in October.

Net income for the nine months ended July 31 was $1,575,351, including $27,290 profit on sale of securities.

Discussing Atlas' ownership of approximately half the outstanding debentures of Utilities Power and Light corporation, now being reorganized, Odlum said, "Inasmuch as that company has cash and marketable securities [entirely apart from its controlling interest in valuable subsidiaries] sufficient in themselves to more than cover the present market value of the total issue o outstanding debentures, the management views with confidence the outlook for this major investment."

STANDARD GAS TRUSTEE ASKED BY BONDHOLDERS

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 20.—(AP)—The McAneny committee, representing bond and note holders of the Standard Gas and Electric corporation, filed a petition in federal court today for the appointment of a trustee for the property. No action will be taken on the petition until the return of Judge John P. Nields, who is on vacation.

A few days ago a preliminary report, recommending that the offer of $1,000,000 by the corporation for a compromise settlement with certain minority bondholders be rejected, was filed with the court by the special masters, William G. Mahaffy of Wilmington and William H. Button of New York.

Objections to the recommendation may be filed until Sept. 1, when the masters will hear arguments and make a final report to the court.

WHEAT PLUNGES AS TRADERS TRY TO STOP LOSSES

Other Grain Prices Join Decline.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$1.04⅝	$1.07⅛	$1.13¼
Corn	.94½	.98	1.12½
Oats	.29½	.29¾	.43⅝
Rye	.77¼	.80	.83⅝
Soy beans [Oct.]	.95⅝	.96½	.....

A wave of selling touched off by stop loss orders and hedging pressure sent wheat prices down sharply in North American markets yesterday. Losses in Chicago amounted to as much as 2½ cents, with the September delivery dropping to $1.04⅛. At Duluth durum wheat slumped the daily permissable limit of 5 cents a bushel, with all deliveries closing below the dollar mark.

The decline carried all deliveries of wheat at Chicago and Duluth, May wheat at Winnipeg, Minneapolis, and Liverpool, and December and May wheat at Kansas City into new low ground for the season.

Other Grains Decline.

The selling spread to other grains, with Chicago corn futures falling as much as 3½ cents, rye dropping nearly 3 cents, and soy beans declining more than a cent. May oats, December and May rye, and all soy bean futures also declined to new low levels for the year.

Brokers were at a loss to explain the sharp declines in the last two days. The stop loss selling was furnished by speculators who had bought at higher levels and were selling out at a loss, but this was not considered large enough to account for the recession.

Sharp declines in lard, cotton, and securities stimulated some selling of grains, while uneasiness over domestic political uncertainties and war tension abroad induced some speculators to withdraw from the market pending clarification of the outlook.

Wheat Below June Price.

At the low point yesterday September wheat in Chicago and Kansas City dropped well below the price established on June 21, from which the world market started one of the most sensational advances in years incident to crop damage in North America. At the low levels yesterday the Chicago price was off 25⅝ cents; Kansas City, 28⅝ cents; Minneapolis, 31½ cents, and Winnipeg, 24⅞ cents a bushel from the high point in July.

The violent price changes in September wheat in leading American markets and in the October delivery in Winnipeg and Liverpool, within the last two months, is shown in the following table:

	Low. Aug. 20.	High. July.	Low. June 21.
Chicago	$1.04⅛	$1.29⅝	$1.06¼
Kansas City	.97⅞	1.26	1.02⅞
Minneapolis	1.12⅝	1.44⅛	1.15⅛
Winnipeg	1.22⅛	1.47	1.12⅝
Liverpool	1.24	1.47⅛	1.22⅝

Export Demand Is Lacking.

Despite yesterday's sharp decline in wheat prices there was no evidence of any demand of consequence for American grain, although white wheat from the north Pacific coast was reported to have been offered at equal to $1.20 a bushel delivered at Liverpool, the cheapest of any grain except Rumanian wheat, which was quoted at $1.19.

September corn showed independent weakness yesterday. While there was some buying of that delivery early against sales of September wheat, representing the closing of spreads between the two grains, this class of buying was not in evidence later. When numerous small selling orders came into the market there was a lack of buyers, resulting in the price receeding 4¼ cents from the early high and touching 94⅜ cents at the extreme low. Closing trades were at practically the bottom price.

Additional rains over a considerable part of the corn belt had a depressing effect on December and May corn. Both futures came within small fractions of a cent of the lowest level of the season.

Cord Company to Concentrate on Operations

Liquidation of miscellaneous and extraneous investment holdings of the Cord corporation and a policy of concentration on operating units in which the company has extensive interests, were approved yesterday in New York at a meeting of directors elected following the recent resignation of E. L. Cord as head of the concern.

L. B. Manning.

L. B. Manning, Cord's business partner, who succeeded him as president, said future efforts will be directed toward improvement of the business, operating efficiency, and financial position of the operating companies. Principal concerns in which the Cord corporation has interests are Auburn Automobile company, Aviation corporation, Checker Cab Manufacturing company, New York Shipbuilding company, Columbia Axle company, and Lycoming Manufacturing company.

May Increase Holdings.

Manning also indicated the probability that the company will add to its holdings of companies in related fields of aircraft and automotive manufacture if the increased business expected to result from construction contracts now under negotiation should make expansion of manufacturing facilities desirable.

Manning said Auburn has not manufactured Auburn or Duesenberg cars for some time and now has under consideration various suggestions for the Cord car. Auburn is now manufacturing bodies, parts, and equipment, which type of business it has been building up for several years.

Discussing other principal operating units, he said, American Airlines, in which Aviation corporation has a substantial interest, has been enjoying a rapid growth of business and now carries more passengers than any other air line in the world.

Checker Cab Gets Contracts.

"Checker Cab," Manning continued, "recently signed a long term contract with two large nonaffiliated fleet operators to supply their taxicab requirements. It is hoped that despite unprofitable results from operations of New York Shipbuilding during the last several years, this company in the future will obtain its fair share of contracts from the navy and merchant marine."

He said Columbia Axle recently completed contracts with three major automobile companies for use of the two speed axle as optional equipment on their 1938 cars. Lycoming, Manning said, will continue to make Spencer heaters and automobile and marine engines. He said the Vultee division of Aviation corporation is booked to capacity for the next 20 months, while Stinson Aircraft, another Aviation subsidiary, still holds its position as the largest manufacturer of cabin planes for individual use.

Expansion in manufacturing operations of Lycoming's recently developed artificial or natural gas burning engine is contemplated, he indicated.

Plan to Expand Lycoming.

Manning disclosed that of the 158,000 shares of Cord corporation stock recently purchased by himself and associates at $4 a share, he intends to keep 60,000 shares; R. S. Pruitt, vice president and a director, will retain 40,000, and the remaining 58,000 will be offered to 15 or more executives of the Cord corporation and its affiliates on a basis to be worked out later.

Attending yesterday's meeting, besides Manning and Pruitt were C. Colburn Darling, Gerald Donovan, Victor Emanuel, Tom M. Girdler, and Henry Lockhart Jr.

Manning said E. L. Cord's personal holdings—around 10 per cent of American Airlines, or 28,000 shares—had been committed for sale to another group. While he was hesitant to divulge the name of the buyers, it was understood they were substantially the same persons in the syndicate arranged by Emanuel for the purchase of the Cord stock.

Aviation corporation still holds a block of American Airlines debentures, but Manning said, "This is purely an investment and we have nothing to do with the management of the Airlines."

DU PONT TO BUILD CELLULOSE FIRM PLANT IN IOWA

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Erection of a new manufacturing plant for "cellophane" cellulose film was announced today for Clinton, Ia., by E. I. du Point de Nemours & Co. A large tract has been acquired on the west bank of the Mississippi river adjoining the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks.

This is to be the first "cellophane" plant west of the Mississippi. Though not yet determinable, the cost will amount to several million dollars. Upon completion the plant should employ about 500 persons. Company engineers will soon make detailed surveys on which to base the layout and design of the plant.

Graham-Paige Production Shows Gain Over Last Year

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—The Graham-Paige Motors corporation will have produced 21,318 units of the 1937 model when it suspends production on Sept. 18, F. R. Valpey, vice president and general sales manager, announced today. This is a gain of 11 per cent over 1936 production of 19,211 units.

DISCOUNT RATE CUT BY CHICAGO RESERVE BANK

Designed to Aid Crop Moving, Business.

The federal reserve board yesterday approved a reduction in the rediscount rate of the Chicago reserve bank from 2 to 1½ per cent. A similar cut in the rate of the Atlanta reserve bank also was approved by the board.

The action brings the rate of the Chicago and Atlanta banks into line with the New York and Cleveland banks, thus removing a wide disparity for the last two years.

Reserve board officials said that the reduction was intended to make ample credit available for financing the movement of the farm crops, as well as to provide for the expanding credit needs of business and industry.

Want Banks to Lend More.

Chief significance of the action was seen in the encouragement to banks to lend more money. The discount rate is the rate of interest which banks pay to the central banks on borrowed funds. When banks can borrow money cheaply at the reserve banks they can afford to be more liberal in advancing credit to their customers, and can expand their loans without liquidating securities and other investments.

Bankers here said that the reserve officials desire to encourage the advancing of loans on grain in storage and on live stock that is moving into the district for feeding. Farm prices have been holding up fairly well but it is pointed out that if farmers find it necessary to market all their grain now, it may depress prices unwarrantedly.

Loans on Oats Suggested.

Oats are bringing only 20 to 21 cents in the country. If loans are made available on oats in storage they will help keep some of the grain off the market for the present.

There is a shortage of live stock in the principal markets and prices are high. With credit available the live stock can be moved into the feed lots in this district and prepared for market.

The commercial and agricultural loans of the Chicago reserve bank have been expanding steadily throughout most of the summer, indicating a growing demand for credit in the area.

Encourage Banks to Borrow.

With a reduction in the rate it is believed that the member banks may be encouraged to resume their borrowings from the central bank. The borrowings in recent years have been virtually nil because the banks had more money on hand than they could find profitable employment for. The Chicago reserve bank is lending only $40,000 to members at present.

In announcing approval of the action taken today by the regional banks the reserve board said the step "would assist in carrying out the system's policy of monetary ease, and make federal reserve credit readily available to member banks for the accommodation of commerce, business and agriculture." It will also "promote continuance of recovery," the board said.

INSURANCE RATE ON OIL TANKERS IS QUADRUPLED

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Marine underwriters quadrupled their war risk rates today on tankers sailing in Mediterranean waters. Recent sinkings of such vessels off the Spanish coast were given as the reason for the increase from a quarter of 1 per cent of value to 1 per cent.

The underwriters also announced they would no longer accept war risks on goods before loading or after discharge at Chinese ports at the previous high rate of 10 per cent. Such cases would require individual negotiations at special rates, they said.

COTTON BREAKS 75 CENTS A BALE BEFORE RALLY

Cotton prices yesterday dropped 0.15 cent a pound or 75 cents a bale to the lowest level since 1933, before sufficient support entered the market to check the decline. The selling was orderly and trading was not particularly large. Buying by spinners and speculators both in this country and abroad, caused a rally which erased part of the loss and final prices were 0.01 to 0.09 cents—5 to 45 cents a bale —below the preceding day's finish. The October, December, and January deliveries closed below 10 cents a pound.

Much of the selling was induced by showers and heavy rains in drouth areas of the western cotton belt. Uncertainty continued to exist over the government's intentions for a future loan level. The senate approved an amendment to the third deficiency bill designed to complete an agreement between the President and congress for 9 or 10 cent cotton loans.

Spot cotton closed 0.05 to 0.10 cent lower with New Orleans quoting 10 cents, New York 10.10 cents, and Galveston and Houston 9.75 cents each.

STEEL PLANT TO BOOST PIPE CAPACITY 60%

Youngstown, O., Aug. 20.—(AP)—An expansion program to increase Youngstown Sheet and Tube company's seamless pipe mill capacity about 60 per cent was announced here today by Frank Purnell, president.

Changes are a "part of the management's aim to have from 20 to 25 per cent greater diversified finishing capacity than steel capacity," Purnell said.

OIL FIRMS THREATEN TO LEAVE IF MEXICO IMPOSES NEW RULES

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—The Mexican government had a warning today from American and other oil interests that if it approves and puts into operation recommendations of a survey made by an official investigating committee they would abandon the $400,000,000 oil properties in the southern republic. The threat, which virtually amounted to an ultimatum to withdraw producing, refining, selling, and other oil investments, was sent to President Lazardo Cardenas.

The decision followed a conference in this city of representatives of the leading oil interests operating in Mexico, including subsidiaries of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Royal Dutch-Shell, Consolidated Oil [Sinclair], Standard Oil Company of California, and the Gulf Oil corporation.

In their joint reply to the Mexican government investigating committee's report the companies made it plain that they were unable to assume responsibility for the consequences of the survey, since, if applied in its present form, it would make it impossible for the various companies to continue business in Mexico without heavy financial losses.

The committee had been appointed to arbitrate a strike and at the same time to investigate the economic conditions of petroleum companies in Mexico. It recommended that all workers be placed on a 40 hour five day week with pay for a 56 hour week; that free life insurance and pensions up to 85 per cent of wages be granted; that vacations with pay be granted up to thirty days a year and that 80 per cent of wages be paid during nonvocational illnesses up to four months.

HOGS SAG AFTER EARLY RISE; PORK PRICES DECLINE

Warm weather, consumer resistance to high meat prices, and the heavy imports flooding the eastern cities forced fresh cuts of pork down 50 cents in Chicago and $1 to $2 lower at most of the principal points in the east.

Top light loins sold here at $28 per 100 pounds, the lowest they have been since July 2 and $5 under the high mark only ten days ago.

The extreme top for live hogs advanced 10 cents early to $13, but the general market later was weak to 15 cents lower, with best grades finishing at $12.75, or 15 cents under the peak of Thursday. The average of $11.80 was off 5 cents.

Other live stock was not influenced as much by the bearish news from the meat trade. Lambs met good demand at strong to 10 cents higher prices. About 1,600 Washington range lambs topped at $11.

Not enough cattle were offered for sale to establish a market. Odd lots were mostly steady to weak with the previous session.

FREIGHT TRAFIC GAIN IS BETTER THAN SEASONAL

Loadings in Last Week Total 777,382 Cars.

Railroad freight car loadings last week increased 7,676 cars over the preceding week's loadings to a total of 777,382 cars, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

A heavier movement of coal, live stock, and miscellaneous freight more than offset declines in shipments of grain and ore. The increase of 1 per cent over the week ended Aug. 7 was more than the usual seasonal gain.

Loadings last week were 40,804 cars, or 5.5 per cent above those of the corresponding week last year, and showed a gain of 163,377 cars, or 26.6 per cent, over the like week of 1935.

Nearly All Classes Gain.

Shipments of all types of merchandise except coal and live stock were larger last week than in the like 1936 week, and declines in these commodities were small. Ore shipments, while 1,062 cars below the Aug. 7 week this year, increased 18,339 cars over the movement of a year ago. Miscellaneous freight loadings increased 16,417 cars over last year.

	Wk. ended Aug. 14.	—Change from— Prec. wk.	Yr. ago.
Miscellaneous	355,556	+7,992	+16,417
Mdse., l. c. l.	166,396	—1,973	+ 1,051
Coal	116,251	+4,747	— 782
Grain	43,391	—2,927	+ 635
Live stock	14,616	+1,079	— 631
Forest products	40,932	— 212	+ 4,371
Ore	74,647	—1,062	+18,339
Coke	9,769	+ 62	+ 1,404

The Dow-Jones weekly loading index, based on the average of the last fifteen years as 100, advanced to 90.8 from 89.6 in the preceding week.

Income Falls in July.

The first six railroads to report results of July operations showed a decline of 4.4 per cent in net operating income in the face of an increase of 5.1 per cent in gross revenues, a tabulation disclosed yesterday. Higher costs accounted for the decline in net operating income, it was said.

The six roads had gross income of $40,020,000 against $38,089,000 in July, 1936. Net operating income declined to $7,758,000 from $8,115,000.

BALTIMORE ROAD AUTHORIZED TO BORROW OF RFC

Loan of $5,000,000 Will Run for Five Years.

Authorization was granted to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad yesterday by the interstate commerce commission to borrow $5,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for a five year period. The loan is to mature Sept. 1, 1942.

The B. & O. asked for the loan to enable it to meet maturing Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railway general mortgage bonds amounting to $4,427,000 and maturing Sept. 1. Part of the balance of $573,000 will be used to reimburse the railroad's treasury for payment of equipment trust maturities in July and August totaling about $450,000.

Milwaukee to Buy Cars.

The commission also authorized trustees of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad to issue equipment trust certificates up to $1,920,000, proceeds from which would be used to buy 1,000 gondola cars. The certificates are to be issued by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, as trustee, and sold at 102.444 and accrued interest.

The Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company yesterday filed an amendment with the Securities and Exchange commission to its recent registration covering a $25,321,500 debenture issue, giving the offering price at 102. The debentures, which bear 4 per cent interest and mature in 15 years, are being offered to stockholders of record Sept. 2 at the rate of one $500 debenture for each 35 shares held.

Bullard Plans Stock Increase.

Stockholders of the Bullard company, machine tool manufacturer of Bridgeport, Conn., will vote Sept. 7 on a proposal to augment capital stock by increasing the common issue to 330,000 shares from 300,000, and by issuing 40,000 shares of $5 preferred.

Stockholders of the Dewey & Almy Chemical company will consider a proposal to split the common stock three for one at a special meeting on Aug. 27. It is also proposed to issue convertible preferred stock to be offered to present holders of the prior preference and class B preferred stocks. The company has plants at Cambridge, Mass., and Oakland, Cal.

New financing last week rose to $23,779,586, compared with $11,083,511 in the preceding week, and $131,397,295 in the corresponding period of last year. Sharp gains were shown in municipal bond and corporate stock offerings.

National Candy.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information on National Candy company whose stock is listed on the St Louis Stock exchange.—F. K.

Answer: This concern represents a consolidation of a number of candy manufacturing companies. It owns plants in Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, and Grand Rapids, with annual output of approximately 70 million pounds.

National Candy also owns 90 per cent of stock of the Clinton company, manufacturer of corn syrup, glucose, starch, and resulting by-products of corn grinding in a plant at Clinton, Ia.

Largely because of effect of the high cost of corn upon earnings of the Clinton company, National Candy plunged into the red again this year. It reported net income of $11,000 in the first quarter and loss of $329,000 in the second quarter this year, compared with net income of $137,000 or 36 cents per common share in the first half of 1936.

Net income was $275,000 or 72 cents per common share in 1936, compared with loss of $364,000 in 1935. Net income was $429,000, or $1.52 a share in 1934 and $714,000, or $2.99 a share in 1933. Net income was $103,000 in 1932, equal to a loss of 81 cents a share on the common after preferred dividends.

There are 9,441 shares of first preferred and 10,066 shares of second preferred, both of $100 par value and paying dividends of $7 a year regularly, and 192,815 shares of no par common stock.

Because of unfavorable earnings the quarterly common dividend due July 1, 1937, was omitted. The stock had paid 25 cents quarterly in the preceding four years, $1.25 in 1932, and $2 in 1931.

Bank Deposit Insurance.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information regarding the federal deposit insurance of banks. Will the government pay if a bank goes into receivership?—J. M. K.

Answer: Deposits of banks which are members of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation are insured up to a maximum of $5,000 per account. Deposits are not guaranteed by the United States government, but are insured by the FDIC. The government subscribed capital for the FDIC, but the funds for payment of insured deposits in case an FDIC member is placed in receivership come largely from assessments made on member banks. The ability of the FDIC to pay off the insured depositors in banks which fail depends on the amount of money it has in the treasury.

CHINA CLIPPER BRINGS FIRST PICTURES OF SHANGHAI WAR

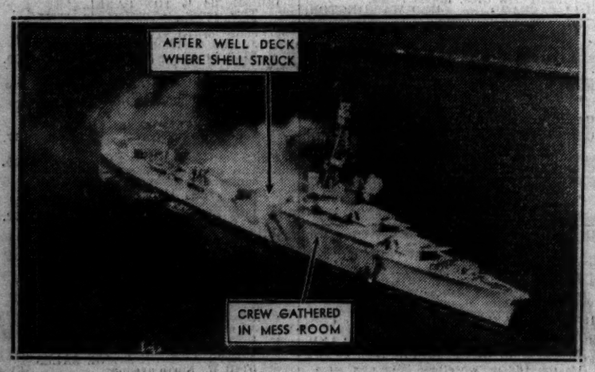
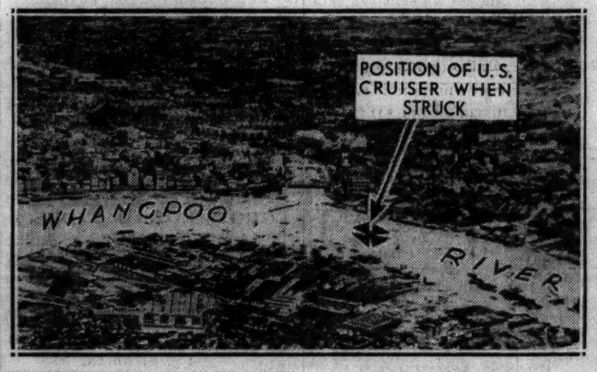
When hostilities between Japanese and Chinese first flared in Shanghai, there was an immediate exodus of Japanese residents from the city. This picture, showing women and children boarding a steamer at Shanghai for the voyage to Japan, arrived in San Francisco yesterday on the China Clipper. Japanese troops in Shanghai were fighting desperately yesterday with their backs to the Whangpoo river. Their battle with the crack Chinese armies was deadlocked, with terrific fighting still going on. A great portion of the city was in flames. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

In streets devastated by aerial bombardment, this Japanese squad moved through Tientsin in mopping up operations after capture of the city by Japanese. This picture also was brought to the United States on the China Clipper. It was transmitted to Chicago by wirephoto. Japanese yesterday claimed that two Chinese divisions on the Peiping-Tientsin front had lost about one-third of their effectiveness. They added that three fresh Chinese divisions had been transported to the Shanghai sector. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]



The Augusta, flagship of the U. S. fleet in Asiatic waters, which was struck by anti-aircraft shell in Whangpoo river at Shanghai. One U. S. seaman was killed and eighteen others injured. The cruiser has a crew of 800. [Acme Photo.]



Aerial view of Shanghai, showing section where heaviest fighting was going on yesterday and location of the Augusta when struck. It was near this point that the Chinese had pushed the Japanese back near the river. [Acme Photo.]

Freddie John Falgout, Raceland, La., the sailor who was killed aboard the Augusta by shell explosion. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

United States embassy buildings in Nanking, which were reported safe after bombing by Japanese planes in that vicinity yesterday. In the group is included the residence of Ambassador Johnson and his family. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

CHOICE IS SURPRISE—Justin Miller, who was named to U. S. Court of Appeals for District of Columbia. (Story on page 2.)

LEARNS DETECTING FROM INSIDE—When arrested last night, Orville Gallagher, 18, Findlay, O., was found to have a pistol, knuckles, a star, and makeup. He is learning to be a detective, he explained. (Story on page 6.)

CHICAGO GIRL TAKES FIRST IN STATE FAIR BABY CONTEST

Three poses of Catherine Angela Levinson, 4 years old, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. Joseph Levinson, 5456 Harper avenue. Catherine was given a score of 99.9 on health at the Illinois State fair in Springfield. Medical examiners marked on one-tenth of a point because of a small mole on her body, the only defect they could find. She lives a normal life, according to her mother. (Story on page 4.)
